ANSWER THE CALL

VOL. LXXXIII—No. 135 CITY OF KINGSTON, N. Y., SATURDAY EVENING, MARCH 27, 1954. PRICE FIVE CENTS

New Bargaining Vote, Law Cases Seen in Strike

Plenty of Protection

Protected by a line of policemen, a lift truck driven by an AFL longshoreman cruises onto a New York city pier. Violence flared up at Brooklyn and Manhattan piers despite police protection, and three men were reported beaten by hoodlums as the strike of the ILA longshoremen went into its 22nd day. (NEA Telephoto).

One Action Would Remove 4,000 Tugboaters' Support

New York, March 27 (AP)—The prospect of a second bargaining election and a new series of legal actions today hung over New York city's turbulent, strike-ridden waterfront.

One legal step planned by the New York Shipping Association would knock out support from the harbor's 4,000 tugboat crewmen who threw their weight behind the 23-day strike yesterday.

Aid from tugboat crews came to striking members of the International Longshoremen's Assn. (Ind.) at the same time their cause suffered a blow in a report by National Labor Relations Board examiner Arthur Leff.

Leff recommended that last December's waterfront bargaining election, apparently won by the ILA, be set aside because of violence and threats against voters.

4,000 Votes Challenged

The ILA rival, an AFL Dock Union of the same name, had challenged some 4,000 votes, enough to place the outcome in doubt even though the vote count gave the ILA a margin of 1,492.

Leff called for a new election as soon as possible. A hearing on his recommendation is scheduled in Washington Tuesday. The full board is expected to make its report several days after that.

A new election would give the AFL another chance to win control of waterfront labor from the ILA, which was ousted from the AFL last September for failing to get rid of racketeers. The AFL quickly formed the new union and their rivalry has been the background of waterfront turmoil for six months.

3,854 At Work

A slow back-to-work movement continued yesterday but showed only a slight increase over the day before. The New-York-New Jersey Waterfront Commission reported 3,854 men worked on 39 ships, about 142 more workers than the previous day. The harbor has 24,000 longshoremen, of whom about 20,000 normally are at work.

Meantwhile ILA President William V. Bradley met with ILA officials in Washington and Baltimore. Returning to New York he announced dock workers in "all other ports" will refuse to handle cargo diverted from the struck port.

ILA officials in Baltimore and Boston had earlier announced longshoremen there had agreed not to handle diverted ships.

Defiance Case

The strike continues in defiance of a no-strike injunction issued against the ILA on March 4. The cout order had been obtained to end picketing against AFL workers on certain piers.

ILA members, irritated because the AFL was not included in the injunction, immediately extended their strike to include the whole port. The NLRB has accused the ILA of contempt and demanded a fine of at least $100,000.

The New York Shipping Assn. announced three legal efforts would be made to end the walkout. One would be an appeal through the U. S. attorney general for a new 80-day injunction against striking under the Taft-Hartley Law. The first such injunction expired on Christmas Eve.

More Injunctions Sought

The association also planned to seek injunctions against mass picketing in the state courts of New

Suspension Lifted On Seven Pupils; To Return Monday

Education Board Places Youths on Probation Following Recent Harjes Incident

All seven Kingston High School boys who were suspended from school following an incident Friday, March 19, in which 16-year-old Henry Harjes of Lucas avenue extension was severely injured, will return to school Monday. The boys will be on probation and should they violate probation in the future permanent suspension or expulsion may follow.

The boys were suspended from school by school authorities last week following a "scuffle" in which apparently a group of boys participated in an endeavor to "haze" young Harjes, a member of the freshman class. During an investigation it appears this type of "horseplay" has been indulged in and some of the boys who participated in the Harjes incident had previously been subjected to similar treatment.

Cite Similar Treatment

One of the lads involved has said he was subjected to the same treatment the previous day while another said he had only participated in the Harjes affairs when he was "attacked" in the scuffle when a group of boys attempted to "haze" the Harjes boy. He admitted he had defended himself and in the melee which followed young Harjes was injured and hospitalized.

One of the suspended lads reported he had been attacked four times in an endeavor by some of his schoolmates to "initiate" him but that he had fought back. One of the hazing attempts had been made on him only the day previous to the Harjes incident.

The seven boys involved in the incident were given a hearing bebore the board of education and after having had read to them a resolution, presented by the Building Committee of the Board, and unanimously adopted by the board Friday night at a special meeting of the board, each of the boys accepted the condition of probation and asked to be permitted to return to school.

Mayor 21 Years Has 76th Birthday Today

Bridgeport, Conn., March 27 (AP) — Mayor Jasper McLevy marked his 76th birthday today behind his flower-banked desk at city hall and indicated he has no plans for retirement.

Now serving his 21st consecutive year in office, McLevy said he would be willing to run for governor in the fall provided the Socialist party wants him to. And, looking ahead a year, the mayor said it was probable 1955 would find him campaigning for his 12th mayoral term.

Everything, he said, depends on the wishes of his party and his own health. Right now he feels chipper.

Rebels Ignore All Pleas to Cease Fire on Wounded

Hanoi, Indochina, March 27 (AP) —The French today stepped up radio pleas for a brief cease fire to permit planes to move their wounded from Dien Bien Phu. But the Vietminh continued their constant bombardment of the besieged northwest Indochina fortress.

The French high command formally accused the Communist-led rebels of flagrantly ignoring red crosses marked on transport planes flying mercy missions.

French Commander in Chief Gen. Henri Navarre appealed personally in a broadcast to Vietminh Commander Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap and gave assurances the red-cross marked planes would be used only for carrying out wounded.

Continue Shelling

A command spokesman said the Vietminh acknowledged receiving three appeals to halt their shelling of the Dien Bien Phu airstrip but had kept it up without a break. Despite this, he said, American-supplied helicopters and transports were braving the fire and at times managing to evacuate some wounded.

The spokesman did not disclose how many casualties had been taken out to hospitals in Hanoi and elsewhere or how many were still in the heavily bunkered, underground first aid station of the fortress. The spokesman said the aid station had been hammered by Vietminh fire.

Enemy Uses Break

He pointed out the French had quickly agreed to a rebel cease fire request on March 13, the day after the first massive Vietminh battle for the isolated mountain position began. The enemy took advantage of the break to gather up "hundreds of dead and wounded" from the dusty plain, the spokesman said.

The French kept up air attacks today on the Vietminh positions ringing Dien Bien Phu, and ground patrols thrust warily at the attackers. The Vietminh, meanwhile, brought in more fighting power and continued to dig an intricate trench system around Dien Bien Phu's barbed wire barricades.

Scientists Claim Fish Not Poisoned

Washington, March 27 (AP)—American scientists say the Japanese have been worrying needlessly over the possibility that a recent mighty hydrogen blast may have poisoned Pacific fish with radio-activity.

The American ambassador at Tokyo informed the Japanese foreign office early this week that chances are "negligible" that fish caught outside the closed area right around the Marshall Islands tests sites could have been so contaminated.

It was announced that radioactive contamination in water becomes harmless within a few miles of the danger area and is not even detectable at a distance of 500 miles, which is closer to the area where the Japanese normally fish.

Automobile Insurance Is Dinner Topic

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Woodstock will be the principal speaker during the supper meeting of the Ulster County Insurance Agents Association Tuesday night, March 30, at the Kirkland Hotel. The supper will start at 6 o'clock.

Assemblyman Wilson will talk on the recent Compulsory Automobile Liability Program that was defeated by the state Legislature.

Any member or other interested agents are requested to make reservations with William Kuehn, 94 Madison avenue.

Market Weathers Year's Top Test

Recovery of 30 Per Cent of Earlier Losses Shows Strength

New York, March 27 (AP)—The stock market gave a basic display of strength this week in weathering a major selling test.

This may not be the end of the selling pressure on the stock market, but at least the list has met its most severe test of the year with proof that it has the ability to bounce back.

On Monday the market was at the peak of the year, and it was pounded down severely in the next three days. But on the final day of the week, the market rallied and recovered about 30 per cent of the week's average loss.

Primarily, the setback was a technical affair. The market had been advancing for some time and was hesitating at the top of its climb, the best levels on average in the past 24 years. That made it ripe for a reaction. When it came, it hit hard.

One of the things that worked against the market was the long-term capital gains tax law. That provides that stock market profits must come from the sale of stock held more than six months before they can be considered as long-term capital gains.

Six months ago in mid-September the stock market was at the low of the year. Therefore it is plain to see that the market is entering a period when profit-taking for long-term capital gains is not only possible but feasible for those who want to translate their paper profits from the stout rise of the past six months into cash.

Drop Less Severe

The three-day fall Tuesday through Thursday was on diminishing volume and each day the drop in the average price level was less severe. That was an excellent sign to th bullish-minded traders.

They got a jolt on Friday, however, when volume was at the lowest ebb of the week as the market rallied. That, in the book of the bulls, is not good.

There was still another somewhat disturbing development—the

State Water Group To Study IBM Job

The State Water Power and Control Commission is scheduled to meet at the city hall March 31 at 10 a. m., for hearing on the city's application to extend its water service beyond the city line and to the site of the proposed plant of International Business Machines Corp., in the town of Ulster.

All persons, waterworks, municipal or other corporations or, other civil divisions of the state may be heard at the session, the commission announced.

Plans for extending the service have been filed with the commission and may be inspected at its Albany office, the announcement said.

McCarthy Is Hit For Party Harm

Move Endorsed To Bar Out Reds

U. S. Resolution Favored to Keep West World Democracy Safe

Caracas, Venezuela, March 27 (AP)—A full-dress session of the 10th Inter-American Conference formally approved last night the U. S. resolution calling for collective action to keep communism out of the western hemisphere.

Seventeen republics voted for the measure, with only Guatemala voting against it. Mexico and Argentina abstained.

This was the same vote that was cast by the political-juridical committee when it adopted the resolution two weeks ago for presentation to the conference plenary session.

Passage of the resolution was a major diplomatic victory for U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, who extended his stay in Caracas at the beginning of the conference to fight for his anti-Red doctrine.

Notice to Moscow

The overwhelming vote of approval served notice on Moscow that Red infiltration of the Americas would be considered in the same light as a foreign invasion. The resolution calls on the western hemisphere republics to take steps toward collective action in case the sovereignty of any member nation is threatened by international communism.

Argentina and Mexico announced their abstentions were based on the contention the resolution could be construed in a way to make possible intervention in their internal affairs.

Guatemala announced it would sign the final act of the conference with a reservation setting forth its objection to the anti-communist resolution. Guatemala charged it would lead to interference in domestic affairs with the aim of preventing "economic and social development of the people's struggle for liberation."

National Chairman Claims Senator's Effectiveness Diminishes

Omaha, March 27 (AP)—Chairman Leonard W. Hall of the Republican National Committee says Sen. McCarthy (R.-Wis.) "has done more harm than good" in his trade of verbal blows with top army officials.

As a result, said Hall, McCarthy's "Senate effectiveness has diminished in the past few weeks."

Hall's statement in an interview last night came as one of the strongest criticisms of the Wisconsin senator yet put out by a high GOP official. Several weeks ago Hall had described McCarthy as an asset to the party.

Senator Not Around

McCarthy, chairman of the Senate Investigations Subcommittee, could not be reached for immediate comment.

McCarthy and subcommittee counsel Roy Cohn have tangled with Secretary of the Army Stevens and John G. Adams, assistant army counsel, with:

1. An army report alleging McCarthy and Cohn sought special treatment for a former subcommittee aide now in the army.

2. McCarthy's counter charge that Stevens and Adams used "blackmail" tactics in efforts to block the subcommittee's search for Reds in the army.

Looking for Outsider

The subcommittee is now looking for an outside lawyer to help investigate the row.

Asked about the McCarthy-army exchanges, Hall said "the dispute has hurt. Any dispute hurts."

His comment came just before he talked about campaign strategy at a banquet gathering of the Midwest and Rocky Mountain Republican State Chairmen's Assn.

"There is one person who always speaks for our party," Hall said in his dinner spech, "and that is Dwight D. Eisenhower. Don't let anybody tell you that because of quarrels in Washington that there is no unity and no leader-

Blast Concussion Reports Keep City Police Desk Busy

Contractor on Thruway Says Shallow Charges Were Small but Noise Louder

Police headquarters received a number of calls late yesterday afternoon from irate residents reporting a series of heavy blast concussions.

The first call was noted on the police blotter at 4:35 p. m., the last at 5:30 p. m.

Sgt. Lemuel F. Howard, who was on duty at the time, said two distinct shocks were felt at police headquarters—one at 4:55 p. m., the other at 4:57 p. m.

No complaints were filed with the Ulster county sheriff's office or state troopers, a check by The Freeman disclosed.

Hurley Feels Blasts

A resident of Hurley reported "two outstanding blasts. We could feel them in Hurley."

A spokesman for George M. Brewster and Son, Thruway contractor, said "several blasts" were set off during the afternoon, explaining, however, that they were small charges.

"They were the least charges ever used on the job," he said. He explained that they "made a louder noise" because they were "shallow."

He said they were all small charges used on the Thruway construction just outside the city in the Sawkill area. "The concussion was not as great. There's quite a difference between a 1,000-pound charge and a 35-pound charge." He said the "large shots" had all been finished. Asked if there would be any more small charges similar to those exploded yesterday, he replied, "Several yet."

A & P Markets to Open On Wednesday Noon

Wednesday noon has been announced as the time for the reopening of 100 A & P food markets that had been closed as a result of a warehouse strike. The group of stores includes two in Kingston.

In announcing the opening, the company said in an advertisement, "We sincerely regret any inconvenience to our thousands of loyal customers during the period we were temporarily closed due to circumstances beyond our control. We wish to announce that every store will be supplied with a complete line of fresh merchandise in time for the reopening."

Only Few Measures Are Passed

President Predicts That If Republicans Fail to Push Plans They'll Lose Congress

Washington, March 27 (AP)—Sen. Ferguson (R.-Mich.) called today for a speedup in action on President Eisenhower's legislative program in what he said will be the make-or-break month of April.

Democrats, meanwhile, gibed at the Republican leadership for what they called failure to push through the President's proposals.

Ferguson said in an interview he will ask the Senate Republican Policy Committee, which he heads to consider next Tuesday a schedule aimed at bringing to the Senate calendar in the next five weeks all of the bills covering the President's major recommendations.

"Unless we get these measures out of committee by May 1 and on the calendar where they are ready for Senate action, I am afraid some of them just aren't going to get passed before our scheduled July 31 adjournment," he said.

Says Program Obscured

The Michigan senator said he thinks the present uproar over the controversy between Sen. McCarthy (R.-Wis.) and army officials is obscuring the Eisenhower program.

In Omaha, Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall said last night the McCarthy-army dispute "has done more harm than good."

But he asserted the Eisenhower program is "now moving through Congress," and said it "is designed to keep us sound economically by building more industry, more jobs and a healthy agriculture."

Eisenhower has predicted that what he calls his "dynamic, progressive" program will be the principal issue in the November elections. He said that if Congress doesn't enact most of the program the Republicans won't deserve to retain control of the legislative branch.

Few Measures Pass

Thus far the Senate has passed only the St. Lawrence seaway bill and an excise tax measure not wholly pleasing to administration leaders, who had to accept more reductions in such levies than they would have liked.

The House has set a much faster pace but has not yet taken up measures involving the reciprocal trade program, social security expansion, farm price supports and revision of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Sen. Knowland of California, the GOP floor leader, said he ex-

Navy Pilot Waves Off Loose Jet to Make Aviation History

San Diego, Calif., March 27 (AP) —A navy jet fighter pilot who wing-waved a runaway jet out to sea to avoid possible land disaster said today he could have pushed it with actual contact.

Lt. (jg) C. W. Vandenberg, 25, Ripon, Calif., flying at 300 miles an hour in his Cougar fighter, turned the other Cougar away from its beeline for the populated coast after its pilot had bailed out over the ocean.

He maneuvered his wing tip under the runaway, which righted itself out of spin 80 miles from here, and managed to swing it around 180 degrees. It crashed at sea.

"The air flowing over the wing of my plane," Vandenberg said, was enough to lift the other plane's wing and tilt it around.

"I didn't touch wings with the other plane, but even if I had, it was flying steadily enough so that there would have been little danger."

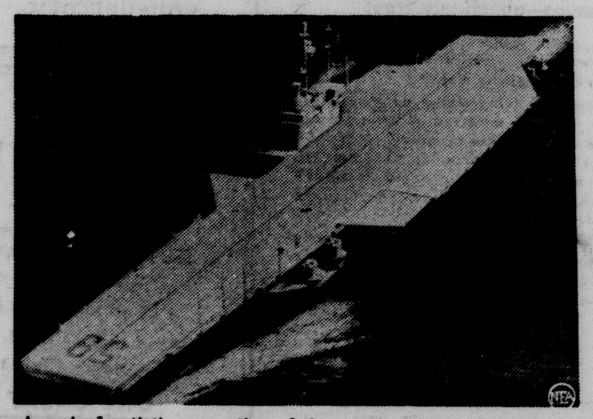

Lt. (jg) R. Maccoun, 23, Dutch Flat, Calif., son of retired U. S. Coast Guard Rear Adm. W. E. Maccoun, bailed out with ejector apparatus after his jet went into the spin from 22,000 feet.

The plane unaccountably righted itself at 4,000 feet, rose to 8,000 feet and headed for San Diego.

Navy aviators said they believed Vandenberg's maneuver was something new in aviation history.

Maccoun was rescued from the sea by a navy anti-submarine helicopter.

J. H. Ford Injured In Car's Collision With Geary Auto

Clinton Avenue Man Is Treated for Hurts to His Head, Back and Arms

John H. Ford, 32, of 187 Clinton avenue, was treated for injuries to his head, arms and back following a two-car collision at 6:03 p. m. yesterday at Maiden Lane and Clinton avenue.

Police said his head struck the left door window, breaking the glass. He was treated by his private physician.

Dennis Geary, year-old infant son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Geary, Jr., of Colonial Gardens on Flatbush avenue, was thrown from his car seat and fell to the floor of the sedan operated by his mother.

Blast Concussion Reports Keep City Police Desk Busy

Contractor on Thruway Says Shallow Charges Were Small but Noise Louder

Police headquarters received a number of calls late yesterday afternoon from irate residents reporting a series of heavy blast concussions.

The first call was noted on the police blotter at 4:35 p. m., the last at 5:30 p. m.

Sgt. Lemuel F. Howard, who was on duty at the time, said two distinct shocks were felt at police headquarters—one at 4:55 p. m., the other at 4:57 p. m.

No complaints were filed with the Ulster county sheriff's office or state troopers, a check by The Freeman disclosed.

Hurley Feels Blasts

A resident of Hurley reported "two outstanding blasts. We could feel them in Hurley."

A spokesman for George M. Brewster and Son, Thruway contractor, said "several blasts" were set off during the afternoon, explaining, however, that they were small charges.

"They were the least charges ever used on the job," he said. He explained that they "made a louder noise" because they were "shallow."

He said they were all small charges used on the Thruway construction just outside the city in the Sawkill area. "The concussion was not as great. There's quite a difference between a 1,000-pound charge and a 35-pound charge." He said the "large shots" had all been finished. Asked if there would be any more small charges similar to those exploded yesterday, he replied, "Several yet."

'Terribly Shaking'

Mrs. Ferris Williams of 33 Furnace street reported "a terrible shaking of the house" and rattling of windows, pointing out this wasn't the first time.

Navy Pilot Waves Off Loose Jet to Make Aviation History

San Diego, Calif., March 27 (AP)—A navy jet fighter pilot who wing-waved a runaway jet out to sea to avoid possible land disaster said today he could have pushed it with actual contact.

Lt. (jg) C. W. Vandenberg, 25, Ripon, Calif., flying at 300 miles an hour in his Cougar fighter, turned the other Cougar away from its beeline for the populated coast after its pilot had bailed out over the ocean.

He maneuvered his wing tip under the runaway, which righted itself out of spin 80 miles from here, and managed to swing it around 180 degrees. It crashed at sea.

"The air flowing over the wing of my plane," Vandenberg said, was enough to lift the other plane's wing and tilt it around.

"I didn't touch wings with the other plane, but even if I had, it was flying steadily enough so that there would have been little danger."

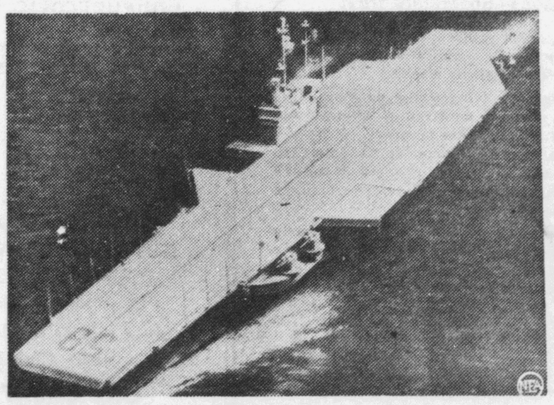

Lt. (jg) R. Maccoun, 23, Dutch Flat, Calif., son of retired U. S. Coast Guard Rear Adm. W. E. Maccoun, bailed out with ejector apparatus after his jet went into the spin from 22,000 feet.

The plane unaccountably righted itself at 4,000 feet, rose to 8,000 feet and headed for San Diego.

Navy aviators said they believed Vandenberg's maneuver was something new in aviation history.

Maccoun was rescued from the sea by a navy anti-submarine helicopter.

America's Newest Aircraft Carrier

A revised artist's conception of the navy's newest aircraft carrier U.S.S. Forrestal floats on an artist's "sea." The fixed island structure and canted flight deck were decided upon after the laying of the keel. Lining the sides of the flight deck are hinged radio antennaes which swing down out of the way when the ship is launching or landing planes. (NEA Telephoto).

Suspension Lifted On Seven Pupils; To Return Monday

All seven Kingston High School boys who were suspended from school following an incident Friday, March 19, in which 16-year-old Henry Harjes of Lucas avenue extension was severely injured, will return to school Monday. The boys will be on probation and should they violate probation in the future permanent suspension or expulsion may follow.

The boys were suspended from school by school authorities last week following a "scuffle" in which apparently a group of boys participated in an endeavor to "haze" young Harjes, a member of the freshman class. During an investigation it appears this type of "horseplay" has been indulged in and some of the boys who participated in the Harjes incident had previously been subjected to similar treatment.

Cite Similar Treatment

One of the lads involved has said he was subjected to the same treatment the previous day while another said he had only participated in the Harjes affairs when he was "attacked" in the scuffle when a group of boys attempted to "haze" the Harjes boy. He admitted he had defended himself and in the melee which followed young Harjes was injured and hospitalized.

One of the suspended lads reported he had been attacked four times in an endeavor by some of his schoolmates to "initiate" him but that he had fought back. One of the hazing attempts had been made on him only the day previous to the Harjes incident.

The seven boys involved in the incident were given a hearing bebore the board of education and after having had read to them a resolution, presented by the Building Committee of the Board, and unanimously adopted by the board Friday night at a special meeting of the board, each of the boys accepted the condition of probation and asked to be permitted to return to school.

Mayor 21 Years Has 76th Birthday Today

Bridgeport, Conn., March 27 (AP) — Mayor Jasper McLevy marked his 76th birthday today behind his flower-banked desk at city hall and indicated he has no plans for retirement.

Now serving his 21st consecutive year in office, McLevy said he would be willing to run for governor in the fall provided the Socialist party wants him to. And, looking ahead a year, the mayor said it was probable 1955 would find him campaigning for his 12th mayoral term.

Everything, he said, depends on the wishes of his party and his own health. Right now he feels chipper.

Hanoi, Indochina, March 27 (AP)—The French today stepped up radio pleas for a brief cease fire to permit planes to move their wounded from Dien Bien Phu. But the Vietminh continued their constant bombardment of the besieged northwest Indochina fortress.

The French high command formally accused the Communist-led rebels of flagrantly ignoring red crosses marked on transport planes flying mercy missions.

French Commander in Chief Gen. Henri Navarre appealed personally in a broadcast to Vietminh Commander Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap and gave assurances the red-cross marked planes would be used only for carrying out wounded.

Continue Shelling

A command spokesman said the Vietminh acknowledged receiving three appeals to halt their shelling of the Dien Bien Phu airstrip but had kept it up without a break. Despite this, he said, American-supplied helicopters and transports were braving the fire and at times managing to evacuate some wounded.

The spokesman did not disclose how many casualties had been taken out to hospitals in Hanoi and elsewhere or how many were still in the heavily bunkered, underground first aid station of the fortress. The spokesman said the aid station had been hammered by Vietminh fire.

Enemy Uses Break

He pointed out the French had quickly agreed to a rebel cease fire request on March 13, the day after the first massive Vietminh battle for the isolated mountain position began. The enemy took advantage of the break to gather up "hundreds of dead and wounded" from the dusty plain, the spokesman said.

The French kept up air attacks today on the Vietminh positions ringing Dien Bien Phu, and ground patrols thrust warily at the attackers. The Vietminh, meanwhile, brought in more fighting power and continued to dig an intricate trench system around Dien Bien Phu's barbed wire barricades.

42 Reds Killed

Scientists Claim Fish Not Poisoned

Washington, March 27 (AP)—American scientists say the Japanese have been worrying needlessly over the possibility that a recent mighty hydrogen blast may have poisoned Pacific fish with radio-activity.

The American ambassador at Tokyo informed the Japanese foreign office early this week that chances are "negligible" that fish caught outside the closed area right around the Marshall Islands tests sites could have been so contaminated.

It was announced that radioactive contamination in water becomes harmless within a few miles of the danger area and is not even detectable at a distance of 500 miles, which is closer to the area where the Japanese normally fish.

A & P Markets to Open On Wednesday Noon

Wednesday noon has been announced as the time for the reopening of 100 A & P food markets that had been closed as a result of a warehouse strike. The group of stores includes two in Kingston.

In announcing the opening, the company said in an advertisement, "We sincerely regret any inconvenience to our thousands of loyal customers during the period we were temporarily closed due to circumstances beyond our control. We wish to announce that every store will be supplied with a complete line of fresh merchandise in time for the reopening."

J. H. Ford Injured In Car's Collision With Geary Auto

Clinton Avenue Man Is Treated for Hurts to His Head, Back and Arms

John H. Ford, 32, of 187 Clinton avenue, was treated for injuries to his head, arms and back following a two-car collision at 6:03 p. m. yesterday at Maiden Lane and Clinton avenue.

Police said his head struck the left door window, breaking the glass. He was treated by his private physician.

Dennis Geary, year-old infant son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Geary, Jr., of Colonial Gardens on Flatbush avenue, was thrown from his car seat and fell to the floor of the sedan operated by his mother.

Apparently Not Injured

Mrs. Geary told The Freeman this morning that the child had missed the dash board, falling directly to the floor, and was apparently not injured. Dennis was examined by the Gearys' private physician.

Both Autos Damaged

Officers Edward J. Edwards and Harold Buchanan, who investigated, reported that Ford was driving a 1949 convertible north

Lenten Services

The Rev. Dr. William Lloyd Imes of Dundee will be guest preacher at Lenten service next Thursday, at 8 p. m., in the First Presbyterian Church, Elmendorf street and Tremper avenue. Dr. Imes is field secretary of the New York State Council of Churches, and a former pastor of St. James Presbyterian Church, New York. This is Dr. Imes' third appearance in Kingston as a Lenten preacher, in addition to being the guest preacher for the union Easter dawn service last year at the 9-W Drive-In Theatre. Each time he has impressed his hearers with his keenly searching presentation and practical application of the Christian faith to meet the problems and needs of modern man.

This is the second of three special Lenten services sponsored by the session of the church. The senior choir, under the direction of Miss Edna Merrihew, organist and choir director, will present a choral program, and the pastor, the Rev. William J. McVey will preside. For the concluding service of the series, April 8, the guest speaker will be the Rev. Dr. Putnam Cady of Fonda, a former pastor of the church. The public is cordially invited to these services.

K of C Radio Programs

Sponsored by Kingston Council 275, Knights of Columbus, the Ave Maria Hour and the Sacred Heart Program will be heard over WKNY during the coming week. The broadcast of the Ave Maria Hour Sunday at 8:30 a. m. will be devoted to Mother Frances Schervier. According to the Franciscan Friars of the Atonement, producers of the program, Frances Schervier was a girl who had tender compassion upon the sick and unfortunate. Her own interests were pushed into the background in favor of those who needed assistance. Gradually the grace of God led her thoughts toward a religious vocation and these thoughts were crystallized and translated into action one stormy night. Forced to remain at the Schervier home because of bad weather, Frances' friend, Gertrude Frank, told Frances that she would found a new religious order. The Sisters of the Poor of St. Francis is that order. These are the nuns whom Abraham Lincoln called "Angels of the Battlefield." The Sacred Heart program will be broadcast over WKNY weekdays at 6 a. m. and over WHUC, Hudson, weekdays at 10:45 a. m. and Sunday at 12:15 p. m.

Trouble in Oil

Omaha (AP)—When the Ervin R. Simons of Omaha redecorated their basement, they converted their furnace from oil to gas. Later their oil man came along with a tankful for another house on the same street and purely from force of habit stopped at the Simon home. Eighty gallons of fuel oil had poured over the Simon's new basement before Mrs. Simon ran out and put a stop to it.

This is Dr. Imes' third appearance in Kingston as a Lenten preacher, in addition to being the guest preacher for the union Easter dawn service last year at the 9-W Drive-In Theatre. Each time he has impressed his hearers with his keenly searching presentation and practical application of the Christian faith to meet the problems and needs of modern man.

This is the second of three special Lenten services sponsored by the session of the church. The senior choir, under the direction of Miss Edna Merrihew, organist and choir director, will present a choral program, and the pastor, the Rev. William J. McVey will preside. For the concluding service of the series, April 8, the guest speaker will be the Rev. Dr. Putnam Cady of Fonda, a former pastor of the church. The public is cordially invited to these services.

K of C Radio Programs

Sponsored by Kingston Council 275, Knights of Columbus, the Ave Maria Hour and the Sacred Heart Program will be heard over WKNY during the coming week. The broadcast of the Ave Maria Hour Sunday at 8:30 a. m. will be devoted to Mother Frances Schervier. According to the Franciscan Friars of the Atonement, producers of the program, Frances Schervier was a girl who had tender compassion upon the sick and unfortunate. Her own interests were pushed into the background in favor of those who needed assistance. Gradually the grace of God led her thoughts toward a religious vocation and these thoughts were crystallized and translated into action one stormy night. Forced to remain at the Schervier home because of bad weather, Frances' friend, Gertrude Frank, told Frances that she would found a new religious order. The Sisters of the Poor of St. Francis is that order. These are the nuns whom Abraham Lincoln called "Angels of the Battlefield." The Sacred Heart program will be broadcast over WKNY weekdays at 6 a. m. and over WHUC, Hudson, weekdays at 10:45 a. m. and Sunday at 12:15 p. m.

Trouble in Oil

Omaha (AP)—When the Ervin R. Simons of Omaha redecorated their basement, they converted their furnace from oil to gas. Later their oil man came along with a tankful for another house on the same street and purely from force of habit stopped at the Simon home. Eighty gallons of fuel oil had poured over the Simon's new basement before Mrs. Simon ran out and put a stop to it.

HIGHLAND NEWS

Highland, March 26—The St. Patrick's card party under the auspices of Sunshine Lodge IOOF and Vineyard Rebekah Lodge was held Saturday night, March 20. Refreshments were served by Myron Ronk, chairman, with a committee assisting. The favors and decorations were in keeping with St. Patrick. Both lodges were pleased with the results and thank all who assisted.

In the auditorium at the Central school American Legion Auxiliary, unit 193 will meet Tuesday night with Mrs. Mildred Whitbeck, Richmondville, the the third district chairman as the speaker. Refreshments will be served by Mrs. Gloria Gaffney, Arlene Wellington, Mrs. Audrey Idarola assisted by members of Lloyd Post. That same evening Lloyd Post meets with C. R. Brown, of Kingston, as guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Merritt, Mohonk Lake, were Monday guests in the home of their daughter, Mrs. John Batten. Mr. Merritt's term at Mohonk is over and as former residents it is hoped they will make their home here. On Sunday, Donald Merritt and daughter, Judith, Bedford Hills, were also guests at the Batten home.

Mr. and Mrs Harold Seaman and son, Dick, Croton, were Sunday guests of his mother, Mrs. Rose Seaman and brother Walter R. Seaman at Esopus.

The robins and peepers have arrived which gives encouragement to spring being just around the corner.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Champlin and Mr. and Mrs. Oliver J. Tillson attended the display in the armory in Kingston Tuesday night.

The assessors have been spending the past few weeks preparing the Town of Lloyd books preparatory to their spring calls throughout the town.

The sacrament of holy communion was administered to a class in Ascension Church, West Park, Sunday by the Right Rev. Charles K. Boynton. Those presented were Mrs. Madelon June Thorne, the Misses Mary Swezy, Diane Gorges, Rosemary Sabin[illegible]ler, Mrs. Herbert Johnson, Fielding Browne, Mrs Augusta Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. William Chandler. A reception followed the service for the Bishop and the new communicants.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stellar and Mrs. Joseph Gappillino were in New York Saturday to attend the wedding of a relative.

Mr. and Mrs. John O'Brien and family, Canaan, Conn., visited his mother and sister Sunday and her brother in New Paltz.

Mrs. James Dowd left Monday to visit friends on Long Island for a few days.

Chapter A PEO meets Thursday, April 1, with Mrs. Aartsen Van Wagenen on the Pleasant Valley road. Mrs. Donald Spoor is assisting hostess and the subject, Sons and Daughters of the Hudson Valley, is in charge of Mrs. Ethan Allen.

Nominations from the floor elected Valmore LeBel president of the Chamber of Commerce at the meeting Tuesday night in the town hall. Former president, Jack Weisgerber presided. Other officers include Peter Roumelis, vice president; Miss Katherine Tantillo, treasurer; Guy Torsone, secretary. The last two were re-elected. Daniel Tinacci and Dr. Louis Silvern were elected directors for a two year term. A change in the by-laws added another member to the board which was filled by Mr. Weisgarber as the 11th member. A joint meeting with the town board will be held soon when a planning commission will be formed. The tellers were Supervisor John J. Gaffney, Anthony Galick, Charles Schmidt. The incoming president will name a committee to select a date for the installation dinner.

Diamond Finesse Is Key Play Here

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

In today's hand the success of the slam appeared to depend on a finesse in diamonds. If that finesse succeeded, South could afford to give up one diamond trick, but the rest would be his. When the hand was played in a recent English tournament, however, one player found a way to make his contract even though the diamond king was offside.

West opened the queen of clubs (a diamond opening would have settled declarer's hash, but West could not know this), and South won at once with the ace of clubs. Declarer took the ace of trumps, cashed the ace and king of hearts, and then entered dummy with the nine of spades in order to lead the jack of hearts.

East quickly played a low heart, since it was obvious that South was now void of the suit. East hoped that South was merely trying a bluff play and that he would ruff the jack of hearts when the queen failed to show up.

South didn't know who held the queen of hearts, but it wasn't necessary for him to know. He discarded a diamond on the jack of hearts, intending to discard another diamond later on the ten of hearts if this trick happened to lose. In such a case the heart play would neither gain nor lose, and the slam would still depend on the success of the diamond finesse.

As it happened, the jack of hearts held the trick. This made it evident that East still held the queen of hearts. Declarer therefore ruffed dummy's remaining club with a high trump, got back to dummy with the ten of spades and led the ten of hearts to East's queen, discarding another diamond from his hand.

This line of play caught East If he returned a club, dummy could ruff while South discarded a third diamond. If East returned a diamond instead, dummy would get a free finesse, and South would still make his slam.

Makes Paint Glossier

The addition of varnish to oil paint will increase its gloss.

Furnace Cleaning Is a Spring Job

Spring is the time for furnace cleaning as well as house cleaning, says the National Warm Air Heating and Air Conditioning Association. As soon as the fire goes out for good, the prudent householder will go over his entire heating system, from chimney-top to ash-pan floor, and see to it that everything is clean and dry; all soot and ashes scrubbed down and swept out, and every clinker and cinder removed.

If this isn't done now, you may be in for unpleasant surprises next fall when it is time to start the fire again. Warm air heating plants, naturally, do not need as much care as other types of heating plants; but no type of furnace is immune from damage if not properly cared for. Ashes in particular, if not thoroughly removed, may absorb moisture and corrode grate bars and fire-pot walls.

Use Bright Colors In Child's Room

In choosing colors for a child's room, avoid subtle colors. A child's vision is unsophisticated. He prefers dynamic colors like red, green, yellow, blue. Drab, dull colors create a moody disposition, bright, gay colors on walls, floors and furnishings have an opposite effect.

Bright gloss or enamel wall finish, not flat paint, should be used in a child's room because of its washability. Walls of canary yellow, leaf-green or rose can be accented with brilliant splashes of contrasting colors in curtains and furniture trim.

Unfinished chairs, tables and chests of drawers can be painted in bright enamel; so can built-in wall and floor cabinets. A toy chest with cushioned top of bright-colored washable material is both cheerful and practical.

Roofing Under Post Will Block Rotting

Asphalt roofing has many auxiliary uses. One of these which takes advantage of the same waterproofing qualities that make it an excellent roof covering, is to keep dampness from rotting the base of a wood post.

When a post is to rest on concrete, masonry or other wood, cement a piece of asphalt roofing to the bottom of the post before putting the post in place. This will keep water from entering the porous end grain of the wood.

Aluminum Paint

Aluminum paint is often used as a barrier over bituminous paints and oil stains to prevent them from bleeding through and discoloring finishing coatings. Painters frequently use aluminum paint as a sealer when changing the color of interior woodwork which previously was stained mahogany. After aluminum paint is thoroughly dry, it can be finished with white or any light tint.

Bleach for Tile Joints

Discolored mortar joints between clay or ceramic wall tile or floor tile can usually be made white again by soaking with a household bleach. And filling a plumbing fixture with a solution of bleaching liquid and water and allowing it to stand overnight will ofter remove stains that won't respond to ordinary cleaning methods.

Gutters Easily Made

Durable roof gutters can be made by nailing lengths of 1x6-in. cypress or redwood together to form a V and fastening them along the roof eaves with brackets.

Makes Smoother Job

An enamel undercoat is essential for the best results in enamel finishes. This undercoat is a flat paint, especially made to flow out smoothly and leave no brush marks.

Use Water Putty

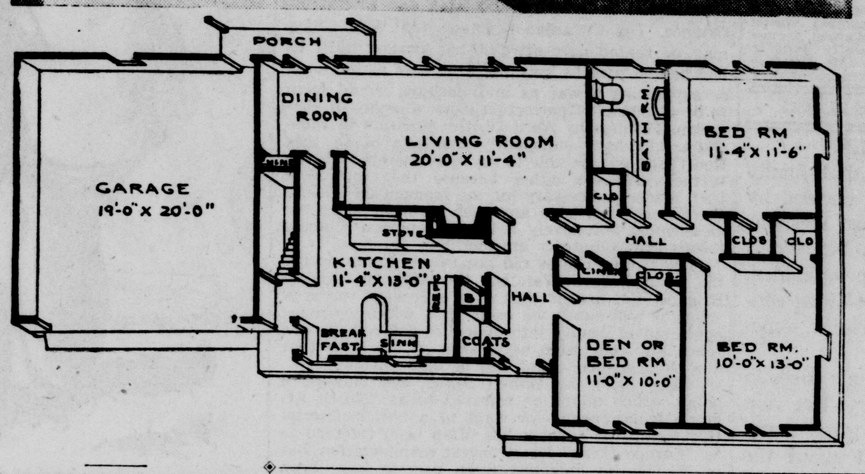

Water putty should be used for patching cracks between sections of wallboard. Ordinary oil putty will stain the area around the seam.

Snake Snack

In Tokyo, Japan, more than 1,000 snakes are consumed daily. Many Japanese consider baked snake a sure cure for cancer, rheumatism, lameness, and tuberculosis.

'The ALCAN'

A Distinctive Appearance

Rooms	Six
Bedrooms	Three
Closets	Seven
Cubage:
House	29,500 ft.
Garage	6,200 ft.
Dimensions	66' x 29'

With the breaks in its roof line and its three-sectioned architectural construction, "The Alcan," featured today by the Home of the Week Plan Service, presents a distinctive exterior picture.

Spacious yet not overly large, "The Alcan" is an informal sort of home ideally suited to construction on an ample sized lot in any pleasant residential neighborhood. Measurements of the main house are 46' x 24'; total length, including the attached garage, is 66' x 29'. Thus, to build the house plus the garage at least a 90 foot lot would be required.

Cubage of the house is 29,500 feet; cubage of the garage is 6200 feet. Relatively little landscaping is required to bring out the beauty of "The Alcan." A well cared for lawn and a few small shrubs or other plants will blend with and flatter the architectural simplicity of the house.

Five generous sized rooms provide you with plenty of living and sleeping space in "The Alcan." Both regular bedrooms, and also the den or bedroom, are located in the right wing of the house to assure the utmost possible privacy and quiet. For added convenience, the bathroom also is located in this section of the house.

Unusually large, the living room actually is two rooms in one. The left section of the room, which seems almost like a separate room, is designed to be used as the dining area. You'll appreciate the spacious china closet built in the front wall of this section of the room.

The large picture window in the back wall and the fireplace in the front wall combine to make the living room proper decoratively charming. If you so desire, the right wall could easily be lined with bookshelves and that section of the room used as a sort of reading room.

Because there is a place for everything, it should be no problem to keep everything in its place in the compact modern kitchen in "The Alcan." Space is provided in the left front corner for a good sized breakfast nook. The majority of your family's meals can be served in this pleasant eating spot.

Plenty of conveniently located storage space is another feature of "The Alcan" certain to win the approval of a large number of prospective home builders. In addition to the abundance of good sized closets you'll find extra storage space in the basement and in the garage.

Since no space is alloted for the laundry in the house proper, your laundry equipment should be installed under the kitchen or bath in the basement of "The Alcan." The heating plant should be placed under the living room.

Blueprints Available

Complete plans and specifications for this house and all other "Home of the Week" designs are available at moderate cost. For plan prices, write to the Home Building Editor, Dept. 24, Kingston Daily Freeman and enclose a self addressed, 3c stamped envelope. Allow 7 to 10 days for a reply.

All Buildings Move

In every building there is a certain amount of movement caused by lumber shrinkage, vibration, temporary loads, temperature changes and many other normal factors.

Fill Cracks in Stucco

Large cracks in stucco should be filled with an exterior crack filler before paint is applied.

Masking Tape

When painting close to a stationary fixture, such as a sink, masking tape can be very helpful. Flexible and gummed on one side, it is easily attached to the edge of the surface adjoining the area to be painted. Just as easily, it can be removed immediately after the paint is dry. Masking tape also helps when you are painting borders or stripes—or wish to obtain a straight edge. It is available at paint stores.

Sheathing Paper

Sheathing paper should never be air-tight. It is intended to shed water, which may leak into joints in siding, but it must be porous enough to permit the passage of vapor. The use of vapor-tight papers and building felts over sheathing, puts a vapor barrier in the wrong place, where cold outdoor air can cause warmer moisture in the wall to condense into water.

Carry Flashlight To Inspect House

If you're going house hunting, take a flashlight with you.

Many places in a house where inspection can be most revealing are poorly lighted and the prospective purchaser is under a severe handicap if a flashlight isn't part of his equipment.

A flashlight is particularly handy in inspecting the roof. This is true because a good way to get an idea of a roof's condition is to look at the underside of the roof deck. Search for wet spots, discoloration, and other evidence of water penetration.

Because many shortcomings can be remedied relatively simply, a house can be a good buy even if it has some defects.

Bugs Don't Like It

Bugs can be kept away from both the painter and the job he is working on by mixing one tablespoon of oil of cintronella into each gallon of paint.

Old Malden RR Station Is Moved

The former Malden railroad station, a 70-year-old town landmark, which was recently sold to Peter P. Stoly, is shown in the progress of being moved on wheels from the old railroad site. The moving operation started March 15 and the following Monday the station was on wheels and ready to move. On the same day, the old station was delivered to the new location, about a half mile away. The transfer was carried out by the Boiceville Construction Co., of which Arnold S. Rymkevitch is owner. Rymkevitch was formerly engaged in moving several homes for the new Thruway section in the Saugerties area. The former railroad station was constructed in 1909 and Stoly announces he now plans to use the building for a modern appliance showroom following alterations.

Both regular bedrooms, and also the den or bedroom, are located in the right wing of the house to assure the utmost possible privacy and quiet. For added convenience, the bathroom also is located in this section of the house.

Unusually large, the living room actually is two rooms in one. The left section of the room, which seems almost like a separate room, is designed to be used as the dining area. You'll appreciate the spacious china closet built in the front wall of this section of the room.

The large picture window in the back wall and the fireplace in the front wall combine to make the living room proper decoratively charming. If you so desire, the right wall could easily be lined with bookshelves and that section of the room used as a sort of reading room.

Because there is a place for everything, it should be no problem to keep everything in its place in the compact modern kitchen in "The Alcan." Space is provided in the left front corner for a good sized breakfast nook. The majority of your family's meals can be served in this pleasant eating spot.

Plenty of conveniently located storage space is another feature of "The Alcan" certain to win the approval of a large number of prospective home builders. In addition to the abundance of good sized closets you'll find extra storage space in the basement and in the garage.

Since no space is alloted for the laundry in the house proper, your laundry equipment should be installed under the kitchen or bath in the basement of "The Alcan." The heating plant should be placed under the living room.

Blueprints Available

Complete plans and specifications for this house and all other "Home of the Week" designs are available at moderate cost. For plan prices, write to the Home Building Editor, Dept. 24, Kingston Daily Freeman and enclose a self addressed, 3c stamped envelope. Allow 7 to 10 days for a reply.

All Buildings Move

In every building there is a certain amount of movement caused by lumber shrinkage, vibration, temporary loads, temperature changes and many other normal factors.

Fill Cracks in Stucco

Large cracks in stucco should be filled with an exterior crack filler before paint is applied.

Masking Tape

When painting close to a stationary fixture, such as a sink, masking tape can be very helpful. Flexible and gummed on one side, it is easily attached to the edge of the surface adjoining the area to be painted. Just as easily, it can be removed immediately after the paint is dry. Masking tape also helps when you are painting borders or stripes—or wish to obtain a straight edge. It is available at paint stores.

Sheathing Paper

Sheathing paper should never be air-tight. It is intended to shed water, which may leak into joints in siding, but it must be porous enough to permit the passage of vapor. The use of vapor-tight papers and building felts over sheathing, puts a vapor barrier in the wrong place, where cold outdoor air can cause warmer moisture in the wall to condense into water.

Carry Flashlight To Inspect House

If you're going house hunting, take a flashlight with you.

Many places in a house where inspection can be most revealing are poorly lighted and the prospective purchaser is under a severe handicap if a flashlight isn't part of his equipment.

A flashlight is particularly handy in inspecting the roof. This is true because a good way to get an idea of a roof's condition is to look at the underside of the roof deck. Search for wet spots, discoloration, and other evidence of water penetration.

Because many shortcomings can be remedied relatively simply, a house can be a good buy even if it has some defects.

Bugs Don't Like It

Bugs can be kept away from both the painter and the job he is working on by mixing one tablespoon of oil of cintronella into each gallon of paint.

Old Malden RR Station Is Moved

HOUSING FOR MORALE

Morale, the intangible factor that finally determines an Army's worth, is decided by a multitude of elements. Modern weapons and equipment are indispensable. No soldier likes to know his life depends on outmoded, obsolete instruments of war. But living conditions are also an important factor, especially for a peacetime army.

Living conditions at American air bases in French Morocco are an example. The vast cost of building them has been aired many times. Yet little has been said about the fact that American military personnel stationed at these airfields, built at a cost of many millions each, are living in uncomfortable "Dallas huts." According to Roland Sawyer, writing for the Christian Science Monitor, flyers assigned to Morocco for sixty days of duty can manage to live in these huts, which consist of four walls, an electric light and an oil stove. But for officers and men assigned to long duty there, such conditions are depressing as well as uncomfortable. Officers willing to pay $175 to $250 a month can live in French cities near by, but most officers and enlisted men cannot afford such rents.

The bases had to be built in a hurry, and the Dallas huts lent themselves to quick and cheap construction. It is also true, but unlikely, that the French may not renew the leases on these fields when they expire in a few years. Yet is it not unwise to spend millions on aircraft, bombs, equipment and airfields while being niggardly with the men who are the key to the entire operation?

Better housing at reasonable prices could be provided, especially if native building materials were utilized. This might prove economical. Men trained at great cost might be willing to remain beyond minimum enlistment periods if they were offered comfortable living places while there.

Waxing the kitchen floor must be regarded as beneficial for the house. But it is helpful if the family is warned lest the job be suddenly inspected from a sitting position.

WHERE THE MONEY GOES

Uncle Sam, like other people, gets blamed for many things for which he is not altogether responsible. One of these is the heavy tax burden. While the federal government has done its part toward keeping this well up to the limit which the taxpayers can bear, the states have also added their bit. Figures released by the Department of Commerce show that last year spending by the states increased by the tidy sum of $17,000,000,000. A figure like that would make quite a noticeable dent in the taxpayer's pocketbook.

Not all this extra spending, or even a large part of it, is waste. Much of it goes for decidedly worth while projects, and some of it is made necessary by the increased cost of everything. But whatever the justification, the fact remains that economy drives should not be confined to the activities of the federal government. States and counties need thrifty management, also.

Do-it-yourself projects are stirring the interest of many husbands these days. Many wives, we suspect, would settle merely for an on-the scene discovery of the gain in a do-it-now philosophy.

BLIND BUT NOT BEATEN

A pirate vessel steered by a blind man was an episode in Arthur D. Howden Smith's "Porto Bello Gold," a popular story of 20 or more years ago. The helmsman had strength and steadiness and the feel of the boat. If a shipmate were along to tell him of things he ought to see, he performed satisfactorily.

Equally improbable but equally possible is the career of Charles Medick, a Clevelander who is blind. His hobby is referring table tennis games. He tells hits and misses purely by their sound. In the summer he manages a softball team, his hearing telling him all that he needs to know.

The blindness of resourceful people like these is still a misfortune. Their ability does prove, however, that even the worst misfortunes can be mitigated if the victim is staunch and resourceful.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

APRIL 26

Events move in their course toward fixed goals despite Senatorial wranglings or political by-plays for personal power. Thus we approach the day, April 26, when the representatives of numerous nations will meet at Geneva to reconsider the problems raised by the Korean War, the principal one being whether one state, Red China, may set the precedent that a country can effectively shoot its way into the United Nations.

For the United States, April 26 is a climactic day. When this Conference at Geneva shall have met and resolved its affairs, this country will either have compromised its moral position by accepting an undesirable solution in order to appease and satisfy its allies and associates, thus losing moral stature; or it will have isolated itself diplomatically from its North Atlantic compatriots.

The granting of a seat in the United Nations is that important because it has been elevated into a major world issue upon Russian and British insistence. The Canadian overtone that Red China may be seated only after it has purged itself of bad habits, such as invading neighbors as in Korea or supporting a war as in Indochina, would seem to be a counsel of perfection if not a device of confusion. Perhaps by April 26, the situation in Indochina will have sufficiently degenerated so that Red China will be able to say that there will be no further invasions either because they will have been made unnecessary for the moment or because there never has been any such invasion, since the well-armed, effectively led and equipped Chinese troops are volunteers anyhow.

The United States did not invade Spain during the Spanish Civil War, but the Abraham Lincoln Brigade did, and if that is a precedent for anything, it will surely be used. In a word, we move again out of reality into dialectics and anyone can reach any conclusion he chooses in the hope that a wicked historic event can be made palatable.

Since 1945, the United States has pursued a policy which might be referred to as "North Atlantic Isolationism" for want of a better descriptive term. The concept has often been referred to as "Europe First." Its strongest manifestation was in NATO; its implementation was to have been the European Defense Community.

This is no haphazard improvisation. It is based on the assumption that if the North Atlantic countries can resolve their differences and join in a common political and economic formula, the rest of the world will fall into place as when one strikes the right key on an IBM machine. The keynote of this international system is the Anglo-Saxon world under the united leadership of the United States and Great Britain.

Unfortunately, the Soviet Universal State denies the validity of such a system. It needs to be recalled that the diversionary Berlin Airlift was used as a cover for the final coup in China by which that country was placed irrevocably in the Soviet Universal State, thus altering the balance of power to the American disadvantage. General George C. Marshall only too late recognized the error of the North Atlantic Isolationism and lent his name to the Petition of the Committee For One Million Against the Admission of Communist China to the United Nations.

Once China became part of the Soviet Universal State, Tibet was taken and the conquest of Korea and Japan was planned. Southward moved the Chinese Empire into the areas of Asia from which the Emperor Chienlung (1736-1795) had exacted tribute. In effect, this meant that Indochina, Burma and such borderlands as Nepal, Bhutan and Assam were targets of conquest and that ultimately Thailand would be absorbed to give China a rounded economy by assuring an adequate supply of the food staple, rice.

It has been the concentration on Asia which the Kremlin forced upon the world that diverted nations from the North Atlantic to the South Pacific. France, for instance, can make no final decisions as long as the Indochina War is in being; Great Britain is not free to make a final decision as long as India regards herself menaced by both great powers, the United States and Soviet Russia, and has chosen neutralism as a weapon, with a leaning toward Red China. It is this neutralism that is forcing the United States into an alliance with Moslem countries, including Pakistan.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

RETURNING FROM OVERSEAS

As our wounded men and women return from overseas, our first thought is to get them re-established so they will be their old selves again or as near to being their old selves as is humanly possible. Naturally we never think that too much care can be given to those who have risked their lives and gave themselves for our freedom. However, this rehabilitation must be handled in a sympathetic manner, always with the idea of helping them to help themselves. No one can estimate the amount of damage done to the brain and to the emotions of one who has experienced the effects of war.

In an article in The Rehabilitation Review, Dr. John A. F. Millet reports the good work and the mistakes made by rehabilitation physicians in caring for our returned men.

1. There was insufficient knowledge and therefore not enough understanding of the nature and impact of the social environment in which the patient lived and had his being. This situation was often complicated by loss of employment and the necessity of applying for assistance.

2. The evaluation of the patient's psychlogy was incomplete.

3. Special emphasis should be laid on the constructive significance of early teamwork shown in the handling of his problems. This was shown by the advice given to the patient to consult Mobility, Inc., and by joint decision between the physician and the social work supervisor to join forces in following up his case. The resultant improvement in the patient's rehabilitation, therefore, could be said to have been due entirely to streamlined planning and full cooperation of all the agencies concerned. This streamlining could be described in the following manner.

First comes the referral of the patient to Mobility, Inc. Next, the close supervision and follow-up of the case worker which resulted in the gathering of significant new facts as to the patient's less conscious motivations. Next came the skillful preparation of the case worker and his referral to the State Vocational Rehabilitation Bureau. Then the State Bureau along with the New York State Employment Service agency survey the employment possibilities by cooperative visits to employers, resulting in the discovery of a possible job.

The non-competitive sharing of information between the case worker and the rehabilitation counsellor is essential to the joint approach to the patient's problem. This could be compared to the situation in which both parents work together for the proper training and education of the child. Last, but not least, the interest and ambition of the patient was successfully aroused so that he became a willing partner in the enterprise. This appears to be thoughtful planning for our returned soldiers.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington, (NEA) — That Ripon, Wis., ceremony on March 20 to commemorate the founding of the Republican Party 100 years ago touched off a bit of political horseplay in the U. S. Senate.

Republican Senator Alexander Wiley, from Wisconsin, was giving the celebration a little advance publicity with a speech. "A feature of the ceremony will be the lighting of the symbolic 'freedom flame,' which the enthusiastic citizens of Ripon have pledged to keep alive as long as freedom lives in America," he declared.

After Senator Wiley had finished his announcement, Sen. Paul Douglas (D.-Ill.), replied: "I have been interested in hearing my friend speak of the candlelighting ceremony. Let me inquire whether it will be to celebrate a birthday or a wake?"

"I am very happy to have that very challenging question," Senator Wiley answered. "The celebration is of course to be a birthday. However, as the young cub is only 100 years old, he is full of pep, vim and vigor, as will be demonstrated next November.

"So I reply to the question of my friend, the senator from Illinois, that the celebration will not be a wake, but it may celebrate the wake of the Democratic Party."

The Association of American Railroads has now become a reluctant cobelligerent in the big fight between Robert R. Young and William White over control of the New York Central.

Young pulled the Chesapeake & Ohio out of some of the cooperative activities of A.A.R. at the end of the war. He then set up his own rival Federation for Railway Progress.

Theoretically the A.A.R. is a neutral group representing the interests of all U. S. railroads. But a couple of charges made by Young recently goaded A.A.R. President William T. Faricy into a reply.

"Young adds a new misstatement in saying that he did not urge that the government prevent railroads from dieselizing," says Faricy's announcement.

"I cite him to his own sworn testimony before an examiner of the Interstate Commerce Commission in finance docket 146292 on Sept. 17, 1947, when he said: 'I do not think it is in the public interest to operate diesels at all,' and that 'there ought to be a finding down here by some department of the government that these railroads should go back to coal.' "

American officers at Supreme Headquarters, Allied Forces in Europe, have devised a new gag expression in referring to documents which are classified as secret, supersecret or top secret. The new, inflated classification is now known as "Colossal Secret."

Perhaps the strangest air rescue on record has been reported from Bergstrom Air Force base near Austin, Tex. An F-84 Thunderjet was practicing refueling in flight from a Boeing KC-97 tanker.

The automatic gas cap on the F-84 failed to close after one contact. The Thunderjet was in danger of losing all its fuel. Using its refueling boom as a tow rope, however, the tanker hauled the Thunderjet to the end of the Bergstrom runway, then let it land on its own power.

Nelson Rockefeller is the only American thus far mentioned as a likely successor of Dr. Alberto Lleras of Colombia, resigned secretary general of the Organization of American States, formerly known as the Pan-American Union. During the war Rockefeller served as coordinator of Inter-American affairs and as assistant secretary of state in charge of Latin-American affairs. He is now undersecretary of health, education and welfare in the Eisenhower cabinet.

Four Latin-Americans are being considered for the top OAS job. One is Galo Plazo, president of Ecuador from 1948 to 1952 and former ambassador to Washington. Another ex-president being considered is Ricardo Alfaro of Panama.

Luis Quintanilla is Mexico's candidate. He is now Mexican ambassador to the OAS.

Dr. Rene Leprevanche, Venezuela's ambassador to the OAS and chairman of its Council last year is a fifth possibility.

Some Indian chiefs recently came to Washington to protest more government protection from their people. They were asked what they thought about the way their affairs were being handled. After a week of hearings and visits to congressmen which accomplished nothing, one of the braves remarked, "Heap big fertilizer. No crop."

March 27, 1934—George Amerod Abdallah, of Newkirk avenue, a trackwalker for the N. Y. Central railroad, was struck and fatally injured while on duty near the Esopus station.

Mrs. Patrick J. Cahill, of Roosevelt avenue, died.

George W. Pratt, of Hasbrouck avenue, died.

James G. Norton, public works superintendent, reported local streets in poor condition as the result of winter weather.

March 27, 1944—Ulster county's total, to date, in the Red Cross War Fund drive was $39,200 toward a quota of $103,000.

John T. Loughran, associate judge of the Court of Appeals, said hearing would be held on an appeal in the case of Samuel M. Nuzzo, who was charged with misappropriation of union funds at Newburgh.

The Ulster County Farm Bureau reported 1,130 paid up members.

Valerie K. Swenson, of Allaben, was reported admitted to the membership of the National Association of Women Artists.

Flowers Sell by Weight

Ithaca, N. Y. (AP)—In cut flowers it isn't the smell nor the color that determines quality, it's the weight, say the specialists. Arthur Leach of Manchester, N. H., a graduate student at Cornell University, has constructed a machine that grades flowers by weight. Patterned after an egg-grader, the gadget handles 120 dozen flowers an hour. The machine makes possible standard grades—special, fancy, extra, first—which mean something to the grower if not to the customer. Previously each grower separated the blooms according to his own individual system and the retailer had to regrade to satisfy his customers.

Jack of All Trades

Norfolk, Va. (AP)—The Jack of All Trades of the Navy is the Conecuh, once a combination raider and replenishment ship of Nazi Germany. Under United States jurisdiction it has been converted to do the combined work of a fleet oiler, ammunition ship, provision ship and stores-issue ship—all while under way. It is classed as the fastest ship (20 knots) among service fleet auxiliaries.

THE MARQUEE

T.V.—STAGE—RADIO—RECORDS—PEOPLE

By DICK KLEINER

Unless they've been kidding us, the object of this TV gadget is to bring entertainment into the home. But lately, many shows seem to have forgotten that simple little truth. Either through shoddy camera work or shoddier planning, us poor stay-at-homes don't see what's going on.

Horrible Example A—on "Toast of the Town," Ed Sullivan presented a troop of dogs and ponies. The idea, apparently, was for the former to jump onto the latter. Everybody at the studio seemed to applaud, so I was led to the conclusion that the jumps were successful. On my set, all you could see were some ponies heading south with, from time to time, a dog on top. No jumps.

You could have just as much fun with a radio and a good imagination.

Bulletin: Jonathan Willis Gould has switched to homogenized milk!!!

You may not think that bulletin is startling, which shows how much you know. Actually, it's important, and if you'll pull up a chair we'll go into it at no great length.

Jonathan Willis Gould is a baby. Male. Age approximately five months. His mother is the star of stage, TV and nursery, Mimi Benzell. Now that J. W., as she refers to him, has switched to homogenized milk, he's happier. So he's less worried. Less worries means truer high notes. That means contented audiences. They buy more. Makes for sounder economic condition of country. Never can tell, this thing may eventually mean world peace.

Actually, motherhood hasn't interfered with Miss Benzell's career. Before her tours, she tape-records lullabies, so J. W. can go to sleep in the musical manner to which he's accustomed. He likes music; she thinks he'll be musical, because he coos when she sings. That may not prove anything—lots of baby cooers turn out to be as musical as a tone-deaf whale with an off-key spout.

But, cooing or not, Miss Benzell is the picture of a doting mother. "He's so wonderful," she said, ecstatically hugging him. "I'd like to stay with him all the time."

Concerts, TV and similar commitments prevent that, unfortunately. But, on the silver-lining side, there are such modern devices as tape recorders and homogenized milk, so J. W. is happy and we can still hear Mimi. Things could be worse.

Phyllis Curtain, the wife of a history professor at Swarthmore, will sing the lead in the opera, "Salome," at the New York City Center. She had some pictures taken in costume—a few beads and some filmy stuff—and gasped.

"Oh, dear," she said, "what will they say at Swarthmore?"

The "Home" show, on NBC-TV, which is designed to show women how to be better home-makers, will focus its cameras on Washington's cherry trees during its color debut. That'll be a dandy help to housewives, who no doubt are crying for more and better cherry tree information.

There's a change due on NBC's Campbell TV Soundstage. Martin Horrell is out as producer and Marc Daniels is in. New policy will be to use more stars—the first program will have Robert Cummings, Gene Lockhart and Henry Hull.

What Campbell really wants is to soup up the show.

Andrew McCullough, who's moving from director of "Omnibus" to producer-director of "Danger," both on CBS-TV, is a playwright on the side. Three years ago, he showed a play he'd written to Broadway producer Max Gordon.

"It's great, Andy," Gordon reacted, "but there's not a nickel in it."

Just recently, the play, "Backbone," was put on at New York Lambs Club. After the performance, McCullough met Gordon backstage.

"It's great, Andy," Gordon said, "but there's not a quarter in it."

Just shows you how far inflation's gone.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson, Park, Mass., March 26—I urge readers not to take too seriously the Federal Unemployment figures which are released the second week of each month. Until they are issued on a per-capita basis and properly adjusted, I believe them to be unreliable and misleading.

There are 63,000,000 employes (other than farmers) in these United States. Of these, only very few employes are interviewed. There are over 45,000,000 families in the United States. Of these, only 25,000 families are interviewed. Thus, it will be seen that to give out a figure of "3,385,000" is really ludicrous. It surely would be more logical to say about "3,400,000," and call it a "rough estimate."

The figures never show the real situation. When families are interviewed they report not only those who have been laid off, but many who are ill, or working at home, or perhaps too lazy to work. Recently, to help the Republicans get the farm vote, the coverage has been increased from 123 counties to 450 counties. This greatly increases the percentage of farm families included in the count. I forecast such figures will be found very unreliable as regards the status of those helpers who live on the farm, whether or not a salary is being paid them.

Politics Creep in Badly

When I was director of Information and Education of the Labor Administration, I tried to overcome the political slant. For instance, during the Truman administration, the Republican families were constantly expecting a business collapse. Hence, they gave the interviewer a pessimistic report pretending business was bad; while Democratic homes gave good reports. Now the conditions are opposite. The Democratic homes are talking grief.

Another feature to be considered is that some states have a greater percentage of itinerant workers. Under present laws in many states, if persons on the labor force are employed for one or two quarters within a certain twelve month period, then the person is entitled to unemployment insurance of from $20 to $30 per week, even though the person is not a resident of the state and perhaps has even left the state altogether. Your state's reported unemployment should really be adjusted in accordance with this unreasonable and nonconforming legislation. Any reader can get a free copy of what each of the 48 states is rolling up for Federal Unemployment Benefits by writing to the Bureau of Employment Security, Division of Reports, Department of Labor, Washington, D. C. Before leaving your present state to seek a job somewhere else, you should carefully read this report by states.

What Latest Figures Show

The reported unemployment of the entire United States on February 13, 1954, was 3,385,000 by the Standard Method, 3,671,000 by the new "C.I.O." Method. These both are based on a total population of about 161,350,000, but this population is increasing about 250,000 a month. This means that the unemployed, figured on a labor force of 63,000,000, is, on a per-capita basis, only two per cent of the entire population. This compares with about ten per cent unemployed in 1932. I severely criticize any of the Labor Department or Commerce Department (who are the remains of a Democratic bureaucracy) for refusing to use the per-capita figures. They are not only ignoring the growth of the country, but may also be changing the method of compiling the figures, to please the C.I.O. crowd. This is like changing the rules of a game in the midst of a game. Furthermore, the increase reported under these new rules is largely based on the reported "unemployed" on a few farms, which is a very debatable figure.

Regarding your own state:—Neither of the above figures for present total United States unemployment (the standard figure of 3,385,000, nor the C.I.O. figure of 3,671,000) can be broken down by states. Both are too much of a guess. Moreover, of the present United States population of 161,350,000 about 12 per cent are over 60 years of age and 5 per cent are over 70 years of age. These figures differ greatly with different states. For this distribution of the age group, the Labor Department makes no adjustment. It thus will be seen that the whole business is guess work and should be corrected or suppressed. However, an unemployment of only 2 per cent is nothing to worry about. Such a small percentage should give confidence and optimism for the 1954 outlook.

Doctor Ends a Career

Miami, Fla. (AP)—Doctor's orders have driven Mrs. Frank Amand out of business. At 420 pounds she was billed as Baby Thelma in a circus sideshow but her physician said she had to come down to 200. After she had knocked off 73 pounds, her husband, a 125-pound circus performer, had to go to a hospital with tuberculosis. Now Thelma must be the family breadwinner but at some other job.

Signs Are Wrong

Emmett, Idaho (AP)—R. O. McMaham, a real estate agent, figured it was just a routine request when he asked the city council for permission to put up one of those woden signs he'd seen over the sidewalk in front of other business houses. The council looked in the statute book to make sure, found a 36-year-old fire ordinance on the subject, and had to order all the wooden signs taken down.

HOUSING FOR MORALE

Morale, the intangible factor that finally determines an Army's worth, is decided by a multitude of elements. Modern weapons and equipment are indispensable. No soldier likes to know his life depends on outmoded, obsolete instruments of war. But living conditions are also an important factor, especially for a peacetime army.

Living conditions at American air bases in French Morocco are an example. The vast cost of building them has been aired many times. Yet little has been said about the fact that American military personnel stationed at these airfields, built at a cost of many millions each, are living in uncomfortable "Dallas huts." According to Roland Sawyer, writing for the Christian Science Monitor, flyers assigned to Morocco for sixty days of duty can manage to live in these huts, which consist of four walls, an electric light and an oil stove. But for officers and men assigned to long duty there, such conditions are depressing as well as uncomfortable. Officers willing to pay $175 to $250 a month can live in French cities near by, but most officers and enlisted men cannot afford such rents.

The bases had to be built in a hurry, and the Dallas huts lent themselves to quick and cheap construction. It is also true, but unlikely, that the French may not renew the leases on these fields when they expire in a few years. Yet is it not unwise to spend millions on aircraft, bombs, equipment and airfields while being niggardly with the men who are the key to the entire operation?

Better housing at reasonable prices could be provided, especially if native building materials were utilized. This might prove economical. Men trained at great cost might be willing to remain beyond minimum enlistment periods if they were offered comfortable living places while there.

Waxing the kitchen floor must be regarded as beneficial for the house. But it is helpful if the family is warned lest the job be suddenly inspected from a sitting position.

WHERE THE MONEY GOES

Uncle Sam, like other people, gets blamed for many things for which he is not altogether responsible. One of these is the heavy tax burden. While the federal government has done its part toward keeping this well up to the limit which the taxpayers can bear, the states have also added their bit. Figures released by the Department of Commerce show that last year spending by the states increased by the tidy sum of $17,000,000,000. A figure like that would make quite a noticeable dent in the taxpayer's pocketbook.

Not all this extra spending, or even a large part of it, is waste. Much of it goes for decidedly worth while projects, and some of it is made necessary by the increased cost of everything. But whatever the justification, the fact remains that economy drives should not be confined to the activities of the federal government. States and counties need thrifty management, also.

Do-it-yourself projects are stirring the interest of many husbands these days. Many wives, we suspect, would settle merely for an on-the scene discovery of the gain in a do-it-now philosophy.

BLIND BUT NOT BEATEN

A pirate vessel steered by a blind man was an episode in Arthur D. Howden Smith's "Porto Bello Gold," a popular story of 20 or more years ago. The helmsman had strength and steadiness and the feel of the boat. If a shipmate were along to tell him of things he ought to see, he performed satisfactorily.

Equally improbable but equally possible is the career of Charles Medick, a Clevelander who is blind. His hobby is referring table tennis games. He tells hits and misses purely by their sound. In the summer he manages a softball team, his hearing telling him all that he needs to know.

The blindness of resourceful people like these is still a misfortune. Their ability does prove, however, that even the worst misfortunes can be mitigated if the victim is staunch and resourceful.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

APRIL 26

Events move in their course toward fixed goals despite Senatorial wranglings or political by-plays for personal power. Thus we approach the day, April 26, when the representatives of numerous nations will meet at Geneva to reconsider the problems raised by the Korean War, the principal one being whether one state, Red China, may set the precedent that a country can effectively shoot its way into the United Nations.

For the United States, April 26 is a climactic day. When this Conference at Geneva shall have met and resolved its affairs, this country will either have compromised its moral position by accepting an undesirable solution in order to appease and satisfy its allies and associates, thus losing moral stature; or it will have isolated itself diplomatically from its North Atlantic compatriots.

The granting of a seat in the United Nations is that important because it has been elevated into a major world issue upon Russian and British insistence. The Canadian overtone that Red China may be seated only after it has purged itself of bad habits, such as invading neighbors as in Korea or supporting a war as in Indochina, would seem to be a counsel of perfection if not a device of confusion. Perhaps by April 26, the situation in Indochina will have sufficiently degenerated so that Red China will be able to say that there will be no further invasions either because they will have been made unnecessary for the moment or because there never has been any such invasion, since the well-armed, effectively led and equipped Chinese troops are volunteers anyhow.

The United States did not invade Spain during the Spanish Civil War, but the Abraham Lincoln Brigade did, and if that is a precedent for anything, it will surely be used. In a word, we move again out of reality into dialectics and anyone can reach any conclusion he chooses in the hope that a wicked historic event can be made palatable.

Since 1945, the United States has pursued a policy which might be referred to as "North Atlantic Isolationism" for want of a better descriptive term. The concept has often been referred to as "Europe First." Its strongest manifestation was in NATO; its implementation was to have been the European Defense Community.

This is no haphazard improvisation. It is based on the assumption that if the North Atlantic countries can resolve their differences and join in a common political and economic formula, the rest of the world will fall into place as when one strikes the right key on an IBM machine. The keynote of this international system is the Anglo-Saxon world under the united leadership of the United States and Great Britain.

Unfortunately, the Soviet Universal State denies the validity of such a system. It needs to be recalled that the diversionary Berlin Airlift was used as a cover for the final coup in China by which that country was placed irrevocably in the Soviet Universal State, thus altering the balance of power to the American disadvantage. General George C. Marshall only too late recognized the error of the North Atlantic Isolationism and lent his name to the Petition of the Committee For One Million Against the Admission of Communist China to the United Nations.

Once China became part of the Soviet Universal State, Tibet was taken and the conquest of Korea and Japan was planned. Southward moved the Chinese Empire into the areas of Asia from which the Emperor Chienlung (1736-1795) had exacted tribute. In effect, this meant that Indochina, Burma and such borderlands as Nepal, Bhutan and Assam were targets of conquest and that ultimately Thailand would be absorbed to give China a rounded economy by assuring an adequate supply of the food staple, rice.

It has been the concentration on Asia which the Kremlin forced upon the world that diverted nations from the North Atlantic to the South Pacific. France, for instance, can make no final decisions as long as the Indochina War is in being; Great Britain is not free to make a final decision as long as India regards herself menaced by both great powers, the United States and Soviet Russia, and has chosen neutralism as a weapon, with a leaning toward Red China. It is this neutralism that is forcing the United States into an alliance with Moslem countries, including Pakistan.

That Body of Yours

RETURNING FROM OVERSEAS

As our wounded men and women return from overseas, our first thought is to get them re-established so they will be their old selves again or as near to being their old selves as is humanly possible. Naturally we never think that too much care can be given to those who have risked their lives and gave themselves for our freedom. However, this rehabilitation must be handled in a sympathetic manner, always with the idea of helping them to help themselves. No one can estimate the amount of damage done to the brain and to the emotions of one who has experienced the effects of war.

In an article in The Rehabilitation Review, Dr. John A. F. Millet reports the good work and the mistakes made by rehabilitation physicians in caring for our returned men.

1. There was insufficient knowledge and therefore not enough understanding of the nature and impact of the social environment in which the patient lived and had his being. This situation was often complicated by loss of employment and the necessity of applying for assistance.

2. The evaluation of the patient's psychlogy was incomplete.

3. Special emphasis should be laid on the constructive significance of early teamwork shown in the handling of his problems. This was shown by the advice given to the patient to consult Mobility, Inc., and by joint decision between the physician and the social work supervisor to join forces in following up his case. The resultant improvement in the patient's rehabilitation, therefore, could be said to have been due entirely to streamlined planning and full cooperation of all the agencies concerned. This streamlining could be described in the following manner.

First comes the referral of the patient to Mobility, Inc. Next, the close supervision and follow-up of the case worker which resulted in the gathering of significant new facts as to the patient's less conscious motivations. Next came the skillful preparation of the case worker and his referral to the State Vocational Rehabilitation Bureau. Then the State Bureau along with the New York State Employment Service agency survey the employment possibilities by cooperative visits to employers, resulting in the discovery of a possible job.

The non-competitive sharing of information between the case worker and the rehabilitation counsellor is essential to the joint approach to the patient's problem. This could be compared to the situation in which both parents work together for the proper training and education of the child. Last, but not least, the interest and ambition of the patient was successfully aroused so that he became a willing partner in the enterprise. This appears to be thoughtful planning for our returned soldiers.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington, (NEA) — That Ripon, Wis., ceremony on March 20 to commemorate the founding of the Republican Party 100 years ago touched off a bit of political horseplay in the U. S. Senate.

Republican Senator Alexander Wiley, from Wisconsin, was giving the celebration a little advance publicity with a speech. "A feature of the ceremony will be the lighting of the symbolic 'freedom flame,' which the enthusiastic citizens of Ripon have pledged to keep alive as long as freedom lives in America," he declared.

After Senator Wiley had finished his announcement, Sen. Paul Douglas (D.-Ill.), replied: "I have been interested in hearing my friend speak of the candlelighting ceremony. Let me inquire whether it will be to celebrate a birthday or a wake?"

"I am very happy to have that very challenging question," Senator Wiley answered. "The celebration is of course to be a birthday. However, as the young cub is only 100 years old, he is full of pep, vim and vigor, as will be demonstrated next November.

"So I reply to the question of my friend, the senator from Illinois, that the celebration will not be a wake, but it may celebrate the wake of the Democratic Party."

The Association of American Railroads has now become a reluctant cobelligerent in the big fight between Robert R. Young and William White over control of the New York Central.

Young pulled the Chesapeake & Ohio out of some of the cooperative activities of A.A.R. at the end of the war. He then set up his own rival Federation for Railway Progress.

Theoretically the A.A.R. is a neutral group representing the interests of all U. S. railroads. But a couple of charges made by Young recently goaded A.A.R. President William T. Faricy into a reply.

"Young adds a new misstatement in saying that he did not urge that the government prevent railroads from dieselizing," says Faricy's announcement.

"I cite him to his own sworn testimony before an examiner of the Interstate Commerce Commission in finance docket 146292 on Sept. 17, 1947, when he said: 'I do not think it is in the public interest to operate diesels at all,' and that 'there ought to be a finding down here by some department of the government that these railroads should go back to coal.' Perhaps the strangest air rescue on record has been reported from Bergstrom Air Force base near Austin, Tex. An F-84 Thunderjet was practicing refueling in flight from a Boeing KC-97 tanker.

The automatic gas cap on the F-84 failed to close after one contact. The Thunderjet was in danger of losing all its fuel. Using its refueling boom as a tow rope, however, the tanker hauled the Thunderjet to the end of the Bergstrom runway, then let it land on its own power.

Nelson Rockefeller is the only American thus far mentioned as a likely successor of Dr. Alberto Lleras of Colombia, resigned secretary general of the Organization of American States, formerly known as the Pan-American Union. During the war Rockefeller served as coordinator of Inter-American affairs and as assistant secretary of state in charge of Latin-American affairs. He is now undersecretary of health, education and welfare in the Eisenhower cabinet.

Four Latin-Americans are being considered for the top OAS job. One is Galo Plazo, president of Ecuador from 1948 to 1952 and former ambassador to Washington. Another ex-president being considered is Ricardo Alfaro of Panama.

Luis Quintanilla is Mexico's candidate. He is now Mexican ambassador to the OAS.

Dr. Rene Leprevanche, Venezuela's ambassador to the OAS and chairman of its Council last year is a fifth possibility.

Flowers Sell by Weight

Ithaca, N. Y. (AP)—In cut flowers it isn't the smell nor the color that determines quality, it's the weight, say the specialists. Arthur Leach of Manchester, N. H., a graduate student at Cornell University, has constructed a machine that grades flowers by weight. Patterned after an egg-grader, the gadget handles 120 dozen flowers an hour. The machine makes possible standard grades—special, fancy, extra, first—which mean something to the grower if not to the customer. Previously each grower separated the blooms according to his own individual system and the retailer had to regrade to satisfy his customers.

Jack of All Trades

Norfolk, Va. (AP)—The Jack of All Trades of the Navy is the Conecuh, once a combination raider and replenishment ship of Nazi Germany. Under United States jurisdiction it has been converted to do the combined work of a fleet oiler, ammunition ship, provision ship and stores-issue ship—all while under way. It is classed as the fastest ship (20 knots) among service fleet auxiliaries.

THE MARQUEE

By DICK KLEINER

Unless they've been kidding us, the object of this TV gadget is to bring entertainment into the home. But lately, many shows seem to have forgotten that simple little truth. Either through shoddy camera work or shoddier planning, us poor stay-at-homes don't see what's going on.

Horrible Example A—on "Toast of the Town," Ed Sullivan presented a troop of dogs and ponies. The idea, apparently, was for the former to jump onto the latter. Everybody at the studio seemed to applaud, so I was led to the conclusion that the jumps were successful. On my set, all you could see were some ponies heading south with, from time to time, a dog on top. No jumps.

You could have just as much fun with a radio and a good imagination.

Bulletin: Jonathan Willis Gould has switched to homogenized milk!!!

You may not think that bulletin is startling, which shows how much you know. Actually, it's important, and if you'll pull up a chair we'll go into it at no great length.

Jonathan Willis Gould is a baby. Male. Age approximately five months. His mother is the star of stage, TV and nursery, Mimi Benzell. Now that J. W., as she refers to him, has switched to homogenized milk, he's happier. So he's less worried. Less worries means truer high notes. That means contented audiences. They buy more. Makes for sounder economic condition of country. Never can tell, this thing may eventually mean world peace.

Actually, motherhood hasn't interfered with Miss Benzell's career. Before her tours, she tape-records lullabies, so J. W. can go to sleep in the musical manner to which he's accustomed. He likes music; she thinks he'll be musical, because he coos when she sings. That may not prove anything—lots of baby cooers turn out to be as musical as a tone-deaf whale with an off-key spout.

But, cooing or not, Miss Benzell is the picture of a doting mother. "He's so wonderful," she said, ecstatically hugging him. "I'd like to stay with him all the time."

Concerts, TV and similar commitments prevent that, unfortunately. But, on the silver-lining side, there are such modern devices as tape recorders and homogenized milk, so J. W. is happy and we can still hear Mimi. Things could be worse.

Just recently, the play, "Backbone," was put on at New York Lambs Club. After the performance, McCullough met Gordon backstage.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson, Park, Mass., March 26—I urge readers not to take too seriously the Federal Unemployment figures which are released the second week of each month. Until they are issued on a per-capita basis and properly adjusted, I believe them to be unreliable and misleading.

There are 63,000,000 employes (other than farmers) in these United States. Of these, only very few employes are interviewed. There are over 45,000,000 families in the United States. Of these, only 25,000 families are interviewed. Thus, it will be seen that to give out a figure of "3,385,000" is really ludicrous. It surely would be more logical to say about "3,400,000," and call it a "rough estimate."

The figures never show the real situation. When families are interviewed they report not only those who have been laid off, but many who are ill, or working at home, or perhaps too lazy to work. Recently, to help the Republicans get the farm vote, the coverage has been increased from 123 counties to 450 counties. This greatly increases the percentage of farm families included in the count. I forecast such figures will be found very unreliable as regards the status of those helpers who live on the farm, whether or not a salary is being paid them.

Politics Creep in Badly

When I was director of Information and Education of the Labor Administration, I tried to overcome the political slant. For instance, during the Truman administration, the Republican families were constantly expecting a business collapse. Hence, they gave the interviewer a pessimistic report pretending business was bad; while Democratic homes gave good reports. Now the conditions are opposite. The Democratic homes are talking grief.

Another feature to be considered is that some states have a greater percentage of itinerant workers. Under present laws in many states, if persons on the labor force are employed for one or two quarters within a certain twelve month period, then the person is entitled to unemployment insurance of from $20 to $30 per week, even though the person is not a resident of the state and perhaps has even left the state altogether. Your state's reported unemployment should really be adjusted in accordance with this unreasonable and nonconforming legislation. Any reader can get a free copy of what each of the 48 states is rolling up for Federal Unemployment Benefits by writing to the Bureau of Employment Security, Division of Reports, Department of Labor, Washington, D. C. Before leaving your present state to seek a job somewhere else, you should carefully read this report by states.

What Latest Figures Show

The reported unemployment of the entire United States on February 13, 1954, was 3,385,000 by the Standard Method, 3,671,000 by the new "C.I.O." Method. These both are based on a total population of about 161,350,000, but this population is increasing about 250,000 a month. This means that the unemployed, figured on a labor force of 63,000,000, is, on a per-capita basis, only two per cent of the entire population. This compares with about ten per cent unemployed in 1932. I severely criticize any of the Labor Department or Commerce Department (who are the remains of a Democratic bureaucracy) for refusing to use the per-capita figures. They are not only ignoring the growth of the country, but may also be changing the method of compiling the figures, to please the C.I.O. crowd. This is like changing the rules of a game in the midst of a game. Furthermore, the increase reported under these new rules is largely based on the reported "unemployed" on a few farms, which is a very debatable figure.

Regarding your own state:—Neither of the above figures for present total United States unemployment (the standard figure of 3,385,000, nor the C.I.O. figure of 3,671,000) can be broken down by states. Both are too much of a guess. Moreover, of the present United States population of 161,350,000 about 12 per cent are over 60 years of age and 5 per cent are over 70 years of age. These figures differ greatly with different states. For this distribution of the age group, the Labor Department makes no adjustment. It thus will be seen that the whole business is guess work and should be corrected or suppressed. However, an unemployment of only 2 per cent is nothing to worry about. Such a small percentage should give confidence and optimism for the 1954 outlook.

New Paltz High

Foreign Students

The citizenship education classes at New Paltz High School were visited Friday, March 19, by two foreign students who are studying at Teachers College. Miss Irene Morsy of France and Rudolph Lauer of Germany spoke briefly on their home countries and gave the pupils an idea of their impressions of the United States. A question and answer period followed.

Dodd Is Honored

James F. Dodd, junior at New Paltz High School, has been selected by the high school faculty to represent the school this summer at the Central Hudson Summer Indoctrination Course. The Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation gives this opportunity each year to high school juniors to compete for a four-year engineering scholarship at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. The course lasts for three weeks during the summer and consists of indoctrination training in all phases of the company's business, with suitable examinations at frequent intervals to make sure that the student is absorbing the training and has aptitude for the work. At the conclusion of this course, the student must agree to present an essay covering the information gained during the course.

In order to be eligible for the course a boy must have taken at least one year general science, two years of mathematic, and have either had or agree to take in his senior year, one year of physics, and have a satisfactory scholastic average in all subjects taken in high school. The selection from the list of eligible boys is then made upon the basis of their ratings in personality, leadership, and ability to get along with others.

Jimmy was very surprised when he was informed of the honor which had been bestowed upon him. This 17 year old varsity basketball star is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Dodd, Plains Road, New York.

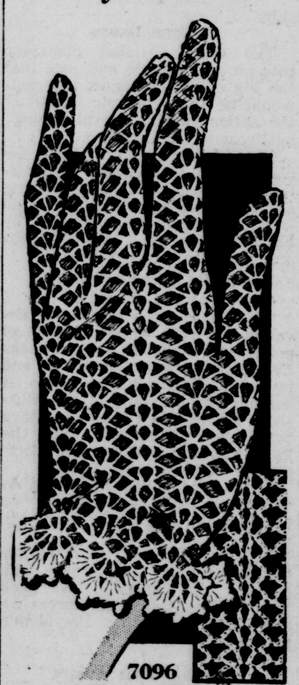

Adult Education

The last meeting of the adult education course, World Affairs Are Your Affairs will be held Wednesday, March 31, at the New Paltz High School library. The topic for the evening will be England. A film, Picture of Britain, will be shown. All adult members are urged to return their library books at this meeting.

There will be a meeting of the adult education advisory committee at the high school on Wednesday evening, March 31, at 8 p. m. The purpose of this meeting is to go over this years program and make tentative plans for an enlarged program for next year.

Record for Book

Toledo, Ohio (AP) — Librarians at the Toledo Public Library estimated the fine on a book which turned up the other day at $263—but they said they would forget about it since there was no record who took the book out back in 1882. The book, "David Crockett: His Life and Adventures," was retrieved from among the books left by the late Antone Zeitler, who died several months ago. A note in the back said a 3-cents-a-day fine would be levied if kept more than two weeks. "David Crockett" cost $1 new.

Three-City Job

Woodbridge, Conn. (AP) — A wrecked automobile was found at the foot of 250-foot cliff. Police from Woodbridge, New Haven and Hamden agreed that someone had pushed the car over the cliff. But an expert had to tell them whose job it was to investigate because the boundary lines of the three communities converge at the cliff bottom. He ruled that the car rested on Woodbridge land.

Methodist Youth Plan Spring Rally April 3 in Beacon

Representatives of youth groups from all Methodist Churches in the New York Conference will attend an annual spring rally and institute reunion April 3 at Trinity Methodist Church in Beacon.

Deans and members of the staffs for the institutes to be held next summer at the Oakwood School in Poughkeepsie will be introduced and institute dates for various ages announced.

Dr. Harold Richardson, a member of the faculty at the Washington Irving High School in Tarrytown, will be the principal speaker.

The morning session will include registration and the institute discussion. At 1 p. m. a recreation hour has been planned followed by a motion picture on Hawaii. A worship service at 2:30 p. m. will precede Dr. Richardson's address.

The rally is being planned by Miss Geneva Smith, conference president of the Methodist Youth Fellowship; the Rev. Ralph E. Spoor, director of youth work for the Conference and pastor of the Ellenville Methodist Church; and the Rev. Howard D. McGrath of Poughkeepsie, executive secretary of the Conference Board of Education.

Engineers, Milk Companies Settle

New York, March 27 (AP)—Some 200 operating engineers and 30 milk companies in the metropolitan area have reached a settlement providing for wage boosts and fringe benefits.

Agreement on a two-year contract, announced yesterday by Martin A. Wersing, of the New York State Board of Mediation, calls for union membership approval.

The workers are members of the AFL International Union of Operating Engineers employed by milk companies serving the metropolitan area, parts of northern New Jersey, Long Island and Westchester county.

Wersing said the new pact provides for a $7 weekly pay increase the first year and $4 a week the second year. Also agreed to, he said, was three weeks vacation after five years and creation of an employer-supported pension plan.

The mediator said current pay is $102 for a five-day, 40-hour work week. The old contract expired last Dec. 31.

Operating engineers handle power, refrigeration, pasteurization and other machinery in the milk plants.

The Mature Parent

Don't Overwhelm Hurt Child With Own Feeling of Anxiety

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Tommy is a five-year-old boy who, up to a month ago, enjoyed his friends. Then he came home crying one afternoon after a fist fight with one of them.

Since then, he will not venture into the yard without his older sister. If a former playmate is invited into the house, Tommy bursts into tears and runs to take refuge in a locked bathroom.

"How can I help him?" asks his mother. "Will he outgrow this fear?"

If Tommy got a splinter in his finger, we'd dislodge it with a sterilized needle. Then showing him the tiny barb, we would say, "See how small and really harmless it is."

If a fear besets him, we dislodge it with our own uninfected point of view. Gently, without anxiety, we lead him to tell us about his fear, until under our guidance, he can begin to see it leaving him like the splinter.

But if we become anxious, we burden him with our sense of helplessness as well as his own. We must see the fear as small and harmless if we want him to see it that way, too.

And now I want to ask Tommy's mother how she received him the day he came home from his fist fight.

He trusts her judgment on what happens to him implicitly. So that if by her words or her attitude, she implied he was a victim of catastrophe, he would believe it.

What he himself knew and felt about his fist fight would be lost in what his mother thought and felt about it. He would emerge from her frightened comfort, convinced that he was a helpless little boy.

The fact probably is that Tommy did not behave in his fight like a helpless little boy at all. I think he sounds like a brave one.

That's what we want to help him remember as we lead him to tell us about his fight. We're seeking for his feelings and thoughts about the fight this time, not overwhelming him with ours.

As he begins to tell us about them, we sympathize with the anger and fear he felt toward his aggressor while at the same time we applaud his resistance to his aggressor, until Tommy begins to think he behaved like a pretty fine fellow. And power is transferred from aggression back to the person who has resisted it.

That's where it belongs.

I think that Tommy has had the truth of his own courage stolen from him somehow. Five-year-old boys who engage in fist fights are not helpless little boys, even if they do come home crying. How did this fact get lost?

Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST

(Author of Etiquette, Children Are People, etc.)

ON LEAVING A PARTY

Today's first letter tells me: "A friend of mine has told me you have said it is not necessary when leaving a party to look for the hostess to say good-night and thank her for a pleasant evening. I can't believe that you, a teacher of good manners, would give such advice. To leave a party without a word to the hostess is, in my opinion, the height of rudeness. Will you please clarify this for me?"

Under ordinary circumstances, it would be unthinkable to leave a party without saying good-bye and thank you to the hostess. The "walk out without saying good-bye" rule applies only to a very large formal reception at which one stays only a very short time. In this case it is more courteous to go away unnoticed than to break into a queue of arriving guests ot say good-bye.

Crumbing The Table

Dear Mrs. Post: What is the procedure for crumbing the table during the meal? Must a special brush be used or will something else do just as well?

Answer: Before the dessert course is to be served, the table is "cleared." This means that unused flat silver, bread and butter plates and pepper pots and salt cellars, etc., are all removed. A napkin folded to convenient size—about six inches and doubled over again — is used to brush crumbs from the table onto the serving tray held close beneath the table's edge. If you happen to have a crumbing brush or a silver "crumb scraper" it would, of course, be proper to use it, but in smartest modern houses the folded napkin is usual.

When Not Wearing Bridal Dress

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper for a bride who is not wearing bridal white to have a flower girl? The bride in question is going to wear a long dress in a pastel color, and a hat. If one is permissible, how should the flower girl be dressed?

Answer: A flower girl would be entirely permissible. She would wear simple clothes in the same color as that worn by the bride.

Reports Forecast Small Potato Crop in State

Albany, March 27 (AP)—Reports to the State Agriculture Department indicate there will be greater grain and bean production and a smaller potato crop in New York this year.

The department's crop-reporting service said yesterday a survey among upstate farmers disclosed intentions to plant only 44,000 acres of potatoes in 1954. They planted 51,000 last year.

Long Island farmers reported they planned to increase potato acreage from 55,000 to 56,000.

Other acreages planned: (Last year's acreage in parentheses):

Corn, 702,000 (669,000); oats, 795,000 (716,000); barley 78,000 (66,000); dry beans, 135,000 (135,000); soy beans, 9,000 (7,000); hay, 3,256,000 (3,289,000).

Culinary School Graduate: Sylvia Kenik

By MARIANNE DAVIS, Freeman Society Editor

"Nothing new has been invented in 2,000 years in foods, everything's basic," says Mrs. Sam Kenik of 72 North Front street, quoting her teacher, Monsieur Marcel Picard of the Culinary School of New York. Proud possessor of a New York State licence which states that she is an expert in pastry, cake baking and petits fours, Mrs. Kanik has turned a casual interest in fine foods and fancy preparations into a workable hobby.

She adds, "Sponge cake was made under the trees by Jewish women who stripped the bark from grape vines to beat the eggs. Then the heat of the sun made it rise. Sponge cake was originated before the coming of Christ. Monsieur Picard insists that all cooking is variation on a theme, like music or art. You're really on your own after you've learned the fundamentals."

"What you are and what you see determines how you present food. You have to have courage, too. Why, I'm only now cooking with wines. I made a guinea hen with wine last weekend that even my gourmet brother enjoyed."

Her course at the New York school actually started with pastries, according to the best Escoffier tradition. "The real French pastries—the petits fours—are miniatures, and are made in four shapes — operas, vanilla butter cream with vanilla icing; lozenges, coffee butter cream with coffee icing; rosettes, rum butter cream with pink icing; and pyramids, chocolate butter cream with chocolate icing. You can tell just by the shape and color what's inside, no guesswork when they're made correctly."

Preparation 'Takes Real Love'

Sylvia Kenik insists that this is no quick-method of food preparation, but "it takes real love" to search out the tiny imported cutters and tins, and practice hours to perfect the miniature petits fours.

Her pursuit of this hobby led her to fragrant spice shops in the Greenwich Village and Yorkville sections of New York, to pick up ingredients in tiny jars, or thimble-size pastry cutters which graduate to larger sizes for patty shells.

"Picard says 'You must put quality in it if you want quality to come out,' it means many trips even in the rain to find the right vegetable colorings and fillings for pastries."

A trick to make a patty shell is to use a small cutter then a larger one, with the small piece becoming the top of the tart. Vol-au-vent, a pastry cup which is rolled six times, can be used for roughly 1,000 different things, with meat or sweet fillings of infinite variation.

Spicy Cheese Straws Favorite

A favorite of Sylvia's is cheese straws. The dough is brushed with egg then dipped in a paprika, spice and caraway cheese mixture, cut into thin strips and twisted, pressed on a pan and baked. Reorders were the result of her first attempt to serve this palate-tempting appetizer.

Going back into the history part of the course, Sylvia mentioned a variation of the eclair, which really means "lightning" and should be short and very shiny. Pain de la Mecke, or bread of Mecca, is an eclair mixture squeezed out of a pastry cone then twisted into shape, sold in the Moslem countries and adopted by sharp-eyed and palate-wise Frenchmen.

"My teacher wrote his thesis on the use of the paper cone in pastry work. It took me three months to learn how to make the proper size cone and how to squeeze out the icings for writing and decorating. Temperature is important to keep everything soft enough."

Pulled Sugar Highest Art

"Of course my biggest thrill is working with pulled sugar. This is considered the highest form of culinary art because," and she quoted August Forster's impressive book, "'it requires special training and a high degree of cleanliness, proper tools and special equipment.'"

It should be noted here that Sylvia works entirely in her own kitchen, with a Kalamazoo range, heat lamps to serve for candy warmers, where she is experimenting with various pieces of marble as a working surface for the sugar mixture. "The sugar must be 250 degrees when it is shaped, and I must keep calm, because any blood rushing to the fingers affects the temperature and can ruin the piece."

Pulled and poured sugar forms are evident in the roses pouring out of the cornucopia, spilling over the top of the cooked sugar basket, in the photograph. "Much like ceramics" is her description of working in this advanced culinary medium, with sprays of roses, violets, calla lilies and daffodils that are true in texture and color.

"The first time I finally saw a rose shaping out of the pieces that Picard gave me to work with, I got so excited I ran the length of the room to show him!"

Studies Flowers as Models

"Working with the sugar has opened my eyes to nature. I took a rose apart to see what it really looks like, and I found that it never varies—three petals in each layer, whether it is a bud or full-blown. I had to examine the daffodil colors to reproduce them in the sugar. Do you know what a tulip leaf looks like?" And to the negative reply Sylvia gave a detailed description gleaned from her new interest in flowers as models for her work.

She took down two vases of "Venetian glass" which were among her first attempts in the pulled sugar. One, shown in the photograph, was filled with a bouquet of lilies of the valley. They're awfully difficult—each flower has to be warmed over a flame to make it stick to the stem. Sometimes I wind up by burning my fingers or melting the flower."

Sylvia insists that she isn't a patient person, but that the pleasure and peace of mind she gets from her hobby are all-important. But shaping the sugar on the marble top, or pouring it into molds at just the proper temperature, then seeing a piece break at a crucial moment, would tax the most patient person. "Oh, it happens often. But if I don't practice many times, I don't get the result I want."

Presentation Should Be Attractive

She was in the midst of putting the final touches on a cake for a Bar Mitzvah celebration when interviewed. This is just one part of the preparations she makes for parties. She once built an entire party theme around a gum-paste lighthouse which actually was workable, surrounding it with boat-shaped hors d'ouvres - tart shells filled with liver pate, fish and meat salad, with wafer paper sails. This type of shell can be alternated with cookie dough filled with fruit or whipped cream for another type of party.

"Arrangement is so important in the presentation of food in an attractive manner. Sockels, or platforms made of rice or bread pastes, allow you to serve food attractively, because it can be placed in layers. It's more time consuming and costly but it's worth it."

Sylvia was enthusiastic over her discovery that a small egg colored red with a "strawberry leaf" on top doubled for a crab apple, and gave her an idea for serving deviled eggs as tulips and roses as well. "You have to be an artist to get the colors right by careful mixing and blending."

Carpenters, Electricians and Architects Help

Sylvia says that a person also needs to be an architect and an electrician, to build a lighthouse and the gingerbread-type house she has made in her hobby. "I learned the value of friends like the woman at school who made a leaf mold for me to use in my flower-making. And I learned that I needed a lumberyard, to supply wood for the bottom of my baskets, like the one made out of twisted dough. And carpenters to drill holes in cake platforms so that I can attach the pedestals, tinsmiths to make metal pieces to be inserted in the platforms around which I weave the sugar, replacing the tin with sugar sticks when the cake is dry. And don't forget that the lighthouse was electrically wired to illuminate with a moving light."

As soon as Sylvia finishes her latest party work, she intends to find a way to make a real waterfall on a cake without melting the sugar.

"Well, I have a brother who's an electrical expert . . ." and Sylvia's next triple-tiered special-order cake will undoubtedly have a unique touch—a real waterfall pouring down over the delicate pulled sugar work.

The folding fan is said to have been invented in Japan about 700 A. D.

Business and Civic Groups Protest Wagner Tax Plan

New York, March 27 (AP)—Business and civic groups have protested against Mayor Robert F. Wagner's plan to extend the city's three per cent sales tax to a number of commercial services.

G. Keith Funston, head of the New York Stock Exchange, said yesterday in a statement that the tax, if applied to the securities business, would "discriminate further against an industry already heavily penalized for bringing business to New York city."

Harold Riegelman, counsel to the Citzens Budget Commission, a private civic group, said such a tax will force some businesses to close and drive others out of the city. Riegelman, a Republican, opposed Wagner in the mayoral race.

Cites Construction Slash

Thomas Jefferson Miley, executive vice president of the Commerce and Industry Assn., the city's Chamber of Commerce, said the tax would hit the construction industry alone to the extent of 18 million dollars.

Some business leaders estimated extension of the tax would add 50 million dollars a year to the cost of doing business in the city.

Unofficial City Hall estimates had placed the additional tax yield at 15 million dollars a year. It was reported that city officials hope to put the tax extension into effect June 1, a month before the end of the fiscal year.

Wagner proposed extending the tax to pay for school and other municipal wage increases, as well as for providing better hospital and health facilities.

Realtors Opposed

Clinton W. Blume, president of the Real Estate Board of New York, said the board would fight the proposal "to the utmost."

B. Caldwell Davis, executive vice president of the State Chamber of Commerce, said many miscellaneous service businesses, "which lack any substantial capital investment, would be under pressure to locate out of New York."

The Fifth Avenue Assn. also expressed opposition to the tax extension to 30 new business categories—including certain banking and business operations, auto repairs, laundry and linen supply, real estate management, radio and television repairs, and garage and building services.

Stockpile Step-up Seen Helping in Mining Industry

Washington, March 27 (AP)—A stepped-up, "long-term" stockpiling program, approved by President Eisenhower as insurance against bomb damage to American metals producers, was hailed by western senators today as a tonic for the ailing mining industry.

The White House yesterday ordered a "review" of present stockpile goals, and estimated that the resulting increases would mean additional government buying of 35 to 40 metals, primarily from domestic producers.

The stockpiling revision, a White House statement said, should be based on the considerations that foreign sources may be cut off in wartime and that domestic production may be interrupted by enemy attack.

Mining States Pleased

Senators from the mining states acclaimed the order as "a very wise move" and as at least an "effective stopgap" measure to tide the lead, zinc and other mining industries over the present period of falling demand and prices.

But Sen. Bennett (R.-Utah) described the action as only a temporary program which should be considered the forerunner of a comprehensive attack on the problems of the mining and minerals industry.

Sens. Dworshak (R.-Idaho) and Watkins (R.-Utah) expressed similar views.

Mobilization Director Arthur S. Flemming, who will undertake the stockpile review, said in an interview sums of "considerable magnitude" will be spent over an extended period in the new program. He did not indicate which metals would probably be purchased, but other officials stated that lead and zinc definitely would be on the list.

New Paltz High

Foreign Students

The citizenship education classes at New Paltz High School were visited Friday, March 19, by two foreign students who are studying at Teachers College. Miss Irene Morsy of France and Rudolph Lauer of Germany spoke briefly on their home countries and gave the pupils an idea of their impressions of the United States. A question and answer period followed.

Dodd Is Honored

James F. Dodd, junior at New Paltz High School, has been selected by the high school faculty to represent the school this summer at the Central Hudson Summer Indoctrination Course. The Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation gives this opportunity each year to high school juniors to compete for a four-year engineering scholarship at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. The course lasts for three weeks during the summer and consists of indoctrination training in all phases of the company's business, with suitable examinations at frequent intervals to make sure that the student is absorbing the training and has aptitude for the work. At the conclusion of this course, the student must agree to present an essay covering the information gained during the course.

In order to be eligible for the course a boy must have taken at least one year general science, two years of mathematic, and have either had or agree to take in his senior year, one year of physics, and have a satisfactory scholastic average in all subjects taken in high school. The selection from the list of eligible boys is then made upon the basis of their ratings in personality, leadership, and ability to get along with others.

Jimmy was very surprised when he was informed of the honor which had been bestowed upon him. This 17 year old varsity basketball star is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Dodd, Plains Road, New York.

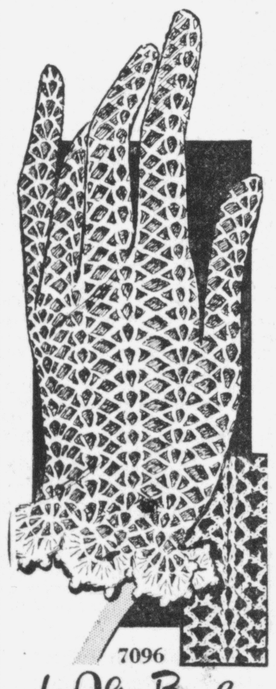

Adult Education

The last meeting of the adult education course, World Affairs Are Your Affairs will be held Wednesday, March 31, at the New Paltz High School library. The topic for the evening will be England. A film, Picture of Britain, will be shown. All adult members are urged to return their library books at this meeting.

Record for Book

Toledo, Ohio (AP) — Librarians at the Toledo Public Library estimated the fine on a book which turned up the other day at $263—but they said they would forget about it since there was no record who took the book out back in 1882. The book, "David Crockett: His Life and Adventures," was retrieved from among the books left by the late Antone Zeitler, who died several months ago. A note in the back said a 3-cents-a-day fine would be levied if kept more than two weeks. "David Crockett" cost $1 new.

Three-City Job

Woodbridge, Conn. (AP) — A wrecked automobile was found at the foot of 250-foot cliff. Police from Woodbridge, New Haven and Hamden agreed that someone had pushed the car over the cliff. But an expert had to tell them whose job it was to investigate because the boundary lines of the three communities converge at the cliff bottom. He ruled that the car rested on Woodbridge land.

Methodist Youth Plan Spring Rally April 3 in Beacon

Representatives of youth groups from all Methodist Churches in the New York Conference will attend an annual spring rally and institute reunion April 3 at Trinity Methodist Church in Beacon.

Deans and members of the staffs for the institutes to be held next summer at the Oakwood School in Poughkeepsie will be introduced and institute dates for various ages announced.

Dr. Harold Richardson, a member of the faculty at the Washington Irving High School in Tarrytown, will be the principal speaker.

The morning session will include registration and the institute discussion. At 1 p. m. a recreation hour has been planned followed by a motion picture on Hawaii. A worship service at 2:30 p. m. will precede Dr. Richardson's address.

The rally is being planned by Miss Geneva Smith, conference president of the Methodist Youth Fellowship; the Rev. Ralph E. Spoor, director of youth work for the Conference and pastor of the Ellenville Methodist Church; and the Rev. Howard D. McGrath of Poughkeepsie, executive secretary of the Conference Board of Education.

Engineers, Milk Companies Settle

New York, March 27 (AP)—Some 200 operating engineers and 30 milk companies in the metropolitan area have reached a settlement providing for wage boosts and fringe benefits.

Agreement on a two-year contract, announced yesterday by Martin A. Wersing, of the New York State Board of Mediation, calls for union membership approval.

The workers are members of the AFL International Union of Operating Engineers employed by milk companies serving the metropolitan area, parts of northern New Jersey, Long Island and Westchester county.

Wersing said the new pact provides for a $7 weekly pay increase the first year and $4 a week the second year. Also agreed to, he said, was three weeks vacation after five years and creation of an employer-supported pension plan.

The mediator said current pay is $102 for a five-day, 40-hour work week. The old contract expired last Dec. 31.

Operating engineers handle power, refrigeration, pasteurization and other machinery in the milk plants.

The Mature Parent

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Tommy is a five-year-old boy who, up to a month ago, enjoyed his friends. Then he came home crying one afternoon after a fist fight with one of them.

Since then, he will not venture into the yard without his older sister. If a former playmate is invited into the house, Tommy bursts into tears and runs to take refuge in a locked bathroom.

"How can I help him?" asks his mother. "Will he outgrow this fear?"

If Tommy got a splinter in his finger, we'd dislodge it with a sterilized needle. Then showing him the tiny barb, we would say, "See how small and really harmless it is."

If a fear besets him, we dislodge it with our own uninfected point of view. Gently, without anxiety, we lead him to tell us about his fear, until under our guidance, he can begin to see it leaving him like the splinter.

But if we become anxious, we burden him with our sense of helplessness as well as his own. We must see the fear as small and harmless if we want him to see it that way, too.

And now I want to ask Tommy's mother how she received him the day he came home from his fist fight.

He trusts her judgment on what happens to him implicitly. So that if by her words or her attitude, she implied he was a victim of catastrophe, he would believe it.

What he himself knew and felt about his fist fight would be lost in what his mother thought and felt about it. He would emerge from her frightened comfort, convinced that he was a helpless little boy.

The fact probably is that Tommy did not behave in his fight like a helpless little boy at all. I think he sounds like a brave one.

That's what we want to help him remember as we lead him to tell us about his fight. We're seeking for his feelings and thoughts about the fight this time, not overwhelming him with ours.

As he begins to tell us about them, we sympathize with the anger and fear he felt toward his aggressor while at the same time we applaud his resistance to his aggressor, until Tommy begins to think he behaved like a pretty fine fellow. And power is transferred from aggression back to the person who has resisted it.

That's where it belongs.

I think that Tommy has had the truth of his own courage stolen from him somehow. Five-year-old boys who engage in fist fights are not helpless little boys, even if they do come home crying. How did this fact get lost?

ON LEAVING A PARTY

Today's first letter tells me: "A friend of mine has told me you have said it is not necessary when leaving a party to look for the hostess to say good-night and thank her for a pleasant evening. I can't believe that you, a teacher of good manners, would give such advice. To leave a party without a word to the hostess is, in my opinion, the height of rudeness. Will you please clarify this for me?"

Under ordinary circumstances, it would be unthinkable to leave a party without saying good-bye and thank you to the hostess. The "walk out without saying good-bye" rule applies only to a very large formal reception at which one stays only a very short time. In this case it is more courteous to go away unnoticed than to break into a queue of arriving guests ot say good-bye.

Crumbing The Table

Dear Mrs. Post: What is the procedure for crumbing the table during the meal? Must a special brush be used or will something else do just as well?

Answer: Before the dessert course is to be served, the table is "cleared." This means that unused flat silver, bread and butter plates and pepper pots and salt cellars, etc., are all removed. A napkin folded to convenient size—about six inches and doubled over again — is used to brush crumbs from the table onto the serving tray held close beneath the table's edge. If you happen to have a crumbing brush or a silver "crumb scraper" it would, of course, be proper to use it, but in smartest modern houses the folded napkin is usual.

When Not Wearing Bridal Dress

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper for a bride who is not wearing bridal white to have a flower girl? The bride in question is going to wear a long dress in a pastel color, and a hat. If one is permissible, how should the flower girl be dressed?

Answer: A flower girl would be entirely permissible. She would wear simple clothes in the same color as that worn by the bride.

Reports Forecast Small Potato Crop in State

Albany, March 27 (AP)—Reports to the State Agriculture Department indicate there will be greater grain and bean production and a smaller potato crop in New York this year.

The department's crop-reporting service said yesterday a survey among upstate farmers disclosed intentions to plant only 44,000 acres of potatoes in 1954. They planted 51,000 last year.

Long Island farmers reported they planned to increase potato acreage from 55,000 to 56,000.

Other acreages planned: (Last year's acreage in parentheses):

Corn, 702,000 (669,000); oats, 795,000 (716,000); barley 78,000 (66,000); dry beans, 135,000 (135,000); soy beans, 9,000 (7,000); hay, 3,256,000 (3,289,000).

Culinary School Graduate: Sylvia Kenik

By MARIANNE DAVIS, Freeman Society Editor

"Nothing new has been invented in 2,000 years in foods, everything's basic," says Mrs. Sam Kenik of 72 North Front street, quoting her teacher, Monsieur Marcel Picard of the Culinary School of New York. Proud possessor of a New York State licence which states that she is an expert in pastry, cake baking and petits fours, Mrs. Kanik has turned a casual interest in fine foods and fancy preparations into a workable hobby.

She adds, "Sponge cake was made under the trees by Jewish women who stripped the bark from grape vines to beat the eggs. Then the heat of the sun made it rise. Sponge cake was originated before the coming of Christ. Monsieur Picard insists that all cooking is variation on a theme, like music or art. You're really on your own after you've learned the fundamentals."

"What you are and what you see determines how you present food. You have to have courage, too. Why, I'm only now cooking with wines. I made a guinea hen with wine last weekend that even my gourmet brother enjoyed."

Her course at the New York school actually started with pastries, according to the best Escoffier tradition. "The real French pastries—the petits fours —are miniatures, and are made in four shapes — operas, vanilla butter cream with vanilla icing; lozenges, coffee butter cream with coffee icing; rosettes, rum butter cream with pink icing; and pyramids, chocolate butter cream with chocolate icing. You can tell just by the shape and color what's inside, no guesswork when they're made correctly."

Preparation 'Takes Real Love'

Sylvia Kenik insists that this is no quick-method of food preparation, but "it takes real love" to search out the tiny imported cutters and tins, and practice hours to perfect the miniature petits fours.

Her pursuit of this hobby led her to fragrant spice shops in the Greenwich Village and Yorkville sections of New York, to pick up ingredients in tiny jars, or thimble-size pastry cutters which graduate to larger sizes for patty shells.

"Picard says 'You must put quality in it if you want quality to come out,' it means many trips even in the rain to find the right vegetable colorings and fillings for pastries."

A trick to make a patty shell is to use a small cutter then a larger one, with the small piece becoming the top of the tart. Vol-au-vent, a pastry cup which is rolled six times, can be used for roughly 1,000 different things, with meat or sweet fillings of infinite variation.

Spicy Cheese Straws Favorite

A favorite of Sylvia's is cheese straws. The dough is brushed with egg then dipped in a paprika, spice and caraway cheese mixture, cut into thin strips and twisted, pressed on a pan and baked. Reorders were the result of her first attempt to serve this palate-tempting appetizer.

Going back into the history part of the course, Sylvia mentioned a variation of the eclair, which really means "lightning" and should be short and very shiny. Pain de la Mecke, or bread of Mecca, is an eclair mixture squeezed out of a pastry cone then twisted into shape, sold in the Moslem countries and adopted by sharp-eyed and palate-wise Frenchmen.

"My teacher wrote his thesis on the use of the paper cone in pastry work. It took me three months to learn how to make the proper size cone and how to squeeze out the icings for writing and decorating. Temperature is important to keep everything soft enough."

Pulled Sugar Highest Art

"Of course my biggest thrill is working with pulled sugar. This is considered the highest form of culinary art because," and she quoted August Forster's impressive book, "'it requires special training and a high degree of cleanliness, proper tools and special equipment.'"

It should be noted here that Sylvia works entirely in her own kitchen, with a Kalamazoo range, heat lamps to serve for candy warmers, where she is experimenting with various pieces of marble as a working surface for the sugar mixture. "The sugar must be 250 degrees when it is shaped, and I must keep calm, because any blood rushing to the fingers affects the temperature and can ruin the piece."

Pulled and poured sugar forms are evident in the roses pouring out of the cornucopia, spilling over the top of the cooked sugar basket, in the photograph. "Much like ceramics" is her description of working in this advanced culinary medium, with sprays of roses, violets, calla lilies and daffodils that are true in texture and color.

"The first time I finally saw a rose shaping out of the pieces that Picard gave me to work with, I got so excited I ran the length of the room to show him!"

Studies Flowers as Models

"Working with the sugar has opened my eyes to nature. I took a rose apart to see what it really looks like, and I found that it never varies—three petals in each layer, whether it is a bud or full-blown. I had to examine the daffodil colors to reproduce them in the sugar. Do you know what a tulip leaf looks like?" And to the negative reply Sylvia gave a detailed description gleaned from her new interest in flowers as models for her work.

She took down two vases of "Venetian glass" which were among her first attempts in the pulled sugar. One, shown in the photograph, was filled with a bouquet of lilies of the valley. They're awfully difficult—each flower has to be warmed over a flame to make it stick to the stem. Sometimes I wind up by burning my fingers or melting the flower."

Sylvia insists that she isn't a patient person, but that the pleasure and peace of mind she gets from her hobby are all-important. But shaping the sugar on the marble top, or pouring it into molds at just the proper temperature, then seeing a piece break at a crucial moment, would tax the most patient person. "Oh, it happens often. But if I don't practice many times, I don't get the result I want."

Presentation Should Be Attractive

She was in the midst of putting the final touches on a cake for a Bar Mitzvah celebration when interviewed. This is just one part of the preparations she makes for parties. She once built an entire party theme around a gum-paste lighthouse which actually was workable, surrounding it with boat-shaped hors d'ouvres - tart shells filled with liver pate, fish and meat salad, with wafer paper sails. This type of shell can be alternated with cookie dough filled with fruit or whipped cream for another type of party.

"Arrangement is so important in the presentation of food in an attractive manner. Sockels, or platforms made of rice or bread pastes, allow you to serve food attractively, because it can be placed in layers. It's more time consuming and costly but it's worth it."

Sylvia was enthusiastic over her discovery that a small egg colored red with a "strawberry leaf" on top doubled for a crab apple, and gave her an idea for serving deviled eggs as tulips and roses as well. "You have to be an artist to get the colors right by careful mixing and blending."

Carpenters, Electricians and Architects Help

Sylvia says that a person also needs to be an architect and an electrician, to build a lighthouse and the gingerbread-type house she has made in her hobby. "I learned the value of friends like the woman at school who made a leaf mold for me to use in my flower-making. And I learned that I needed a lumberyard, to supply wood for the bottom of my baskets, like the one made out of twisted dough. And carpenters to drill holes in cake platforms so that I can attach the pedestals, tinsmiths to make metal pieces to be inserted in the platforms around which I weave the sugar, replacing the tin with sugar sticks when the cake is dry. And don't forget that the lighthouse was electrically wired to illuminate with a moving light."

As soon as Sylvia finishes her latest party work, she intends to find a way to make a real waterfall on a cake without melting the sugar.

"Well, I have a brother who's an electrical expert . . ." and Sylvia's next triple-tiered special-order cake will undoubtedly have a unique touch—a real waterfall pouring down over the delicate pulled sugar work.

The folding fan is said to have been invented in Japan about 700 A. D.

Business and Civic Groups Protest Wagner Tax Plan

New York, March 27 (AP)—Business and civic groups have protested against Mayor Robert F. Wagner's plan to extend the city's three per cent sales tax to a number of commercial services.

G. Keith Funston, head of the New York Stock Exchange, said yesterday in a statement that the tax, if applied to the securities business, would "discriminate further against an industry already heavily penalized for bringing business to New York city."

Harold Riegelman, counsel to the Citzens Budget Commission, a private civic group, said such a tax will force some businesses to close and drive others out of the city. Riegelman, a Republican, opposed Wagner in the mayoral race.

Cites Construction Slash

Thomas Jefferson Miley, executive vice president of the Commerce and Industry Assn., the city's Chamber of Commerce, said the tax would hit the construction industry alone to the extent of 18 million dollars.

Some business leaders estimated extension of the tax would add 50 million dollars a year to the cost of doing business in the city.

Unofficial City Hall estimates had placed the additional tax yield at 15 million dollars a year. It was reported that city officials hope to put the tax extension into effect June 1, a month before the end of the fiscal year.

Wagner proposed extending the tax to pay for school and other municipal wage increases, as well as for providing better hospital and health facilities.

Realtors Opposed

Clinton W. Blume, president of the Real Estate Board of New York, said the board would fight the proposal "to the utmost."

B. Caldwell Davis, executive vice president of the State Chamber of Commerce, said many miscellaneous service businesses, "which lack any substantial capital investment, would be under pressure to locate out of New York."

The Fifth Avenue Assn. also expressed opposition to the tax extension to 30 new business categories—including certain banking and business operations, auto repairs, laundry and linen supply, real estate management, radio and television repairs, and garage and building services.

Stockpile Step-up Seen Helping in Mining Industry

Washington, March 27 (AP)—A stepped-up, "long-term" stockpiling program, approved by President Eisenhower as insurance against bomb damage to American metals producers, was hailed by western senators today as a tonic for the ailing mining industry.

The White House yesterday ordered a "review" of present stockpile goals, and estimated that the resulting increases would mean additional government buying of 35 to 40 metals, primarily from domestic producers.

The stockpiling revision, a White House statement said, should be based on the considerations that foreign sources may be cut off in wartime and that domestic production may be interrupted by enemy attack.

Mining States Pleased

Senators from the mining states acclaimed the order as "a very wise move" and as at least an "effective stopgap" measure to tide the lead, zinc and other mining industries over the present period of falling demand and prices.

But Sen. Bennett (R.-Utah) described the action as only a temporary program which should be considered the forerunner of a comprehensive attack on the problems of the mining and minerals industry.

Sens. Dworshak (R.-Idaho) and Watkins (R.-Utah) expressed similar views.

Mobilization Director Arthur S. Flemming, who will undertake the stockpile review, said in an interview sums of "considerable magnitude" will be spent over an extended period in the new program. He did not indicate which metals would probably be purchased, but other officials stated that lead and zinc definitely would be on the list.

Modena

Modena, March 27 — Regular worship services to be conducted Sunday at the Modena and Clintondale Methodist Churches will have as their topic Christian Stewardship. Guest soloist will be Ernest Johnson of Boston, Mass. Mr. Johnson has been a student of Roland Hayes, and is now devoting his life to the interpretation of his Christian Faith, through religious music. Mr. Johnson needs no introduction to Newburgh and vicinity, as he has made favorable appearances previously.

Next Tuesday night, March 30, members of the Clintondale Youth Fellowship will attend a concert at the Friends Meeting House at Poughkeepsie, when the Earlham College Concert Choir will present a program.

Members of the WSCS of the Modena Methodist Church will meet Thursday, April 1, at 2:30 p. m., at the home of Mrs. Myron L. Shultis.

Local students of the Wallkill Central School will participate in the Ulster County Music Festival to be presented Wednesday night, April 7, at the Highland High School. Local young people are members of the Boys Glee Club and the mixed chorus.

Eleanor Gruman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Gruman of the Clintondale road, is among those taking part in the Ulster county sectional choir, comprised of 125 voices, and whose recital date will be announced.

A birthday party was given Edith Margaret Wager, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Wager, at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ransel J. Wager Saturday. Schoolmates and relatives enjoying the party were Mrs. Ruth Sebeth and daughter Barbara of Poughkepsie, Kathleen I. Wager, Shirley and Katherine Wager, Carolyn Pink, Lois Coy, Ellen and Mary Tozzi, Patty Pagentine, Patty Sutton, Diane and Janice Black, Jay Marquard, Larre Smith, Si Williams, Bobby Daunt, Barbara Molson, Mrs. Ransel Wager and Mrs. Harold Wager.

Mrs. Freston Paltridge spent the early part of last week with her daughter, Mrs. Ernest Keeping and family at Gardiner.

Mrs. Burton Ward received the second award in the ginger bread baking contest, conducted by the Plattekill Grange members recently. Judges were Mrs. William Decker and Mrs. Frank Black of Modena.

A delegation of local members of the Methodist Adult Fellowship of the Newburgh Dist. attended a rally held at the New Paltz Methodist Church Sunday night.

Miss Glennie M. Wager has returned from a visit with Mrs. Frank E. Crawford at Wappingers Falls and on her return was accompanied by Mrs. Crawford, Mrs. Frank Crawford, Sr., of Poughkeepsie and Miss Stella Sherwood of Newburgh. While at Wappingers, Mrs. Crawford and Miss Wager attended a Youth Rally at the Church of the Assembly in Poughkeepsie.

Miss Sharon R. Croswell of Kingston, whose poem The Stranger has been accepted by the Hope College, Holland, Mich., campus literary magazine Opus 54, is a niece of Mrs. Myron Shultis of this place.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Roberta Conklin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Conklin of New Paltz, to Edward L. Saunders, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Saunders of Matutuck, L. I. The Conklin family were former residents of Modena.

Mt. Tremper

Mt. Tremper, March 27—Mrs. Maude Hoyt and her niece, Miss Thelma LeBarr, recently returned to their home on the Wittenberg road after spending the winter months in Kingston.

Carl Larish, manager of the White Mills Company in Phoenicia, is a patient at Benedictine Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. John Molloy became the parents of a daughter born at Benedictine Hospital recently. The Molloys are the niece and nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Large, owners of the Holiday Inn. They recently moved to this vicinity from New York. Mr. Molloy is employed by the Kingston Trust Company.

A blood mobile unit was stationed at the Phoenicia Parish Hall Wednesday night to receive donations to the Town of Shandaken Blood Bank. Although several would-be donors were rejected for physical reasons, 24 pints were received. Mrs. Rae Gregg, RN, chairman of the blood bank, expressed pleasure at the cooperation of the townspeople.

The next regular meeting of the Community Association of Mt. Tremper and Mt. Pleasant, Inc. will take place in the former schoolhouse Thursday, April 1, at 8 p. m. Plans for the spring and summer will be discussed.

The Onteora P-TA will present an old-time Shirley Temple movie in the Onteora Central School auditorium Thursday, April 8, at 8 p. m. The film will be Dimples, co-starring Frank Morgan. Several cartoons also will be shown. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Edna Hoyt, Mrs. Charlotte Carle or Mrs. Marianne Umhey.

H-Bomb Complaints Mount

Tokyo, March 27 (AP)—Japanese reaction to American hydrogen bomb tests mounted anew today after two more fishing boats returned from the Marshall Island area showing radiation effects. The Japanese government officially informed the United States that the first boat to be affected, the "Lucky Dragon," was 40 miles outside the prescribed test danger zone when it was showered with atomic ash March 1. The two latest fishing boats showing radiation were quarantined. One had been operating some 780 miles from the Bikini test site and the other was about 200 miles away.

Home Bureau

Rug Meeting Set

The Ulster County Home Bureau will have a county-wide meeting March 31 on the Selection of Rugs. Patrick J. Holland of Kingston will be the speaker. The meeting will be held at the First Baptist Church hall in Kingston at 1:30 p. m. Anyone who is interested is urged to attend the meeting. Holland will discuss various fiber characteristics with resulting advantages for different kinds of rugs. Cultural background of the countries where certain fibers are grown will be mentioned. Advantages and disadvantages of the new synthetics and blends of fibers will be included. A question and answer period will follow Holland's talk.

Meeting Canceled

It was announced today that the meeting of the Ulster County Home Bureau Greater Executive Committee scheduled to be held April 21 has been canceled until later in the year. All former executive committee members are members of this group. Mrs. Arnold Van Lear of High Falls is chairman, Mrs. Francis Davenport of Stone Ridge, vice-chairman, and Mrs. David DuBois of New Paltz, secretary.

Directors to Meet

The Board of Directors of the Ulster County Farm and Home Bureau and 4-H Club Association will meet at 74 John street April 5 at 8 p. m. Richard Fricke, assistant state leader of County Agricultural Agents, will be guest.

Lamp Base Exhibit

There will be an exhibit of lamp bases and shades at the Ulster County Home Bureau office, 280 Wall street, until April 15. Since some of the units requested this lamp project a kit for various type bases and shades was borrowed from the college. Anyone interested in this project is urged to stop into the office and see them. The bases of the lamps are made from scraps of wood and other suitable materials. The shades are made of plastic or paper covered with decorative paper.

Anyone interested in Cub Scouting is invited to attend and new members will be welcomed, it was said.

Burns in Auto

New York, March 27 (AP)—A youth identified as James McKinley, 19, Knickerbocker avenue, Ridgewood, Queens, burned to death today in an automobile accident on the Belt Parkway in Brooklyn. He was a passenger in an automobile which struck one of two cars which had been involved in a minor collision a short time previously.

MOVES UP—Chaplain Patrick James Ryan has been nominated to be Chief of Chaplains of the Army with the rank of major general. In the Army 27 years, he saw action in the Mediterranean area during World War II. General Ryan will succeed Maj.-Gen. Ivan L. Bennett, retiring in April.

To Protect Fish

Albany, March 27 (AP)—If you're a "frog man," with an underwater breathing device, you'd better take care whose fish you mingle with. Gov. Dewey signed a bill today giving the town boards power to regulate the use of such devices. It is claimed swimmers looking like Martians had driven salt water fish away from their feeding grounds.

Budget Head to Resign

Washington, March 27 (AP)—The White House today announced that Joseph M. Dodge is resigning April 15 as director of the budget to return to private business. Dodge will resume the post of board chairman of the Detroit Bank in Detroit. He has been on leave from that job. He has been director of the budget since the Eisenhower administration took over in January, 1953.

Knoxville, Tenn. (AP)—When an ice cream store was broken into, the burglar remembered to ring up "no sale," before taking $25 form the cash register.

Arrested on Warrant

Sam Zwirn, 32, who gave his address as 29 Miller's Lane, was arrested in Kingston Friday by Deputy Sheriff Chester Wolven on a bench warrant issued by County Judge John M. Cashin on the basis of a sealed indictment charging grand larceny, second degree. Zwirn listed his occupation as a diamond cutter but said he was unemployed when he was booked at the Ulster county jail where he will be held until bail is set or the case disposed of in court. Details of the charge will not be known until the sealed indictment is opened in court.

Schine 'Good Soldier'

Augusta, Ga., March 27 (AP)—G. David Schine, a central figure in a row involving Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and the army, graduated from military police school today and was labeled "a good soldier" by his commanding general. The heir to a hotel and theatre fortune was an investigator for McCarthy's Senate investigating subcommittee before entering the service last November. McCarthy and Roy M. Cohn, the subcommittee's chief counsel, have been accused in an army report of exerting pressure on the Pentagon in efforts to secure favored treatment for Schine.

In England there were at one time two dynamic tests for the truth. The first was the fire test in which a person was told to walk over nine red hot ploughshires . . . The second was the water test in which the person was bound hand and foot and thrown into a river. If the person escaped being drowned or burned in these tests, it was taken that God had helped him prove his truthfulness.

UNCLE SAM SHELLS OUT—Above Newschart shows U. S. federal spending for fiscal 1953 and estimates for 1954 and 1955. Air Force spending is expected to increase from $15 billion during fiscal 1953 to over $16 billion in 1955. During the same period, Army expenditures will be reduced from $16 billion to $10 billion. Navy spending will drop slightly. Based on present estimates, total federal spending will be reduced by about $8.4 billion from fiscal 1953 through 1955. Data compiled by the National Industrial Conference Board.

Laborer's Shack Is Destroyed by Fire

A laborer's shack on the Griener Farm at West Marlborough was destroyed by fire Friday night.

The Marlborough Fire Department was summoned about 10 p. m. and extinguished the blaze. According to Sheriff Cluett Schantz, who investigated, the shack was located near the farm's cold storage buildings but flames were blown away from the cooler by the wind. Had the wind been coming from the opposite direction, the sheriff indicated, there would have been danger of more serious loss.

The fire may have been started accidentally by the shack's occupants, who escaped uninjured and were not held by authorities, the sheriff's report indicated.

Other fire calls in the county included two grass fires reported to Mutual Aid Headquarters. At 12.57 p. m. Friday a grass fire on Route 32 brought out the Rosendale and Binnewater Departments, and at 1:46 p. m. the East Kingston department was dispatched to a grass fire on the Flatbush road near that hamlet.

Eisenhower . . .

pects the foreign trade program to be discussed at the regular Monday meeting of GOP legislative leaders with the President. Ferguson said he assumed a presidential message on the subject would be forthcoming soon thereafter.

Democrat Not Optimistic

While Ferguson said he remains confident committees will expedite their work so that the Senate can get some of the major proposals before it soon, Sen. Mansfield (D.-Mont.) said he can see few signs of progress.

"Out of the 196 or more proposals the President has made in one form or another, the Republicans will be lucky to get a dozen through Congress," he said.

Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell said in Gary, Ind., last night that because of the row between McCarthy and army officials he doubts "if the average citizen even recalls that the President has a program."

Floor Fight Looms

There were unconfirmed reports Eisenhower might make some public move on behalf of his public housing recommendations, which were roughly handled by the House Appropriations Committee. He recommended a four-year construction program of 140,000 units. The House group proposed to end the work after 35,000 units were built. Democrats threatened a floor fight for public housing next week.

Appropriations Committee Chairman Taber (R.-N. Y.) said in an interview, "the public housing program is a racket . . . it just hasn't worked out like it was supposed to."

However, last night the House Banking Committee gave final approval to other parts of the administration's overall housing program. Key provisions aim at a stepped up slum clearance program and at lower down payments and longer repayment periods on government insured loans for new or old houses.

McCarthy . . .

Names Issues

The GOP national chairman told an enthusiastic audience that the big campaign issues this year would be the economic health of the nation and the "never ending" battle with communism.

On the first count, Hall declared "the Eisenhower Administration program, now moving through Congress, is designed to keep us sound economically by building more industry, more jobs and a healthy agriculture."

Lauds Foreign Policy

On the second, he said:

"We have at long last developed a truly American foreign policy which meets the overseas Communist threat head-on and lays the responsibility where it belongs—in the laps of the Russians. Meanwhile at home we have both the willingness and the know-how for dealing with Communist inspired subversions."

All the Republicans have to do to win in 1954, Hall said, is "do what we did in 1952—get out the vote."

"If we do we will increase our membership in the Senate and House," he added. "We need them. Without stronger forces we can't carry out the President's program."

Royal Tan Cops

Aintree, England, March 27 (AP)—Royal Tan won the 108th running of the gruelling Grand National Steeplechase today, in a close finish with Tudor Line. Irish Lizard was third. Royal Tan, owned by Joe Griffin, ran second to Nickel Coin in the 1951 national. The winner was the second favorite at 8 to 1. Irish Lizard was 7-1.

Refund Is Excessive

Charlotte, N. C. (AP) — A man returned a dress to a Charlotte shop saying that his wife had bought it for her mother who didn't like it. He got $15. Later, the store checked the dress and found it was one of theirs. But it had not been paid.

Suspension Lifted

at which the boys and their parents or guardian were present. Each boy was asked if he desired to return to school and would abide by the conditions of probation. All agreed.

The resolution which was presented and which was read to each boy prior to his acceptance of the conditions of probation read:

"Whereas, seven boys were suspended from high school on March 19, 1954 by the school authorities, and

"Whereas the Building Committee has met with such school officials, and

"Whereas The Board of Education approves the action taken by such school officials.

"Now Therefore the Building, Committee moves that the suspension as imposed be lifted as of Monday, March 29, 1954, at the opening of school on that day as to each boy appearing before the board on Friday evening, March 26, 1954 alone or in company with a parent or parents, on condition that each boy be placed on probation, and on further condition that if any boy violates such a probation by his conduct in the future, that permanent suspension or expulsion may follow."

Present at the meeting Friday night was Corporation Counsel James Abernethy who appeared as counsel to the board of education; Assistant District Attorney John Schick, who had conducted an investigation into the matter as a routine action of the office and Seymour Werbalowsky who appeared in the capacity of attorney for the Harjes family.

No Other Business

No other business was taken up before the board other than action on reinstating the seven boys to class. Trustee Richard Kalish was not in attendance.

President of the board, Clarence Rowland, presided and said at the opening that the special meeting had been called to consider the suspension of the seven students and the resolution of the Building Committee was then presented by Chairman Herzog and unanimously approved.

During the hearing the board said it did not condone the acts and warned against a repitition.

Blast Concussion

Clifton avenue told The Freeman the blasts "shook the house—and that's something unusual. It never happened before."

She said it "sounded like an explosion right outside . . . I thought the Reds had come over and dropped bombs!" She explained her home was "up on the hill" and wondered if the concussion might have followed a vein of rock. She said she had never felt any concussion resulting from blasting in the quarry at Connelly south of the city.

Windows Cracked

A resident of Oak street who asked that her name not be used said she was "disgusted," that it wasn't the first time and "practically every window in her house has been cracked."

She said the ceilings were cracked and beginning to fall.

At the time of the first blast yesterday she was "taking a nap" and got quite a shock.

She too felt the explanation must be "a vein of rock. . . . The whole house vibrates." She also felt it wasn't "fair," that she had been living there for almost 40 years and had paid "good taxes."

J. H. Ford Injured

on Clinton avenue when he was in collision with a 1941 sedan operated by Mrs. Geary. Mrs. Geary was traveling east on Maiden Lane.

The Ford vehicle received damages to the left side, left front fender, door, glasses, rear fender, body, right door and chrome stripping and possible hidden damages, it was reported. It had to be towed away.

The Geary car was damaged in the front end and received possible hidden damages.

Wager, Shirley and Katherine Wager, Carolyn Pink, Lois Coy, Ellen and Mary Tozzi, Patty Pagentine, Patty Sutton, Diane and Janice Black, Jay Marquard, Larre Smith, Si Williams, Bobby Daunt, Barbara Molson, Mrs. Ransel Wager and Mrs. Harold Wager.

Mrs. Freston Paltridge spent the early part of last week with her daughter, Mrs. Ernest Keeping and family at Gardiner.

Mrs. Burton Ward received the second award in the ginger bread baking contest, conducted by the Plattekill Grange members recently. Judges were Mrs. William Decker and Mrs. Frank Black of Modena.

A delegation of local members of the Methodist Adult Fellowship of the Newburgh Dist. attended a rally held at the New Paltz Methodist Church Sunday night.

Miss Glennie M. Wager has returned from a visit with Mrs. Frank E. Crawford at Wappingers Falls and on her return was accompanied by Mrs. Crawford, Mrs. Frank Crawford, Sr., of Poughkeepsie and Miss Stella Sherwood of Newburgh. While at Wappingers, Mrs. Crawford and Miss Wager attended a Youth Rally at the Church of the Assembly in Poughkeepsie.

Miss Sharon R. Croswell of Kingston, whose poem The Stranger has been accepted by the Hope College, Holland, Mich., campus literary magazine Opus 54, is a niece of Mrs. Myron Shultis of this place.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Roberta Conklin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Conklin of New Paltz, to Edward L. Saunders, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Saunders of Matutuck, L. I. The Conklin family were former residents of Modena.

Mt. Tremper

Mt. Tremper, March 27—Mrs. Maude Hoyt and her niece, Miss Thelma LeBarr, recently returned to their home on the Wittenberg road after spending the winter months in Kingston.

Carl Larish, manager of the White Mills Company in Phoenicia, is a patient at Benedictine Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. John Molloy became the parents of a daughter born at Benedictine Hospital recently. The Molloys are the niece and nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Large, owners of the Holiday Inn. They recently moved to this vicinity from New York. Mr. Molloy is employed by the Kingston Trust Company.

A blood mobile unit was stationed at the Phoenicia Parish Hall Wednesday night to receive donations to the Town of Shandaken Blood Bank. Although several would-be donors were rejected for physical reasons, 24 pints were received. Mrs. Rae Gregg, RN, chairman of the blood bank, expressed pleasure at the cooperation of the townspeople.

The next regular meeting of the Community Association of Mt. Tremper and Mt. Pleasant, Inc. will take place in the former schoolhouse Thursday, April 1, at 8 p. m. Plans for the spring and summer will be discussed.

The Onteora P-TA will present an old-time Shirley Temple movie in the Onteora Central School auditorium Thursday, April 8, at 8 p. m. The film will be Dimples, co-starring Frank Morgan. Several cartoons also will be shown. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Edna Hoyt, Mrs. Charlotte Carle or Mrs. Marianne Umhey.

H-Bomb Complaints Mount

Tokyo, March 27 (AP)—Japanese reaction to American hydrogen bomb tests mounted anew today after two more fishing boats returned from the Marshall Island area showing radiation effects. The Japanese government officially informed the United States that the first boat to be affected, the "Lucky Dragon," was 40 miles outside the prescribed test danger zone when it was showered with atomic ash March 1. The two latest fishing boats showing radiation were quarantined. One had been operating some 780 miles from the Bikini test site and the other was about 200 miles away.

Home Bureau

Rug Meeting Set

The Ulster County Home Bureau will have a county-wide meeting March 31 on the Selection of Rugs. Patrick J. Holland of Kingston will be the speaker. The meeting will be held at the First Baptist Church hall in Kingston at 1:30 p. m. Anyone who is interested is urged to attend the meeting. Holland will discuss various fiber characteristics with resulting advantages for different kinds of rugs. Cultural background of the countries where certain fibers are grown will be mentioned. Advantages and disadvantages of the new synthetics and blends of fibers will be included. A question and answer period will follow Holland's talk.

Meeting Canceled

It was announced today that the meeting of the Ulster County Home Bureau Greater Executive Committee scheduled to be held April 21 has been canceled until later in the year. All former executive committee members are members of this group. Mrs. Arnold Van Lear of High Falls is chairman, Mrs. Francis Davenport of Stone Ridge, vice-chairman, and Mrs. David DuBois of New Paltz, secretary.

Directors to Meet

The Board of Directors of the Ulster County Farm and Home Bureau and 4-H Club Association will meet at 74 John street April 5 at 8 p. m. Richard Fricke, assistant state leader of County Agricultural Agents, will be guest.

Lamp Base Exhibit

There will be an exhibit of lamp bases and shades at the Ulster County Home Bureau office, 280 Wall street, until April 15. Since some of the units requested this lamp project a kit for various type bases and shades was borrowed from the college. Anyone interested in this project is urged to stop into the office and see them. The bases of the lamps are made from scraps of wood and other suitable materials. The shades are made of plastic or paper covered with decorative paper.

Dennis Will Speak At Pack 3 Meeting

George Dennis, Scout executive of Rip Van Winkle Council, will address parents and members of Pack 3 at St. Joseph's School Hall at 7:15 p. m. Thursday, April 1.

Anyone interested in Cub Scouting is invited to attend and new members will be welcomed, it was said.

Burns in Auto

New York, March 27 (AP)—A youth identified as James McKinley, 19, Knickerbocker avenue, Ridgewood, Queens, burned to death today in an automobile accident on the Belt Parkway in Brooklyn. He was a passenger in an automobile which struck one of two cars which had been involved in a minor collision a short time previously.

MOVES UP—Chaplain Patrick James Ryan has been nominated to be Chief of Chaplains of the Army with the rank of major general. In the Army 27 years, he saw action in the Mediterranean area during World War II. General Ryan will succeed Maj.-Gen. Ivan L. Bennett, retiring in April.

To Protect Fish

Albany, March 27 (AP)—If you're a "frog man," with an underwater breathing device, you'd better take care whose fish you mingle with. Gov. Dewey signed a bill today giving the town boards power to regulate the use of such devices. It is claimed swimmers looking like Martians had driven salt water fish away from their feeding grounds.

Budget Head to Resign

Washington, March 27 (AP)—The White House today announced that Joseph M. Dodge is resigning April 15 as director of the budget to return to private business. Dodge will resume the post of board chairman of the Detroit Bank in Detroit. He has been on leave from that job. He has been director of the budget since the Eisenhower administration took over in January, 1953.

Knoxville, Tenn. (AP)—When an ice cream store was broken into, the burglar remembered to ring up "no sale," before taking $25 form the cash register.

Arrested on Warrant

Sam Zwirn, 32, who gave his address as 29 Miller's Lane, was arrested in Kingston Friday by Deputy Sheriff Chester Wolven on a bench warrant issued by County Judge John M. Cashin on the basis of a sealed indictment charging grand larceny, second degree. Zwirn listed his occupation as a diamond cutter but said he was unemployed when he was booked at the Ulster county jail where he will be held until bail is set or the case disposed of in court. Details of the charge will not be known until the sealed indictment is opened in court.

Schine 'Good Soldier'

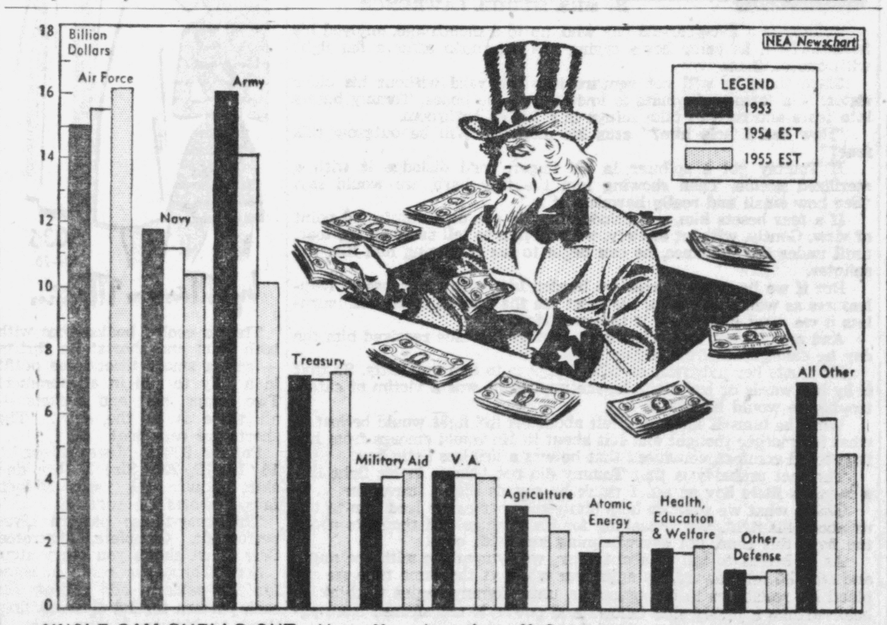

Augusta, Ga., March 27 (AP)—G. David Schine, a central figure in a row involving Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and the army, graduated from military police school today and was labeled "a good soldier" by his commanding general. The heir to a hotel and theatre fortune was an investigator for McCarthy's Senate investigating subcommittee before entering the service last November. McCarthy and Roy M. Cohn, the subcommittee's chief counsel, have been accused in an army report of exerting pressure on the Pentagon in efforts to secure favored treatment for Schine.

Why We Say--

In England there were at one time two dynamic tests for the truth. The first was the fire test in which a person was told to walk over nine red hot ploughshires . . . The second was the water test in which the person was bound hand and foot and thrown into a river. If the person escaped being drowned or burned in these tests, it was taken that God had helped him prove his truthfulness.

UNCLE SAM SHELLS OUT—Above Newschart shows U. S. federal spending for fiscal 1953 and estimates for 1954 and 1955. Air Force spending is expected to increase from $15 billion during fiscal 1953 to over $16 billion in 1955. During the same period, Army expenditures will be reduced from $16 billion to $10 billion. Navy spending will drop slightly. Based on present estimates, total federal spending will be reduced by about $8.4 billion from fiscal 1953 through 1955. Data compiled by the National Industrial Conference Board.

Laborer's Shack Is Destroyed by Fire

A laborer's shack on the Griener Farm at West Marlborough was destroyed by fire Friday night.

The Marlborough Fire Department was summoned about 10 p. m. and extinguished the blaze. According to Sheriff Cluett Schantz, who investigated, the shack was located near the farm's cold storage buildings but flames were blown away from the cooler by the wind. Had the wind been coming from the opposite direction, the sheriff indicated, there would have been danger of more serious loss.

The fire may have been started accidentally by the shack's occupants, who escaped uninjured and were not held by authorities, the sheriff's report indicated.

Other fire calls in the county included two grass fires reported to Mutual Aid Headquarters. At 12.57 p. m. Friday a grass fire on Route 32 brought out the Rosendale and Binnewater Departments, and at 1:46 p. m. the East Kingston department was dispatched to a grass fire on the Flatbush road near that hamlet.

Eisenhower . . .

pects the foreign trade program to be discussed at the regular Monday meeting of GOP legislative leaders with the President. Ferguson said he assumed a presidential message on the subject would be forthcoming soon thereafter.

Democrat Not Optimistic

While Ferguson said he remains confident committees will expedite their work so that the Senate can get some of the major proposals before it soon, Sen. Mansfield (D.-Mont.) said he can see few signs of progress.

"Out of the 196 or more proposals the President has made in one form or another, the Republicans will be lucky to get a dozen through Congress," he said.

Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell said in Gary, Ind., last night that because of the row between McCarthy and army officials he doubts "if the average citizen even recalls that the President has a program."

Floor Fight Looms

There were unconfirmed reports Eisenhower might make some public move on behalf of his public housing recommendations, which were roughly handled by the House Appropriations Committee. He recommended a four-year construction program of 140,000 units. The House group proposed to end the work after 35,000 units were built. Democrats threatened a floor fight for public housing next week.

Appropriations Committee Chairman Taber (R.-N. Y.) said in an interview, "the public housing program is a racket . . . it just hasn't worked out like it was supposed to."

However, last night the House Banking Committee gave final approval to other parts of the administration's overall housing program. Key provisions aim at a stepped up slum clearance program and at lower down payments and longer repayment periods on government insured loans for new or old houses.

McCarthy . . .

Names Issues

The GOP national chairman told an enthusiastic audience that the big campaign issues this year would be the economic health of the nation and the "never ending" battle with communism.

On the first count, Hall declared "the Eisenhower Administration program, now moving through Congress, is designed to keep us sound economically by building more industry, more jobs and a healthy agriculture."

Lauds Foreign Policy

On the second, he said:

"We have at long last developed a truly American foreign policy which meets the overseas Communist threat head-on and lays the responsibility where it belongs—in the laps of the Russians. Meanwhile at home we have both the willingness and the know-how for dealing with Communist inspired subversions."

All the Republicans have to do to win in 1954, Hall said, is "do what we did in 1952—get out the vote."

"If we do we will increase our membership in the Senate and House," he added. "We need them. Without stronger forces we can't carry out the President's program."

Royal Tan Cops

Aintree, England, March 27 (AP)—Royal Tan won the 108th running of the gruelling Grand National Steeplechase today, in a close finish with Tudor Line. Irish Lizard was third. Royal Tan, owned by Joe Griffin, ran second to Nickel Coin in the 1951 national. The winner was the second favorite at 8 to 1. Irish Lizard was 7-1.

Refund Is Excessive

Charlotte, N. C. (AP) — A man returned a dress to a Charlotte shop saying that his wife had bought it for her mother who didn't like it. He got $15. Later, the store checked the dress and found it was one of theirs. But it had not been paid.

Suspension Lifted

at which the boys and their parents or guardian were present. Each boy was asked if he desired to return to school and would abide by the conditions of probation. All agreed.

The resolution which was presented and which was read to each boy prior to his acceptance of the conditions of probation read:

"Whereas, seven boys were suspended from high school on March 19, 1954 by the school authorities, and

"Whereas the Building Committee has met with such school officials, and

"Whereas The Board of Education approves the action taken by such school officials.

"Now Therefore the Building Committee moves that the suspension as imposed be lifted as of Monday, March 29, 1954, at the opening of school on that day as to each boy appearing before the board on Friday evening, March 26, 1954 alone or in company with a parent or parents, on condition that each boy be placed on probation, and on further condition that if any boy violates such a probation by his conduct in the future, that permanent suspension or expulsion may follow."

Present at the meeting Friday night was Corporation Counsel James Abernethy who appeared as counsel to the board of education; Assistant District Attorney John Schick, who had conducted an investigation into the matter as a routine action of the office and Seymour Werbalowsky who appeared in the capacity of attorney for the Harjes family.

No Other Business

No other business was taken up before the board other than action on reinstating the seven boys to class. Trustee Richard Kalish was not in attendance.

President of the board, Clarence Rowland, presided and said at the opening that the special meeting had been called to consider the suspension of the seven students and the resolution of the Building Committee was then presented by Chairman Herzog and unanimously approved.

During the hearing the board said it did not condone the acts and warned against a repitition.

Blast Concussion

Clifton avenue told The Freeman the blasts "shook the house—and that's something unusual. It never happened before."

She said it "sounded like an explosion right outside . . . I thought the Reds had come over and dropped bombs!" She explained her home was "up on the hill" and wondered if the concussion might have followed a vein of rock. She said she had never felt any concussion resulting from blasting in the quarry at Connelly south of the city.

Windows Cracked

A resident of Oak street who asked that her name not be used said she was "disgusted," that it wasn't the first time and "practically every window in her house has been cracked."

She said the ceilings were cracked and beginning to fall.

At the time of the first blast yesterday she was "taking a nap" and got quite a shock.

She too felt the explanation must be "a vein of rock. . . . The whole house vibrates." She also felt it wasn't "fair," that she had been living there for almost 40 years and had paid "good taxes."

J. H. Ford Injured

on Clinton avenue when he was in collision with a 1941 sedan operated by Mrs. Geary. Mrs. Geary was traveling east on Maiden Lane.

The Ford vehicle received damages to the left side, left front fender, door, glasses, rear fender, body, right door and chrome stripping and possible hidden damages, it was reported. It had to be towed away.

The Geary car was damaged in the front end and received possible hidden damages.

De Falco to Open Shoe Store Here

Paul de Falco of Poughkeepsie will open the third in his chain of shoe stores at 259 Fair street, Kingston, early next week, he announced today.

The store, located in the building formerly occupied by Flemings dress shop, will specialize in orthopedic and scientific footwear.

De Falco's other stores are located in Poughkeepsie and Newburgh.

26 Years in Business

De Falco, who has had 26 years experience in the field of scientific and corrective footwear, will be in personal charge of the Kingston store following its opening. Meanwhile, Michael Carpino of Kingston will train for six months in the Poughkeepsie store, after which plans are that he will return to become manager of the local unit.

An outstanding feature of de Falco's Kingston store is its parlor type atmosphere, with rough hewn reproductions of Colonial period furnishings made by Hunts of Wingdale. The store has been partitioned, with all shelves for shoe boxes relegated to the rear portion, leaving the customers' section of the store uncluttered.

Men's, women's and children's shoes will be stocked.

Shoes by Prescription

The de Falco firm, while carrying the ready-made quality footwear, also offers a service of making shoes to prescription, working closely with area physicians to meet the special needs of "problem feet," de Falco pointed out.

A native of New Haven, Conn., de Falco went into the shoe business shortly after graduation from high school, and after operating stores in New York established his own store in Poughkeepsie 16 years ago. He added the Newburgh store five years ago.

Working with leading manufacturers, de Falco helped design many children's shoes and is a member of the research panel of the R. J. Potvin Shoe Company of Brockton, Mass., specialists in baby and children's shoes. He is a member of the Poughkeepsie Kiwanis Club, the Dutchess Golf and Country Club, and the City Club of Newburgh. He is unmarried and resides in Poughkeepsie.

De Falco said today he is enthusiastic over the Kingston area and has long been partial to the countryside which he describes as very scenic. He also expressed appreciation for the friendly treatment received in his contacts with Kingston business men and others.

Two Youths Killed

Staatsburg, March 27 (AP)—Two youths were killed and another critically injured early today when their car left the road on Route 9 near here and crashed into an embankment. The dead were identified as Raymond O'Connell, 18, and Robert W. Irons, 17. Taken to Northern Dutchess Health Center in Rhinebeck was Richard Williams, 19. His condition was described as critical. All three youths resided in Staatsburg.

Burglars Panned

Pottstown, Pa. (AP) — Joseph Stewartz, hotel owner, has rigged up pots and pans to fall noisily and serve as an alarm when thieves break in. They have sent intruders scurrying four different times.

Wanted, One Foot!

Salem, Mass. (AP)—Will Cinderella please come to the local lockup? Police are holding a shoe, for the right foot, waiting for the owner to claim it. For identification it is not a dainty glass slipper, but a sporty loafer size 8½.

Misses $2,000

New York, March 27 (AP)—Clara Gutierrez, 19-year-old clerk, was carrying a purse with $2 in it and a paper-bound package when she was accosted by a robber yesterday in a Bronx hallway. The man grabbed the girl's purse and ran. He left the package, which contained a $2,000 pay roll.

Attend Rolshoven Exhibit

Mrs. Moss Can Go Back to Army Job

Washington, March 27 (AP)—Mrs. Annie Lee Moss, who has sworn before Sen. McCarthy's subcommittee that she was never a Communist, can go back to her army job, at least for a while.

Mrs. Moss was suspended after a former woman undercover agent for the FBI testified she knew a person with that name as a Communist. The witness, however, was unable to identify Mrs. Moss with this person.

An army spokesman said yesterday Mrs. Moss would return to her civil service job Monday and remain at work while an army loyalty board completes a review of the case.

When she appeared before the investigations subcommittee headed by the Wisconsin Republican Mrs. Moss said there were others with the same name in Washington. The point was raised that she might be a victim of mistaken identity.

6,125 Fewer Jobs

Washington, March 27 (AP)—The number of federal jobholders declined 6,125 in February as compared with the preceding month, a Senate-House Committee reported today. This was the 19th consecutive month that the number of government workers decreased. The joint committee on reduction of non-essential federal expenditures said there were 2,340,767 persons on the federal pay roll in February as against 2,346,892 in January. In addition, it said 413,337 foreign nationals were working for U. S. military agencies abroad last month.

Realism Brings Action

Gooding, Idaho (AP)—The sheriff, a physician and others rushed out into the country after a passing motorist reported he saw a patient being treated at a serious wreck scene. They found J. C. Warrington, Gooding County Red Cross chairman, conducting the regular Thursday evening session of his first aid drill team.

Scholarships Open To Singers in Area

Woodstock, March 25 — Hanus A. Schimmerling, composer, pianist and conductor, arrived at his home on Ohayo Mountain this week from New York and announced that a number of scholarships are available to young singers in the Woodstock, Kingston, Ulster county area. The scholarships are being given by the Chatham Square Music School, 211 Clinton street, New York, where Schimmerling is director and conductor of the opera department and head of the theory and composition department.

The directors of the school are particularly interested in finding talented young contraltos and tenors between the ages of 17 and 24. The scholarships include all phases of music training necessary for a singer until he has reached the professional stage. The scholarships, however, do not provide for living expenses.

Information Available

Persons interested in obtaining further information and in arranging auditions are requested to communicate with Schimmerling either at his Woodstock address, or by writing to him at 382 Wadsworth avenue, New York 33.

According to an announcement made by the school, the Opera Workshop of the school has received a television set from conductor Arturo Toscanini, one of the principal sponsors of the school. The TV set will be used to study the digested and streamlined approach of television to traditional opera. The head of Chatham's opera department, Peter Herman Adler, also director of NBC Television Opera Theatre, is a strong advocate for the popularization of opera in America through the use of English text and characterization according to acting ability and appearance.

Schimmerling, Woodstock's internationally known composer, pianist and choral director, joined the all artist facuty of Chatham at the beginning of this season and is teaching the opera groups and the classes in harmony and theory.

The Chatham Square Music School is an artist training school founded by Samuel Chotzinoff, also of NBC, to train highly talented music students for the concert and opera stage. Chotzinoff, also of NBC, to train highly talented music students for the concert and opera stage. Chotzinoff, now general director of music for the National Broadcasting Company, has known the concert stage both as artist and as metropolitan critic. The school is non-profit and offers scholarship aid on the basis of need. The student body which is limited to fifty students deemed fit for concert careers, receive individual instruction, except for group instruction in theory, solfeggio and opera.

From Many Countriese

Chatman students come from various parts of the United States and Europe and hundreds of its applicants are graduates of conservatories and many colleges. Most of the present and former students have been recipients of music awards and honors. Three of the latest winners of Talent In Our Schools, sponsored by radio station WQXR and The New York Times were Chatham students. Their judges were Rudolph Serkin, Arthur Rubenstein and Abram Chasins. For the last three years, Chatham students have won Fulbright Awards to Europe.

On March 27 Madelaine Chambers, a soprano from Chatham, will make her debut as Micaela in Carmen, with the New York City Opera Company. Byron Janis, one of the youngest of top-ranking concert pianists today, is a graduate of Chatham. He entered Chatham at the age of nine and continued his training there until his debut. Before his recent Carnegie Hall recital this year, he established a scholarship at Chatham "in appreciation for all that the school has done for me."

Business Association Welcomes New Members

Woodstock, March 25—New members welcomed to the Woodstock Business Association at the regular monthly meeting at Deanie's upstairs dining room Monday evening were Woodstock Playhouse, Candelier's and Joseph Holdridge's Woodstock Motel and Steak House.

Announcement was made that the souvenir brochure which the association is preparing, is nearing completion and will soon go to the printers. It is expected that more than 17,000 of the brochures will be distributed, and that possibly the figure will approach 25,000. Each member of the association will receive 100 copies, and larger numbers of the folders will be placed in strategic places in the village during the summer months so that visitors may mail them to their friends. A copy of the brochure will be mailed to each taxpayer on the Woodstock township tax rolls, with the compliments of the association.

A special meeting of the members will be held next Monday evening, March 29, at Deanie's upstairs dining room to consider an amendment to the association's by-laws, which would broaden the territory from which members would be accepted upon application. The area would be bounded by Mt. Tremper, Glenford, West Hurley and Shultis' Corners.

Reference was made to an editorial in one of the local weeklies to the effect that it would be a good idea to project the Community Chest idea in Woodstock. It was pointed out that the Woodstock Business Association had several years ago explored the proposition and found that practically every national organization which conducted a drive had indicated their refusal to participate in such community projects preferring to hold their own drives for funds. Concerning local fund raising projects, members felt that everyone was supporting these drives to the best of their ability and that almost all of the local organizations would also prefer holding their own fund raising drives through the customary card parties, bazaars, rummage or food sales, theatrical performances, special movie shows at the Woodstock theatre and others. The association had therefore dropped the project since it was the sense of the members that nothing would be gained.

Seeks to Purchase District 5 School

Woodstock, March 25—At a meeting of the Mt. Tobias Sportsmen's Club last Monday night at Morrison's Lake Hill House a resolution was passed to incorporate the organization and papers were signed to complete the arrangements.

A petition to obtain possession of the old District 5 Mink Hollow School House is now being circulated in the area by Merlin Wilber. If the building can be purchased it will be converted, not only into a club house for the group but to a community center as well. A letter will be sent to the taxpayers of old District No. 5 explaining the intentions of the petition.

It was voted that junior memberships in the club would be accepted, dues free, between the ages of 14 and 16.

The meeting was attended by 39 members, and was conducted by Lauren Peters of Lake Hill, president of the club.

A discussion also took place on posting, and according to Peters the posting of signs will begin this weekend.

Woodstock

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

The town of Woodstock has been allocated $1,000 in state-aid for a recreation project for a 12-month period, the New York State Youth Commission announced today.

An application for state-aid submitted by Supervisor Joseph Fitzsimmons indicates that the town will spend a total of $2,000 during the year to provide a recreation program. Activities will include arts and crafts; swimming, baseball and games. Facilities to be used include Woodstock Recreation Field. The agency responsible for the conduct of this program is the recreation committee of which Kenneth L. Wilson is chairman.

Expressway Included

Albany, March 27 (AP) — Gov. Dewey today signed a bill authorizing inclusion of the Long Island Expressway in an arterial highway system stretching from Brooklyn to Riverhead, the Suffolk county seat. The 64-mile expressway will form the eastern end of a highway network serving Brooklyn, Queens, Nassau and Suffolk counties. The governor's signature did not authorize construction of the expressway but cleared the legal path for state acquisition of rights of way. "With this bill it will be possible to acquire key portions of the right-of-way as soon as the route studies are completed," Dewey said in a memorandum. "Unless this is done, property now unimproved may soon be developed, greatly increasing the cost of land for the project."

Byrd's View

Washington, March 27 (AP)—Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) said today he believes the battle to prevent heavy federal excise cuts, even though it failed, will help to block a big income tax reduction on a later revenue bill. The Virginian said in an interview that the fight had uncovered much more strength against any tax cuts now approved and the budget thrown out of balance that much more, Byrd said, it should be easier to persuade lawmakers not to bring on even bigger revenue losses through an income tax slash.

SAUGERTIES NEWS

McCutcheon Named Commander of VFW

Saugerties, March 26—Bernard E. McCutcheon of Evesport was elected commander of Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, Veterans of Foreign Wars at the annual meeting Wednesday night at VFW Hall. McCutcheon succeeds Le Roy Lewis of Malden-on-Hudson who was commander for 1953.

Other officers elected include Donald Rice, senior vice-commander; Emil De Long, chaplain; William Brown, junior vice-commander; Arthur Wright, quartermaster; Louis Francello, judge advocate; Dr. Herman Ash, surgeon; Donald Rice, Emil De Long, William Keyes and Arthur Wright, delegates to the County Council and delegates to District No. 2.

Lewis was elected trustee for three years. Installation of officers has been tentatively scheduled for Sunday, April 25.

Entertainment Held For Asbury Members

Saugerties, March 26—An evening of special entertainment was presented to the Monday night meeting of the Asbury Grange. A skit entitled Spring Is Here was presented under the direction of Mrs. LeRoy Jacobsen. The program opened with tributes to spring by Mrs. Helen Dederick who portrayed the part of Ceres; Mrs. Ann Nieffer as Flora and Mrs. Jane Stanley as Pomona. The members then followed with a rendition of Melody of Spring. Mrs. Jacobsen read a poem on Spring followed by the reading of an epic entitled The Farm by Edgar Wilhelm.

This introduction was followed by a series of talks on the care of strawberries, fruit trees, raspberries, blueberries, potatoes and various other garden hints from the members. Mrs. Louise Saile gave an interesting illustrated discussion on tree grafting.

One of the highlights was the presentation of a skit entitled Spring Models of 1954. Models included Mrs. Edgar Wilhelm, Miss Sophie Wager, Fred Mower, Elvin Wager and Horton Pearson. The latest in spring finery was displayed and a specialty which included What The Tall Girls Will Wear.

Prior to the meeting and entertainment a roast pork dinner was served. Various dates were read and members were urged to clip the notices from the newspapers for future use. On April 5 the first and second degrees will be conferred at the Lake Katrine Grange Hall; April 10 was designated as the closing date for the gingercookie contest at Asbury Hall; April 19 The Asbury Grange will visit Clintondale with the Hurley Grange; April 20 the third and fourth degrees will be conferred at the Hurley Grange Hall; May 10 as designated as the closing of the sewing contest at Asbury Hall.

De Falco to Open Shoe Store Here

Paul de Falco of Poughkeepsie will open the third in his chain of shoe stores at 259 Fair street, Kingston, early next week, he announced today.

The store, located in the building formerly occupied by Flemings dress shop, will specialize in orthopedic and scientific footwear.

De Falco's other stores are located in Poughkeepsie and Newburgh.

26 Years in Business

De Falco, who has had 26 years experience in the field of scientific and corrective footwear, will be in personal charge of the Kingston store following its opening. Meanwhile, Michael Carpino of Kingston will train for six months in the Poughkeepsie store, after which plans are that he will return to become manager of the local unit.

An outstanding feature of de Falco's Kingston store is its parlor type atmosphere, with rough hewn reproductions of Colonial period furnishings made by Hunts of Wingdale. The store has been partitioned, with all shelves for shoe boxes relegated to the rear portion, leaving the customers' section of the store uncluttered.

Men's, women's and children's shoes will be stocked.

Shoes by Prescription

The de Falco firm, while carrying the ready-made quality footwear, also offers a service of making shoes to prescription, working closely with area physicians to meet the special needs of "problem feet," de Falco pointed out.

A native of New Haven, Conn., de Falco went into the shoe business shortly after graduation from high school, and after operating stores in New York established his own store in Poughkeepsie 16 years ago. He added the Newburgh store five years ago.

Working with leading manufacturers, de Falco helped design many children's shoes and is a member of the research panel of the R. J. Potvin Shoe Company of Brockton, Mass., specialists in baby and children's shoes. He is a member of the Poughkeepsie Kiwanis Club, the Dutchess Golf and Country Club, and the City Club of Newburgh. He is unmarried and resides in Poughkeepsie.

De Falco said today he is enthusiastic over the Kingston area and has long been partial to the countryside which he describes as very scenic. He also expressed appreciation for the friendly treatment received in his contacts with Kingston business men and others.

Two Youths Killed

Staatsburg, March 27 (AP)—Two youths were killed and another critically injured early today when their car left the road on Route 9 near here and crashed into an embankment. The dead were identified as Raymond O'Connell, 18, and Robert W. Irons, 17. Taken to Northern Dutchess Health Center in Rhinebeck was Richard Williams, 19. His condition was described as critical. All three youths resided in Staatsburg.

Burglars Panned

Pottstown, Pa. (AP) — Joseph Stewartz, hotel owner, has rigged up pots and pans to fall noisily and serve as an alarm when thieves break in. They have sent intruders scurrying four different times.

Wanted, One Foot!

Salem, Mass. (AP)—Will Cinderella please come to the local lockup? Police are holding a shoe, for the right foot, waiting for the owner to claim it. For identification it is not a dainty glass slipper, but a sporty loafer size 8½.

Misses $2,000

New York, March 27 (AP)—Clara Gutierrez, 19-year-old clerk, was carrying a purse with $2 in it and a paper-bound package when she was accosted by a robber yesterday in a Bronx hallway. The man grabbed the girl's purse and ran. He left the package, which contained a $2,000 pay roll.

Attend Rolshoven Exhibit

Mrs. Moss Can Go Back to Army Job

Washington, March 27 (AP)—Mrs. Annie Lee Moss, who has sworn before Sen. McCarthy's subcommittee that she was never a Communist. can go back to her army job, at least for a while.

Mrs. Moss was suspended after a former woman undercover agent for the FBI testified she knew a person with that name as a Communist. The witness, however, was unable to identify Mrs. Moss with this person.

An army spokesman said yesterday Mrs. Moss would return to her civil service job Monday and remain at work while an army loyalty board completes a review of the case.

When she appeared before the investigations subcommittee headed by the Wisconsin Republican Mrs. Moss said there were others with the same name in Washington. The point was raised that she might be a victim of mistaken identity.

6,125 Fewer Jobs

Washington, March 27 (AP)—The number of federal jobholders declined 6,125 in February as compared with the preceding month, a Senate-House Committee reported today. This was the 19th consecutive month that the number of government workers decreased. The joint committee on reduction of non-essential federal expenditures said there were 2,340,767 persons on the federal pay roll in February as against 2,346,892 in January. In addition, it said 413,337 foreign nationals were working for U. S. military agencies abroad last month.

Scholarships Open To Singers in Area

Woodstock, March 25 — Hanus A. Schimmerling, composer, pianist and conductor, arrived at his home on Ohayo Mountain this week from New York and announced that a number of scholarships are available to young singers in the Woodstock, Kingston, Ulster county area. The scholarships are being given by the Chatham Square Music School, 211 Clinton street, New York, where Schimmerling is director and conductor of the opera department and head of the theory and composition department.

The directors of the school are particularly interested in finding talented young contraltos and tenors between the ages of 17 and 24. The scholarships include all phases of music training necessary for a singer until he has reached the professional stage. The scholarships, however, do not provide for living expenses.

Information Available

Persons interested in obtaining further information and in arranging auditions are requested to communicate with Schimmerling either at his Woodstock address, or by writing to him at 382 Wadsworth avenue, New York 33.

According to an announcement made by the school, the Opera Workshop of the school has received a television set from conductor Arturo Toscanini, one of the principal sponsors of the school. The TV set will be used to study the digested and streamlined approach of television to traditional opera. The head of Chatham's opera department, Peter Herman Adler, also director of NBC Television Opera Theatre, is a strong advocate for the popularization of opera in America through the use of English text and characterization according to acting ability and appearance.

Schimmerling, Woodstock's internationally known composer, pianist and choral director, joined the all artist facuty of Chatham at the beginning of this season and is teaching the opera groups and the classes in harmony and theory.

The Chatham Square Music School is an artist training school founded by Samuel Chotzinoff, also of NBC, to train highly talented music students for the concert and opera stage. Chotzinoff, also of NBC, to train highly talented music students for the concert and opera stage. Chotzinoff, now general director of music for the National Broadcasting Company, has known the concert stage both as artist and as metropolitan critic. The school is non-profit and offers scholarship aid on the basis of need. The student body which is limited to fifty students deemed fit for concert careers, receive individual instruction, except for group instruction in theory, solfeggio and opera.

From Many Countriese

Chatman students come from various parts of the United States and Europe and hundreds of its applicants are graduates of conservatories and many colleges. Most of the present and former students have been recipients of music awards and honors. Three of the latest winners of Talent In Our Schools, sponsored by radio station WQXR and The New York Times were Chatham students. Their judges were Rudolph Serkin, Arthur Rubenstein and Abram Chasins. For the last three years, Chatham students have won Fulbright Awards to Europe.

On March 27 Madelaine Chambers, a soprano from Chatham, will make her debut as Micaela in Carmen, with the New York City Opera Company. Byron Janis, one of the youngest of top-ranking concert pianists today, is a graduate of Chatham. He entered Chatham at the age of nine and continued his training there until his debut. Before his recent Carnegie Hall recital this year, he established a scholarship at Chatham "in appreciation for all that the school has done for me."

Business Association Welcomes New Members

Woodstock, March 25—New members welcomed to the Woodstock Business Associafion at the regular monthly meeting at Deanie's upstairs dining room Monday evening were Woodstock Playhouse, Candelier's and Joseph Holdridge's Woodstock Motel and Steak House.

Announcement was made that the souvenir brochure which the association is preparing, is nearing completion and will soon go to the printers. It is expected that more than 17,000 of the brochures will be distributed, and that possibly the figure will approach 25,000. Each member of the association will receive 100 copies, and larger numbers of the folders will be placed in strategic places in the village during the summer months so that visitors may mail them to their friends. A copy of the brochure will be mailed to each taxpayer on the Woodstock township tax rolls, with the compliments of the association.

A special meeting of the members will be held next Monday evening, March 29, at Deanie's upstairs dining room to consider an amendment to the association's by-laws, which would broaden the territory from which members would be accepted upon application. The area would be bounded by Mt. Tremper, Glenford, West Hurley and Shultis' Corners.

Reference was made to an editorial in one of the local weeklies to the effect that it would be a good idea to project the Community Chest idea in Woodstock. It was pointed out that the Woodstock Business Association had several years ago explored the proposition and found that practically every national organization which conducted a drive had indicated their refusal to participate in such community projects preferring to hold their own drives for funds. Concerning local fund raising projects, members felt that everyone was supporting these drives to the best of their ability and that almost all of the local organizations would also prefer holding their own fund raising drives through the customary card parties, bazaars, rummage or food sales, theatrical performances, special movie shows at the Woodstock theatre and others. The association had therefore dropped the project since it was the sense of the members that nothing would be gained.

Seeks to Purchase District 5 School

Woodstock, March 25—At a meeting of the Mt. Tobias Sportsmen's Club last Monday night at Morrison's Lake Hill House a resolution was passed to incorporate the organization and papers were signed to complete the arrangements.

A petition to obtain possession of the old District 5 Mink Hollow School House is now being circulated in the area by Merlin Wilber. If the building can be purchased it will be converted, not only into a club house for the group but to a community center as well. A letter will be sent to the taxpayers of old District No. 5 explaining the intentions of the petition.

It was voted that junior memberships in the club would be accepted, dues free, between the ages of 14 and 16.

The meeting was attended by 39 members, and was conducted by Lauren Peters of Lake Hill, president of the club.

A discussion also took place on posting, and according to Peters the posting of signs will begin this weekend.

Woodstock

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

The town of Woodstock has been allocated $1,000 in state-aid for a recreation project for a 12-month period, the New York State Youth Commission announced today.

An application for state-aid submitted by Supervisor Joseph Fitzsimmons indicates that the town will spend a total of $2,000 during the year to provide a recreation program. Activities will include arts and crafts; swimming, baseball and games. Facilities to be used include Woodstock Recreation Field. The agency responsible for the conduct of this program is the recreation committee of which Kenneth L. Wilson is chairman.

Expressway Included

Albany, March 27 (AP) — Gov. Dewey today signed a bill authorizing inclusion of the Long Island Expressway in an arterial highway system stretching from Brooklyn to Riverhead, the Suffolk county seat. The 64-mile expressway will form the eastern end of a highway network serving Brooklyn, Queens, Nassau and Suffolk counties. The governor's signature did not authorize construction of the expressway but cleared the legal path for state acquisition of rights of way. "With this bill it will be possible to acquire key portions of the right-of-way as soon as the route studies are completed," Dewey said in a memorandum. "Unless this is done, property now unimproved may soon be developed, greatly increasing the cost of land for the project."

Byrd's View

Washington, March 27 (AP)—Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) said today he believes the battle to prevent heavy federal excise cuts, even though it failed, will help to block a big income tax reduction on a later revenue bill. The Virginian said in an interview that the fight had uncovered much more strength against any tax cuts now approved and the budget thrown out of balance that much more, Byrd said, it should be easier to persuade lawmakers not to bring on even bigger revenue losses through an income tax slash.

Sickler's Classy Sienians Eliminate Middletown Five, 95-82

Jaspers' Carroll Leads Scoring Spree With 27

Off what they showed last night in trecking a powerful Middletown Field Artillery combine, Coach Frank Koenig's Sickler Delivery Siena stars are the team to beat in the Kingston tournament.

The Siena cagers (with a sprinkling of locals, too) got heavy-handed assistance from Tom Carroll of last year's Manhattan College varsity to trounce the Orange county kingpins, 95-82.

In the companion piece, the Pine Plains Bombardiers carved out a slice of the favorite's role for themselves by disposing of the tenacious Fishkill A.C., 83-70.

There is no action scheduled tonight. Play resumes Tuesday with Lincoln Park Inn, of Kingston, (sans Ronnie Scheffel) meeting Jack McAuley's of Poughkeepsie at 7:30 p. m. Monticello Chiefs and Hudson Knights of Columbus are carded at 8:30.

Carroll Hits 27

Chunky Tom Carroll, who is built according to wrestling standards, gave a dazzling exhibition of set shooting with 27 points for Sickler's. When he wasn't harrassing the Middletown defenses, Jam Howard (17) and Jim Walsh (19) were taking up the slack.

Jack Curry, 6 foot 5 former Siena captain, was superb off the backboards and contributed 14 points. Koenig used the big guns most of the way. When he decided to spell the starters for a few minutes, the local talent moved in and Middletown quickly ran up 10 points.

The final score was deceptive. The Sicklers gave you the impression they could pour it on whenever the situation demanded.

Slim Crowd Watches

It was regrettable that such a tremendous exhibition of outside and set shooting had to be wasted before such a meagre crowd. Maybe by the time the quarter finals get under way, word will get around that there's a terrific basketball tournament in progress at the municipal auditorium.

The Deliverymen led 20-19 at the quarter and 44-36 at halftime. The second half moved at a brisk pace until late in the third period when Middletown's Dave Lattimer moved his club to within four points, 61-57.

It was here that Mr. Carroll proved his class. First he drilled a two-hand set from outside the circle. Walsh hit with another on a driving layup and Carroll followed with two more quickies to bust the game wide open.

The Middies had two standout performers in Dave Lattimer, who didn't suffer a bit in comparison with the Siena collegians, and Dave Wittman, who specializes in fall-away long range baskets.

Lattimer racked up 27 points to tie Carroll for individual honors and shaped as one of the best players in the tournament. Wittman hit for 17, mostly on long sets.

Bombardiers Click

Pine Plains' three top performers—Don Myers, Harry Hahn and Johnny Cottrill—accounted for 57 points as the Bombardiers eliminated Fishkill A.C., 83-70. It was a fairly even battle until Pine Plains broke loose with a 24-point fourth period. They led 44-33 at the half.

Myers and Hahn poured in 21 points apiece and Cottrill rimmed 15. Johnny Hubble, a 30-point performer, was limited to 17 this time and got most of them late in the game. Dave Beverly topped the Fishkill outfit with 19.

Golf History May Repeat In Southland

Wilmington, N. C., March 27 (AP)—Nine years ago golfing history was made in North Carolina when two amateurs won successive major open tournaments.

Cary Middlecoff, now a professional, started the uprising by winning the North and South Open at Pinehurst as Ben Hogan was forced to settle for second place. The following week at Durham, Frank Stranahan completed a Tar Heel sweep for the simon pures by finishing first ahead of Porky Oliver.

The stage was set for another performance along those lines as the $10,000 Azalea Open headed into its second round today. Arnold Palmer, Wake Forest College star from Latrobe, Pa., held a one-stroke lead over Jimmy Turnesa, Briarcliff, N. Y., after a rain-spattered opening round.

Palmer, back in school after a Coast Guard hitch, played a tremendous round. His 33-32—65 was seven under par for the 6,652-yard Cape Fear Country Club course and only one stroke over the tournament record set five years ago by Paul O'Leary.

Turnesa, with six birdies and 12 pars, had a neat 66 for second place. In all, 35 players were under par and 13 more hit for 72 on the nose.

Ray Houghtaling, J. Sweeney Share Everybody Highs

Jones-Cab Showdown At Dutchess Recs

The eyes of the mid-Hudson bowling world will be turned toward the Dutchess Recreation in Poughkeepsie tonight (8 p. m.) where Jones Dairy meets the Veteran Cabs in a match that is expected to determine the Hudson Valley League championship.

Jones Dairy leads by 1½ games going into the fray and must win at least one game to protect its pennant hopes.

New York Pinmen Scramble Board In ABC Tourney

Seattle, March 27 (AP)—Open team division standings underwent considerable revision last night at the conclusion of the first week of the American Bowling Congress. Four new teams added their names to the fast changing roster of the top 10.

The best performance of the four was by the Van Wie Chevrolets, the Baldwinsville, N. Y., entry which was expected to make a good showing. The New Yorkers rolled games of 891, 965 and 1026 for a 2882 series that gave them fourth place.

Another team that lived up to expectations was the Wolverine Expressmen of Muskegon, Mich. They rolled games of 1021, 881 and 912 for a 2814 total and sixth place on the ladder.

The other newcomers were Union Plumbing of Boise, Idaho, whose 2794 rated it an eighth place berth and the Warren Air Force Base five from Cheyenne, Wyo., new occupants of tenth position with a 2778 score.

In other action yesterday, Loren Tilton of Seattle and Ray Wymer, Salamanca, N. Y., moved into fourth and fifth places in the singles standings by rolling games of 632 and 629, respectively.

The lone change in the doubles standings occurred when Marsh Ramsby and Rod Rogers of Portland, Ore., took fourth with a 1224 total.

The day's scores also produced some changes in the all-events ratings. Ramsby gained fourth place on his 582 team score, 658 doubles and 555 singles for a total of 1795.

Coach Walter S. Van Wagenen had to dip deep into the Jayvee ranks to come up with a Woodstock "Varsity" squad to confront Jack Doyle's Wreckers last night at the school gym.

If you'll excuse the play on words, Doyle's YMCA cagers wrecked the Vs, 81-71, with a big first quarter that produced a 29-11 lead. It was nolo contendere after that.

The loss was the fifth in 23 starts for the Vs and for the first time this season they dropped two straight. Haber's Grill upended them last week.

East Scores 24

Big Bill East sparked the Wreckers with 24 points and "Champ" Holstein hooped 18. High man for Woodstock was Billy Waterous with 20 points. Big Bill Kleine scored 17 and Ward Dunham 14. Lew Murkoff doubled with 10 for the Workers.

Bubi Scholz Is No Cerdan But He'll Do

New York, March 27 (AP)—Gustav (Bubi) Scholz is no Marcel Cerdan but he'll do.

The 23-year-old unbeaten German middleweight, latest of a horde of foreign fighters to invade the United States in the past year, made his American debut a winning one last night by gaining a unanimous 10-round decision over spunky Al Andrews of Superior, Wis.

A southpaw socker, the former Berlin cook floored the 23-year-old ex-GI in the fifth round with a left to the jaw and and rocked powerless Al in the seventh and tenth rounds, with a rapid-fire bombardment. Andrews jumped up at one in the fifth but had to take the mandatory eight count. The officials' votes for Scholz were 6-3-1, 6-3-1, and 7-2-1. The Associated Press had it 6-3-1.

Although it was a cleancut win, the 1-3 favored Scholz was disappointed over his showing.

Bubi Not Satisfied

"It was one of the worst fights I ever made," he said in his dressing room in Madison Square Garden. "I was tired and listless because I am not acclimated. In Europe it was 5 a. m. (it was 11 p. m., EST here) and I felt like I wanted to sleep. When I am acclimated, I will do much better."

Most observers felt that Bubi made a fine debut considering the circumstances. He had been plagued with legal troubles and was fighting under different rules than in Europe.

"He's a fine fighter," said Harry Markson, managing director of the International Boxing Club. "He's one of the best to come here since the war. After he gets acclimated he'll be able to hold his own with the best middleweights in the world."

Babe Zaharias Leads Peach Blossom Golf

Spartanburg, S. C., March 27 (AP)—The president of the Ladies Professional Golfers Assn., was in charge today as the second round of the Peach Blossom-Betsy Rawls golf tournament opened.

Babe Zaharias of Tampa, Fla., who heads the touring pros, led the field by three strokes. She toured the Spartanburg Country Club course in par 71 as the 54-hole event opened yesterday.

Her performance was three strokes better than that of defending champion Louise Suggs, of Atlanta, Ga., and Marlene Bauer of Sarasota, Fla.

Maroons Have Individual Aces But Lack Depth

Kingston High track workouts have begun under the direction of Coach W. Warren Kias.

Twelve lettermen should give the Maroons a fair team, but Coach Kias was gloomy in his predictions for the coming season.

"We're rebuilding," he said. "A lot will depend on our new prospects."

The brightest spot in the local track picture is the sprint relay team. All four men who combined for a third place in the state meet last season are returning.

They are the only returnees with championship experience, however.

Little improvement can be expected on last year's weak team, according to Coach Kias. This slump has come after one of the most successful eras in Kingston track history. Under Coach Kias' tutelage, the Maroons swept to three consecutive league titles.

The coach, now in his 18th year as Kingston track mentor, pointed out that this year's squad has good individual performers. It's depth that we lack," he said.

Webster Handerson, Charley Johnson, Bucky Miller and Charles Coutant, the four members of the DUSO championship sprint relay team, comprise the backbone of the squad. All four of these boys are two-year lettermen.

Coutant also doubles in the hurdles with Charles Murphy. Handerson, Johnson and Miller handle the 100 and 220-yard dash chores for the Maroons.

The middle distances appear weak with only one of last year's lettermen, Robert Bailey, returning. Roger Billings, a letterman in 1952 who missed the '53 season, will aid the squad in those distances.

Coach Kias said Bailey will run the 880, while Billings might be switched to the 440. Both men won their letters in the half-mile.

John Browne is the only letterman miler on the squad although Coach Kias said he had hope that squadman Robert Campbell may develop this season.

Other squadmen in the track events are Don Ashdown, Lawrence Reer, William Mergandahl and Dick Richards.

Prospects in the field events, coached by Bill Hurley, appear as slim as those in track, with only a handful of lettermen available.

Bill Engle and Leroy Sheffer are the weightmen on whom Coach Hurley must depend. Both throw the shot, while Engle will double in the discus event this year.

Jerry Sauers is a returning letterman in the javelin throw. Sauers is also a broad jump prospect with Miller and Handerson.

Fred Jackson is Coach Hurley's lone high jump letterman, and Ronald Dittus is the only returning pole vaulter.

The first meet for the squad this year will be a triangular affair here on May 7 with Port Jervis and Monticello. The DUSO League meet is scheduled for May 29 but the site is undecided. The Section Nine meet is set for June 5.

Workouts are still being carried on indoors, according to Coach Kias. The first outdoor practice is still a few days away, depending on the weather.

For the second year the outlook for track at Kingston High is poor, but a rebuilding job is being carried on. Its success will depend largely upon the amount of interest shown by younger students.

Before Kingston track prospects can turn upward, there must be a strong revival of interest, according to Coach Kias.

Charlotte Lapine Rolls 622 Triple in Classic

Hits Big One

CHARLOTTE LAPINE

Charlotte Lapine is winding up the 1953-54 bowling season with a burst of power.

The old pro found the range for 622 on alleys 9 and 10 in the Woman's Classic last night at the Bowlodrome. Her solos 221-209-192 added up to a sparkling 622 which led a brisk-scoring session of the distaff league.

Trailing Mrs. Lapine was the perennial Queen, Rose Schatzel, with 184-182-227 for 593. Flo Beichert knocked off another nice series, with 205-189-136 for 530.

The results:

Unemployment Figure Decreases in 32 States

Washington, March 27 (AP)—The Bureau of Employment Security reports a decline in unemployment—the number of those newly out of jobs going down in 32 states and the District of Columbia, increasing only in 16 states.

The government report made public yesterday, covering the week ended March 13, said the number of insured unemployed declined for a second straight week to 2,187,100.

At the Feb. 27 peak, the total was 2,213,959.

These figures do not include all the unemployed, since not all workers are covered by federal unemployment insurance.

The bureau said its state reports showed no large scale layoffs the week of March 20, but scattered layoffs mixed with some recalls.

Age Wins Victory

Charleston, W. Va. (AP)—When a man from an isolated section of the county came in to pay his taxes, he put down two of the "blanket" style $20 bills which the government took out of circulation back in 1933. The young fellow behind the cashier's window, a mere lad of 25 or so, eyed the bills skeptically. Called in for consultation, Chief Deputy Ansel Umberger said: "Nothing wrong with those notes, they're just a little aged," and swept them into the till. The taxpayer triumphantly pocketed his receipt and swaggered away.

Fiore-Scortichini Tonight's TV Bout

Syracuse, March 27 (AP)—Carmine Fiore, who likes to rush in and slug, and tricky Italo Scortichini, a cautious type, battle tonight in a 10-round fight that may make or break Fiore as a welterweight contender.

The fight contract calls for a 153-pound limit, heavy for Fiore and a bit light for the Italian welterweight champ who has been fighting in this country as a middleweight.

Both hope for a crack at Carmen Basilio of Canastota, number one contender for Kid Gavilan's welterweight title.

Fiore hasn't been beaten since he lost to Basilio here nearly a year ago. His recent victims include Danny (Bang Bang) Womber, who upset Gavilan in a nontitle fight here last year.

Tonight's fight will be televised nationally (9 p. m., ABC).

Improved Nat Pitching Accounts For Five-Game Winning Streak

By BEN OLAN
(Associated Press Sportswriter)

It was only a week ago that Manager Bucky Harris of the Washington Senators said, "We won't look good until our pitchers round into form."

That not-too-startling prediction looked mighty good today as the Senators found themselves the proud possessors of a five-game winning streak, due largely to the improved efforts of their mound corps.

The Nats have come a long way since they opened their exhibition schedule with nine straight setbacks. Now that their pitchers are clicking, they look more and more like a club that will give the other American League teams a lot of trouble this season.

Yesterday, righthanders Frank Shea and Sonny Dixon limited the Boston Red Sox to only seven hits as Washington pounded out a convincing 10-1 victory.

First Stringers Click

In the last four games, the Nats' moundsmen have allowed the opposition only six runs. More important, Shea, Bob Porterfield, Connie Marrero and Chuck Stobbs, the pitchers Harris is counting on most, have been effective, to say the least.

In fact, the Boston tally yesterday was slightly tainted. It came as a result of a Washington error and a pop fly double to left by Ted Lepcio. The Senators more than made up for it, jumping on lefty Bill Henry for six runs in the third inning. Tony Roig's bases loaded triple was the big blow in this frame and Mickey Vernon's second of three hits in the fourth added another.

The New York Yankees, seemingly getting ready in earnest for coming American League pennant race, defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers, their perennial October victims 8-4 as they exploded for three homers, two doubles and a pair of triples. Gil McDougald, Yogi Berra and Gene Woodling hit for the circuit. Don Newcombe and Joe Black were the victims of the Yankee onslaught.

Phil Rookies Click

Veteran Jim Konstanty and rookie Paul Penson combined to stop the Detroit Tigers with five singles and give the Philadelphia Phillies a 6-2 triumph. Konstanty, the National League's most valuable player in 1950, yielded four hits in the six innings he worked. Granny Hamner and Stan Jok hit homers for the Phillies.

Outfielder Gus Bell walloped an eighth inning two-run homer to lead the Cincinnati Redlegs to a 3-2 win over the St. Louis Cardinals. Bell's blow came of Memo Luna, a lefthander the Cards bought from San Diego last winter for $100,000. Rookie Wally Moon drove in both of the Redleg's runs with a single.

Gene Conley and Ray Crone gave up only one hit as the Milwaukee Braves hammered Atlanta 11-0. The lone safety was struck by Nat Peeples, the Southern Association's first Negro player. Ed Mathews homered for the Braves.

Wings Seek Vital Win

(By The Associated Press)

The Detroit Red Wings, who had little trouble winning their sixth straight National Hockey League championship this season, meet the surprising Toronto Maple Leafs in the third game of their best-of-seven Stanley Cup series tonight with a "perk up or else" ultimatum staring them in the face.

The Wings soundly trounced the Leafs 5-0 in their first get-together Tuesday night, but their 3-1 defeat on Thursday brought forth an angry outburst from General Manager Jack Adams.

"Thursday's game was our worst playoff game in several years," Adams said yesterday. "If this team doesn't come through in this series against an opponent which is no great outfit, I'm going to make plenty of changes next season."

In the other cup semi-finals, the Montreal Canadiens, holding a 2-0 advantage over Boston, take on the Bruins tomorrow night in the hub. The powerful Canadiens routed Lynn Patrick's charges 8-1 Thursday as Dickie Moore set a playoff record by collecting six points.

Joe Spadafora set a new high single mark of 258 and tripled 647 in the Classic League last night. The big game came in third turn after he had fired 231 and 158.

After last night's firing the R&F Dress squad leads Central Hudson by 1½ games in the team race.

Joe Ausanio was runnerup with 245-597 and Joe Wolf socked 206-566. Bob Jones toppled 560, Don Sickler 209-557, Austin Hitchcock 203-208-554, Sy Markowitz 223-551, Jack Sheinvold 550.

Other scoring leaders included Bud Greenberg 206-209-546, Ken Powell 227-542, Harold Broskie 228-542, Chris Robinson 541, Jake Chichelsky 539, John Haulenbeek 531, Ed Dasher 528, Warren Wood 208-520, Jim Cameron 210-519, M. Corrigan 512, Bill Mac Elveen 511, Joe Messinger 511, George Schick 506.

Sickler's Classy Sienians Eliminate Middletown Five, 95-82

Jaspers' Carroll Leads Scoring Spree With 27

Off what they showed last night in checking a powerful Middletown Field Artillery combine, Coach Frank Koenig's Sickler Delivery Siena stars are the team to beat in the Kingston tournament.

The Siena cagers (with a sprinkling of locals, too) got heavy-handed assistance from Tom Carroll of last year's Manhattan College varsity to trounce the Orange county kingpins, 95-82.

In the companion piece, the Pine Plains Bombardiers carved out a slice of the favorite's role for themselves by disposing of the tenacious Fishkill A.C., 83-70.

There is no action scheduled tonight. Play resumes Tuesday with Lincoln Park Inn, of Kingston, (sans Ronnie Scheffel) meeting Jack McAuley's of Poughkeepsie at 7:30 p. m. Monticello Chiefs and Hudson Knights of Columbus are carded at 8:30.

Carroll Hits 27

Chunky Tom Carroll, who is built according to wrestling standards, gave a dazzling exhibition of set shooting with 27 points for Sickler's. When he wasn't harrassing the Middletown defenses, Jam Howard (17) and Jim Walsh (19) were taking up the slack.

Jack Curry, 6 foot 5 former Siena captain, was superb off the backboards and contributed 14 points. Koenig used the big guns most of the way. When he decided to spell the starters for a few minutes, the local talent moved in and Middletown quickly ran up 10 points.

The final score was deceptive. The Sicklers gave you the impression they could pour it on whenever the situation demanded.

Slim Crowd Watches

It was regrettable that such a tremendous exhibition of outside and set shooting had to be wasted before such a meagre crowd. Maybe by the time the quarter finals get under way, word will get around that there's a terrific basketball tournament in progress at the municipal auditorium.

The Deliverymen led 20-19 at the quarter and 44-36 at halftime. The second half moved at a brisk pace until late in the third period when Middletown's Dave Lattimer moved his club to within four points, 61-57.

It was here that Mr. Carroll proved his class. First he drilled a two-hand set from outside the circle. Walsh hit with another on a driving layup and Carroll followed with two more quickies to bust the game wide open.

The Middies had two standout performers in Dave Lattimer, who didn't suffer a bit in comparison with the Siena collegians, and Dave Wittman, who specializes in fall-away long range baskets.

Lattimer racked up 27 points to tie Carroll for individual honors and shaped as one of the best players in the tournament. Wittman hit for 17, mostly on long sets.

Bombardiers Click

Pine Plains' three top performers—Don Myers, Harry Hahn and Johnny Cottrill—accounted for 57 points as the Bombardiers eliminated Fishkill A.C., 83-70. It was a fairly even battle until Pine Plains broke loose with a 24-point fourth period. They led 44-33 at the half.

Myers and Hahn poured in 21 points apiece and Cottrill rimmed 15. Johnny Hubble, a 30-point performer, was limited to 17 this time and got most of them late in the game. Dave Beverly topped the Fishkill outfit with 19.

Golf History May Repeat In Southland

Wilmington, N. C., March 27 (AP)—Nine years ago golfing history was made in North Carolina when two amateurs won successive major open tournaments.

Cary Middlecoff, now a professional, started the uprising by winning the North and South Open at Pinehurst as Ben Hogan was forced to settle for second place. The following week at Durham, Frank Stranahan completed a Tar Heel sweep for the simon pures by finishing first ahead of Porky Oliver.

The stage was set for another performance along those lines as the $10,000 Azalea Open headed into its second round today. Arnold Palmer, Wake Forest College star from Latrobe, Pa., held a one-stroke lead over Jimmy Turnesa, Briarcliff, N. Y., after a rain-spattered opening round.

Palmer, back in school after a Coast Guard hitch, played a tremendous round. His 33-32—65 was seven under par for the 6,652-yard Cape Fear Country Club course and only one stroke over the tournament record set five years ago by Paul O'Leary.

Turnesa, with six birdies and 12 pars, had a neat 66 for second place. In all, 35 players were under par and 13 more hit for 72 on the nose.

Ray Houghtaling, J. Sweeney Share Everybody Highs

Ray Houghtaling and John Sweeney shared honors in last night's Everybody's League tenpin action at the Central Recs.

Jones-Cab Showdown At Dutchess Recs

The eyes of the mid-Hudson bowling world will be turned toward the Dutchess Recreation in Poughkeepsie tonight (8 p. m.) where Jones Dairy meets the Veteran Cabs in a match that is expected to determine the Hudson Valley League championship.

Jones Dairy leads by 1½ games going into the fray and must win at least one game to protect its pennant hopes.

New York Pinmen Scramble Board In ABC Tourney

Seattle, March 27 (AP)—Open team division standings underwent considerable revision last night at the conclusion of the first week of the American Bowling Congress. Four new teams added their names to the fast changing roster of the top 10.

The best performance of the four was by the Van Wie Chevrolets, the Baldwinsville, N. Y., entry which was expected to make a good showing. The New Yorkers rolled games of 891, 965 and 1026 for a 2882 series that gave them fourth place.

Another team that lived up to expectations was the Wolverine Expressmen of Muskegon, Mich. They rolled games of 1021, 881 and 912 for a 2814 total and sixth place on the ladder.

The other newcomers were Union Plumbing of Boise, Idaho, whose 2794 rated it an eighth place berth and the Warren Air Force Base five from Cheyenne, Wyo., new occupants of tenth position with a 2778 score.

In other action yesterday, Loren Tilton of Seattle and Ray Wymer, Salamanca, N. Y., moved into fourth and fifth places in the singles standings by rolling games of 632 and 629, respectively.

The lone change in the doubles standings occurred when Marsh Ramsby and Rod Rogers of Portland, Ore., took fourth with a 1224 total.

The day's scores also produced some changes in the all-events ratings. Ramsby gained fourth place on his 582 team score, 658 doubles and 555 singles for a total of 1795.

Coach Walter S. Van Wagenen had to dip deep into the Jayvee ranks to come up with a Woodstock "Varsity" squad to confront Jack Doyle's Wreckers last night at the school gym.

If you'll excuse the play on words, Doyle's YMCA cagers wrecked the Vs, 81-71, with a big first quarter that produced a 29-11 lead. It was nolo contendere after that.

The loss was the fifth in 23 starts for the Vs and for the first time this season they dropped two straight. Haber's Grill upended them last week.

East Scores 24

Big Bill East sparked the Wreckers with 24 points and "Champ" Holstein hooped 18. High man for Woodstock was Billy Waterous with 20 points. Big Bill Kleine scored 17 and Ward Dunham 14. Lew Murkoff doubled with 10 for the Workers.

The boxscore:

Bubi Scholz Is No Cerdan But He'll Do

New York, March 27 (AP)—Gustav (Bubi) Scholz is no Marcel Cerdan but he'll do.

The 23-year-old unbeaten German middleweight, latest of a horde of foreign fighters to invade the United States in the past year, made his American debut a winning one last night by gaining a unanimous 10-round decision over spunky Al Andrews of Superior, Wis.

A southpaw socker, the former Berlin cook floored the 23-year-old ex-GI in the fifth round with a left to the jaw and and rocked powerless Al in the seventh and tenth rounds, with a rapid-fire bombardment. Andrews jumped up at one in the fifth but had to take the mandatory eight count. The officials' votes for Scholz were 6-3-1, 6-3-1, and 7-2-1. The Associated Press had it 6-3-1.

Although it was a cleancut win, the 1-3 favored Scholz was disappointed over his showing.

Bubi Not Satisfied

"It was one of the worst fights I ever made," he said in his dressing room in Madison Square Garden. "I was tired and listless because I am not acclimated. In Europe it was 5 a. m. (it was 11 p. m., EST here) and I felt like I wanted to sleep. When I am acclimated, I will do much better."

Most observers felt that Bubi made a fine debut considering the circumstances. He had been plagued with legal troubles and was fighting under different rules than in Europe.

"He's a fine fighter," said Harry Markson, managing director of the International Boxing Club. "He's one of the best to come here since the war. After he gets acclimated he'll be able to hold his own with the best middleweights in the world."

Babe Zaharias Leads Peach Blossom Golf

Spartanburg, S. C., March 27 (AP)—The president of the Ladies Professional Golfers Assn., was in charge today as the second round of the Peach Blossom-Betsy Rawls golf tournament opened.

Babe Zaharias of Tampa, Fla., who heads the touring pros, led the field by three strokes. She toured the Spartanburg Country Club course in par 71 as the 54-hole event opened yesterday.

Her performance was three strokes better than that of defending champion Louise Suggs, of Atlanta, Ga., and Marlene Bauer of Sarasota, Fla.

Improved Nat Pitching Accounts For Five-Game Winning Streak

By BEN OLAN
(Associated Press Sportswriter)

It was only a week ago that Manager Bucky Harris of the Washington Senators said, "We won't look good until our pitchers round into form."

That not-too-startling prediction looked mighty good today as the Senators found themselves the proud possessors of a five-game winning streak, due largely to the improved efforts of their mound corps.

The Nats have come a long way since they opened their exhibition schedule with nine straight setbacks. Now that their pitchers are clicking, they look more and more like a club that will give the other American League teams a lot of trouble this season.

Yesterday, righthanders Frank Shea and Sonny Dixon limited the Boston Red Sox to only seven hits as Washington pounded out a convincing 10-1 victory.

First Stringers Click

In the last four games, the Nats' moundsmen have allowed the opposition only six runs. More important, Shea, Bob Porterfield, Connie Marrero and Chuck Stobbs, the pitchers Harris is counting on most, have been effective, to say the least.

In fact, the Boston tally yesterday was slightly tainted. It came as a result of a Washington error and a pop fly double to left by Ted Lepcio. The Senators more than made up for it, jumping on lefty Bill Henry for six runs in the third inning. Tony Roig's bases loaded triple was the big blow in this frame and Mickey Vernon's second of three hits in the fourth added another.

The New York Yankees, seemingly getting ready in earnest for coming American League pennant race, defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers, their perennial October victims 8-4 as they exploded for three homers, two doubles and a pair of triples. Gil McDougald, Yogi Berra and Gene Woodling hit for the circuit. Don Newcombe and Joe Black were the victims of the Yankee onslaught.

Phil Rookies Click

Veteran Jim Konstanty and rookie Paul Penson combined to stop the Detroit Tigers with five singles and give the Philadelphia Phillies a 6-2 triumph. Konstanty, the National League's most valuable player in 1950, yielded four hits in the six innings he worked. Granny Hamner and Stan Jok hit homers for the Phillies.

Outfielder Gus Bell walloped an eighth inning two-run homer to lead the Cincinnati Redlegs to a 3-2 win over the St. Louis Cardinals. Bell's blow came of Memo Luna, a lefthander the Cards bought from San Diego last winter for $100,000. Rookie Wally Moon drove in both of the Redleg's runs with a single.

Gene Conley and Ray Crone gave up only one hit as the Milwaukee Braves hammered Atlanta 11-0. The lone safety was struck by Nat Peeples, the Southern Association's first Negro player. Ed Mathews homered for the Braves.

Maroons Have Individual Aces But Lack Depth

Kingston High track workouts have begun under the direction of Coach W. Warren Kias.

Twelve lettermen should give the Maroons a fair team, but Coach Kias was gloomy in his predictions for the coming season.

"We're rebuilding," he said. "A lot will depend on our new prospects."

The brightest spot in the local track picture is the sprint relay team. All four men who combined for a third place in the state meet last season are returning.

They are the only returnees with championship experience, however.

Little improvement can be expected on last year's weak team, according to Coach Kias. This slump has come after one of the most successful eras in Kingston track history. Under Coach Kias' tutelage, the Maroons swept to three consecutive league titles.

The coach, now in his 18th year as Kingston track mentor, pointed out that this year's squad has good individual performers. It's depth that we lack," he said.

Webster Handerson, Charley Johnson, Bucky Miller and Charles Coutant, the four members of the DUSO championship sprint relay team, comprise the backbone of the squad. All four of these boys are two-year lettermen.

Coutant also doubles in the hurdles with Charles Murphy. Handerson, Johnson and Miller handle the 100 and 220-yard dash chores for the Maroons.

The middle distances appear weak with only one of last year's lettermen, Robert Bailey, returning. Roger Billings, a letterman in 1952 who missed the '53 season, will aid the squad in those distances.

Coach Kias said Bailey will run the 880, while Billings might be switched to the 440. Both men won their letters in the half-mile.

John Browne is the only letterman miler on the squad although Coach Kias said he had hope that squadman Robert Campbell may develop this season.

Other squadmen in the track events are Don Ashdown, Lawrence Reer, William Mergandahl and Dick Richards.

Prospects in the field events, coached by Bill Hurley, appear as slim as those in track, with only a handful of lettermen available.

Bill Engle and Leroy Sheffer are the weightmen on whom Coach Hurley must depend. Both throw the shot, while Engle will double in the discus event this year.

Jerry Sauers is a returning letterman in the javelin throw. Sauers is also a broad jump prospect with Miller and Handerson.

Fred Jackson is Coach Hurley's lone high jump letterman, and Ronald Dittus is the only returning pole vaulter.

The first meet for the squad this year will be a triangular affair here on May 7 with Port Jervis and Monticello. The DUSO League meet is scheduled for May 29 but the site is undecided. The Section Nine meet is set for June 5.

Workouts are still being carried on indoors, according to Coach Kias. The first outdoor practice is still a few days away, depending on the weather.

For the second year the outlook for track at Kingston High is poor, but a rebuilding job is being carried on. Its success will depend largely upon the amount of interest shown by younger students.

Before Kingston track prospects can turn upward, there must be a strong revival of interest, according to Coach Kias.

Charlotte Lapine Rolls 622 Triple in Classic

CHARLOTTE LAPINE

Charlotte Lapine is winding up the 1953-54 bowling season with a burst of power.

The old pro found the range for 622 on alleys 9 and 10 in the Woman's Classic last night at the Bowlodrome. Her solos 221-209-192 added up to a sparkling 622 which led a brisk-scoring session of the distaff league.

Trailing Mrs. Lapine was the perennial Queen, Rose Schatzel, with 184-182-227 for 593. Flo Beichert knocked off another nice series, with 205-189-136 for 530.

The results:

Unemployment Figure Decreases in 32 States

Washington, March 27 (AP)—The Bureau of Employment Security reports a decline in unemployment—the number of those newly out of jobs going down in 32 states and the District of Columbia, increasing only in 16 states.

The government report made public yesterday, covering the week ended March 13, said the number of insured unemployed declined for a second straight week to 2,187,100.

At the Feb. 27 peak, the total was 2,213,959.

These figures do not include all the unemployed, since not all workers are covered by federal unemployment insurance.

The bureau said its state reports showed no large scale layoffs the week of March 20, but scattered layoffs mixed with some recalls.

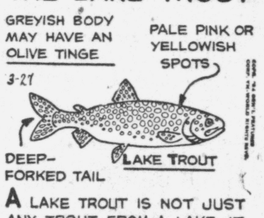

Age Wins Victory

Charleston, W. Va. (AP)—When a man from an isolated section of the county came in to pay his taxes, he put down two of the "blanket" style $20 bills which the government took out of circulation back in 1933. The young fellow behind the cashier's window, a mere lad of 25 or so, eyed the bills skeptically. Called in for consultation, Chief Deputy Ansel Umberger said: "Nothing wrong with those notes, they're just a little aged," and swept them into the till. The taxpayer triumphantly pocketed his receipt and swaggered away.

Fiore-Scortichini Tonight's TV Bout

Syracuse, March 27 (AP)—Carmine Fiore, who likes to rush in and slug, and tricky Italo Scortichini, a cautious type, battle tonight in a 10-round fight that may make or break Fiore as a welterweight contender.

The fight contract calls for a 153-pound limit, heavy for Fiore and a bit light for the Italian welterweight champ who has been fighting in this country as a middleweight.

Both hope for a crack at Carmen Basilio of Canastota, number one contender for Kid Gavilan's welterweight title.

Fiore hasn't been beaten since he lost to Basilio here nearly a year ago. His recent victims include Danny (Bang Bang) Womber, who upset Gavilan in a non-title fight here last year.

Tonight's fight will be televised nationally (9 p. m., ABC).

Spadafora Hits 258-647 In Ferraro Classic Loop

Joe Spadafora set a new high single mark of 258 and tripled 647 in the Classic League last night. The big game came in third turn after he had fired 231 and 158.

Joe Ausanio was runnerup with 245-597 and Joe Wolf socked 206-566. Bob Jones toppled 560, Don Sickler 209-557, Austin Hitchcock 203-208-554, Sy Markowitz 223-551, Jack Sheinvold 550.

Other scoring leaders included Bud Greenberg 206-209-546, Ken Powell 227-542, Harbld Broskie 228-542, Chris Robinson 541, Jake Chichelsky 539, John Haulenbeek 531, Ed Dasher 528, Warren Wood 208-520, Jim Cameron 210-519, M. Corrigan 512, Bill Mac Elveen 511, Joe Messinger 511, George Schick 506.

Team results:

R&F Dress Mfg. 3, Greco Bros. 0; Central Hudson 2, Ballantine 1; Newcombe Oil 2, Jo-Al's 1; Esso 2, Colonial Cabinets 1.

Wings Seek Vital Win

(By The Associated Press)

The Detroit Red Wings, who had little trouble winning their sixth straight National Hockey League championship this season, meet the surprising Toronto Maple Leafs in the third game of their best-of-seven Stanley Cup series tonight with a "perk up or else" ultimatum staring them in the face.

The Wings soundly trounced the Leafs 5-0 in their first get-together Tuesday night, but their 3-1 defeat on Thursday brought forth an angry outburst from General Manager Jack Adams.

"Thursday's game was our worst playoff game in several years," Adams said yesterday. "If this team doesn't come through in this series against an opponent which is no great outfit, I'm going to make plenty of changes next season."

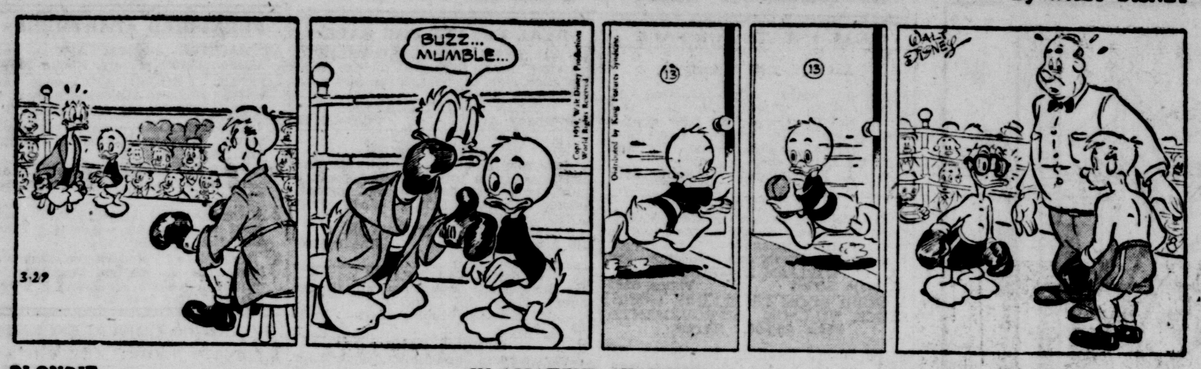

In the other cup semi-finals, the Montreal Canadiens, holding a 2-0 advantage over Boston, take on the Bruins tomorrow night in the hub. The powerful Canadiens routed Lynn Patrick's charges 8-1 Thursday as Dickie Moore set a playoff record by collecting six points.

Restrictions Relaxed On Child Farmers

Albany, March 27 (AP)—Two bills relaxing restrictions against employing children on farms were signed by Gov. Dewey.

One specified that permits issued by schools to permit pupils to work on farms should carry no conditions except a ban on work in connection with a factory.

The other would exempt farm workers from age and sex restrictions imposed by the state's labor law. The law closes certain work to women and children.

Other measures Dewey signed included bills that:

Allow Saratoga county to impose a 15 per cent tax on admissions to Saratoga Raceway and the flat track.

Authorize, for a county judge holding court in another county, county, payment of $40 a day, instead of $30, plus expenses.

Provide that if a state police superintendent spends 10 years in the ranks he may return, after ending service as superintendent, to his old grade.

Allow town boards to regulate the use of underwater breathing devices.

Plane Injuries Fatal

Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, March 27 (AP)—Col. C. Robinson, a veteran American Negro aviator who flew for Ethiopia for several years, died today from injuries received in a plane crash two weeks ago. Robinson attended Tuckegee Institute in Alabama and later was a flying instructor there.

Receives Award for Display

Mt. Tremper

Mt. Tremper, March 26 — At their meeting Monday night, members of Mt. Tremper Grange voted to paint the church hall. Ernest Gardner was appointed to purchase the paint and it is hoped that the project will get underway soon. The Patrons also voted to enter the National Grange Community Service Contest.

Mrs. Pratt Boice of Lake Katrine was a recent visitor here. She is the former Miss Harriet Stone of Wittenberg and she reminisced about her childhood and her friends in this area.

The Rev. William Galvin has announced that a profit of $126 was realized from the recent entertainment and card party for the benefit of St. Francis de Sales Parish.

The Phoenicia volunteeer firemen were called to fight a brush fire across from the O'Neil boardinghouse in Lanesville about noon Tuesday. The blaze was quickly extinguished.

Members of the Onteora P-TA met in the Central School library Tuesday night to form a spelling team. Students at the school recently challenged the adults to determine the better spellers. As a result, an old-fashioned spelling bee will be held at Onteora on Wednesday night, April 28. Superintendent of Schools Reginald R. Bennett conducted a written examination at Tuesday night's meeting. The following were selected to be on the P-TA team: Mrs. Rose Holmstock, Mrs. Adele Sparber, Mrs. Frances Leyman, Mrs. Florence Epstein, Mrs. Marianne Umhey, Mrs. Charlotte Carle, Mrs. Edna Hoyt, Mrs. Mary Hansen, Mrs. Laura Pearson and Herbert Epstein. Team alternates will be Mrs. Lenore Allen, Mrs. Janice Frankle and Mrs. Joan Shultis.

David Tooker, new co-owner of the Moulin Rouge Restaurant, is a former resident of the Flatbush section of Brooklyn. He was a bookkeeper there but has learned the art of cooking and baking since coming to Mt. Tremper. He and Mrs. Tooker and their three children occupy an apartment above the restaurant.

The Huguenot Grange Dartball Teams of New Paltz played the Mt. Tremper Grange teams at the Grange Hall Tuesday night. Both local teams won all three games in the final series of the 1953-1954 season. It was a "home run" night with some members scoring several four-baggers each. The area ladies' team has now won 17 out of 24 games played in the second half in the Ulster County Grange Dartball League.

Mrs. Robert Hudler is recovering from an eye infection.

The annual Catholic Charities drive is now underway in this vicinity. The Rev. William Galvin will personally call on the families of his parish within the next few weeks. The Catholic Charities organization gives aid to all races, nationalities and creeds and its functions are many and varied. Non-Catholics wishing to donate to this worthy cause may do so by sending their contributions to Catholic Charities, in care of St. Francis de Sales Rectory, Phoenicia.

Man Held for Jury On Larceny Charge

Harold Payne, 32, who gave his address as Kingston, Friday was held for Grand Jury action in Albany after he had waived examination in Police court on a charge of first degree grand larceny.

He was arrested by Detectives James Purcell and Thomas Tansey on complaint of Edward Rothbard, president of Rothbard's Inc., of 107 Dongan avenue, Albany, who alleged Payne took $697.50 in collection money on July 16, 1953, while employed by the firm.

Rothbard told police Payne was employed as a truck driver and the money represented COD collections Payne had made in the Hudson area.

Members of the British Grenadier Guards must be at least six feet two inches in height.

Market Weathers

inability of the railroads to advance. Some observers feel that the backwardness of the railroads weakened the whole list.

The board of directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad at their March meeting this week took no dividend action as they did last March. That shook the market for a time.

Another blow was the statement by President Eisenhower that he didn't think that a slam-bang emergency anti-recession program was needed right now. Those who had counted upon government economic props were disappointed.

Monday's market held unchanged as measured by the Associated Press average of 60 stocks at $116.70; the high for the year and the best level of the past 24 years.

Big Blow Tuesday

The big blow came on Tuesday with the AP average taking the second heaviest beating of the year.

Only faint buying support appeared Wednesday, but the drop diminished in severity.

Thursday's market kept right on going down until late in the day when a recovery started.

That recovery kept right on moving on Friday with scarcely a pause, but the volume was down to the lowest level of the week.

Caution Flags Up

There was a lot for the constructive element in Wall street to be happy about, but the caution flags still are flying.

The five most active issues this week on the New York stock exchange were:

Curtiss-Wright up ½ at 9⅞ on 218,400 shares; RKO Pictures unchanged at 5⅞; Pennsylvania Railroad off 1⅛ at 16⅛; Lockheed Aircraft up ½ at 35⅛, and New York Central off ⅜ at 23½.

The five most active issues this week on the American Stock Exchange were:

Canada Southern Oils up ⅛ at 10½ on 81,600 shares; Equity Corp. up ⅛ at 2⅝; Pantepec Oil up ⅛ at 5⅜; Burma Mines unchanged at 7/16, and Pacific Petroleums, up ⅛ at 12.

That's His Number

Knoxville, Tenn. (AP)—Robert Brody was at the Knox county courthouse seeking a license number for his car "with a lot of 13s in it." He explained: "I was inducted in the Army on Friday, the 13th, assigned to the 13th Infantry, am home on a 13-day leave and have to report back to the base on the 13th of the month. Figured I might as well get a license number to keep the luck up."

High Falls Woman Named Secretary By Area Realtors

Miss Marguerite M. Quick of High Falls was elected corresponding secretary at a meeting of the Ulster County Real Estate Board held Thursday night at the Governor Clinton Hotel. The office is a new one created because of the increased activity of the board.

New members accepted at the meeting were City Judge Raymond Mino, Special City Judge Harry Gold, and the Homeseekers Savings and Loan Association. Several other applications for membership were referred to committee for action.

Harold E. Macholdt, state director for the local board, reported on a meeting of the directors held in New York February 10, and George W. Moore announced plans for the Lower Hudson Valley District Conference to be held at Bear Mountain Inn April 27. Top speakers in their field will discuss topics including the expected effects of completion of the New York State Thruway on area real estate.

Lawrence J. MacAvery, president of the local board, presided at the well-attended meeting.

There were about 1,553,000 marriages in the United States in 1953.

High Falls

High Falls, March 27—Reformed Church — Regular morning worship service at 9:45 with Ray Adelburg of New Brunswick Seminary preaching. Sunday school will meet at 9 with Mrs. Dewitt Hasbrouck as superintendent.

St. John's Episcopal Church—Morning worship service at 10:15 preceded by Sunday school at 9:15.

George Williams is ill at his home here. His niece, Miss Mary Roosa of Portland, Me., is spending a few days with the Williams family. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Carmen of St. Remy called Wednesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Williams and son, Warren Jr. and Mrs. George Hart and Mrs. Paul Hettinger of Albany, are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Williams being called here by the illness of their brother, George.

Callers at Hillcrest this week include Mr. and Mrs. Harry Krom of St. Remy and Mrs. Bessie DuBois and Miss Maude Richards of New Paltz.

Donna Marie and Eli Sutton Jr. of Kerhonkson are spending a few days with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Sutton due to the sudden illness of their maternal grandfather.

Mr. and Mrs. Abram Yarvis have received the announcement of the birth of a great-granddaughter, Rivy Adler March 6. The parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Adler of Brooklyn. Mrs. Adler is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Yarvis.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Beach and son, Lee, were members of the group from Kingston High School attending the annual Farm and Home Week program at Cornell University the first part of this week. Silas Countryman and Arthur Wallevik, alumni of High Falls Elementary School as well as Lee Beach also attended.

Mr. and Mrs. P. T. Farrell of Irvington, N. J., were here and stayed with Miss Patricia Beach in the absence of her parents.

Mrs. LeRoy Krom, Mrs. Bessie K. Eastman of this place and Raymond Krom of Hyde Park attended the capping exercises Thursday night at Kingston Hospital. They were guests of Miss Gloria Lounsbery, a member of the nursing class which was capped. Mrs. Lester Countryman also attended as the guest of her niece, Miss Ann Oakley of Napanoch.

Rebels Ignore All

some within 200 yards of the barbed wire barricades defending the fortress—and killed 42 Vietminh soldiers.

In the continuing battle against Vietminh infiltration in the vital Red river delta around Hanoi, the French reported today killing 116 rebels and capturing 110 others. They also said they rounded up 175 suspected Vietminh supporters in the sweep through the vicinity of Sontay, 25 miles north of Hanoi.

New Bargaining

York and New Jersey.

The third move would be against tugboat strikers. The shippers announced they would file an unfair labor practice charge against the ILA tugboat division, claiming it was conducting an illegal sympathy strike.

The tugboats fell in line behind the strikers after an ILA picket boat cruised the harbor to call the crews off their jobs.

When told of the various injunctions the shippers planned to seek in effort to end the strike Bradley had only one comment: "My men won't work without a contract."

Acts in Dispute

Arthur Leff, National Labor Relations Board examiner, poses in his office in Washington, March 26, after he recommended setting aside the bargaining rights election apparently won by the International Longshoremen's Association on the New York waterfront. He did so on the grounds that the independent union was responsible for voting day violence and intimidation. (AP Wirephoto).

LEGAL NOTICE

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK
To the Sheriff of the County of Ulster GREETING:

Whereas, a Term of the County Court of the County of Ulster is to be held at the Court House, in the City of Kingston, N. Y., on the 5th day of April, 1954.

You are hereby commanded to summon the several persons who shall have been drawn in said County of Ulster pursuant to law to serve as Grand Jurors and Trial Jurors at said County Court, to appear thereat.

You are commanded to bring before the said Court all prisoners then being in the Jail of said County, together with all process and proceedings in any way concerning them in your hands as such Sheriff.

You are commanded to make proclamation, in the manner prescribed by Section 222-c of the Code of Criminal Procedure, notifying all persons bound to appear at the said Court by recognizance or otherwise, to appear thereat, and requiring all Justices of the Peace, Coroners and other Officers who have taken any recognizance for the appearance of any person at such Court, or who shall have taken any inquisition of any prisoner or witness, to return any recognizance, inquisitions and examinations to the said Court at the opening thereof, on the first day of its sitting.

WITNESS, Hon. John M. Cashin, County Judge of Ulster County, at the Court House in the City of Kingston, this 1st day of March, in the year one thousand nine hundred and fifty-four.

HOWARD C. ST. JOHN
District Attorney of the County of Ulster.

In pursuance to the above precept, I hereby make Proclamation that a term of the County Court of Ulster County and Jail deliverance will be held at the Court House in Kingston, in and for the County of Ulster on the 5th day of April at 2:00 o'clock in the afternoon of that day; and all persons who will prosecute against persons confined in the jail of said County are required to be then and there present, to proceed as may be just; and all persons bound to appear at the said Court by recognizance or otherwise, are required to appear thereat; and all Justices of the Peace, Coroners or other officers who may have taken any recognizance for the appearance of any person at the said Court. Or who may have taken any inquisition or the examination of any prisoner or witness, are required to return such recognizance, inquisition and examination to the said Court, at the opening thereof on the first day of the sitting thereof and to be then and there present, with their rolls and records, indictments and remembrances to do those things which to their offices pertain.

Restrictions Relaxed On Child Farmers

Albany, March 27 (AP)—Two bills relaxing restrictions against employing children on farms were signed by Gov. Dewey.

One specified that permits issued by schools to permit pupils to work on farms should carry no conditions except a ban on work in connection with a factory.

The other would exempt farm workers from age and sex restrictions imposed by the state's labor law. The law closes certain work to women and children.

Other measures Dewey signed included bills that:

Allow Saratoga county to impose a 15 per cent tax on admissions to Saratoga Raceway and the flat track.

Authorize, for a county judge holding court in another county, county, payment of $40 a day, instead of $30, plus expenses.

Provide that if a state police superintendent spends 10 years in the ranks he may return, after ending service as superintendent, to his old grade.

Allow town boards to regulate the use of underwater breathing devices.

Plane Injuries Fatal

Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, March 27 (AP)—Col. C. Robinson, a veteran American Negro aviator who flew for Ethiopia for several years, died today from injuries received in a plane crash two weeks ago. Robinson attended Tuckegee Institute in Alabama and later was a flying instructor there.

Receives Award for Display

Russell Howard, manager of the Smith Avenue Bull Market, receives his award in the F.F.V. country-wide cookie display contest from Carl Greenhouse, of A. Greenhouse, Inc., distributors of the cookies and crackers in this area. Howard received the third national prize for a recent mass display of F.F.V. items. (Freeman photo).

Mt. Tremper

Mt. Tremper, March 26 — At their meeting Monday night, members of Mt. Tremper Grange voted to paint the church hall. Ernest Gardner was appointed to purchase the paint and it is hoped that the project will get underway soon. The Patrons also voted to enter the National Grange Community Service Contest.

Mrs. Pratt Boice of Lake Katrine was a recent visitor here. She is the former Miss Harriet Stone of Wittenberg and she reminisced about her childhood and her friends in this area.

The Rev. William Galvin has announced that a profit of $126 was realized from the recent entertainment and card party for the benefit of St. Francis de Sales Parish.

The Phoenicia volunteeer firemen were called to fight a brush fire across from the O'Neil boardinghouse in Lanesville about noon Tuesday. The blaze was quickly extinguished.

Members of the Onteora P-TA met in the Central School library Tuesday night to form a spelling team. Students at the school recently challenged the adults to determine the better spellers. As a result, an old-fashioned spelling bee will be held at Onteora on Wednesday night, April 28. Superintendent of Schools Reginald R. Bennett conducted a written examination at Tuesday night's meeting. The following were selected to be on the P-TA team: Mrs. Rose Holmstock, Mrs. Adele Sparber, Mrs. Frances Leyman, Mrs. Florence Epstein, Mrs. Marianne Umhey, Mrs. Charlotte Carle, Mrs. Edna Hoyt, Mrs. Mary Hansen, Mrs. Laura Pearson and Herbert Epstein. Team alternates will be Mrs. Lenore Allen. Mrs. Janice Frankle and Mrs. Joan Shultis.

David Tooker, new co-owner of the Moulin Rouge Restaurant, is a former resident of the Flatbush section of Brooklyn. He was a bookkeeper there but has learned the art of cooking and baking since coming to Mt. Tremper. He and Mrs. Tooker and their three children occupy an apartment above the restaurant.

The Huguenot Grange Dartball Teams of New Paltz played the Mt. Tremper Grange teams at the Grange Hall Tuesday night. Both local teams won all three games in the final series of the 1953-1954 season. It was a "home run" night with some members scoring several four-baggers each. The area ladies' team has now won 17 out of 24 games played in the second half in the Ulster County Grange Dartball League.

Mrs. Robert Hudler is recovering from an eye infection.

The annual Catholic Charities drive is now underway in this vicinity. The Rev. William Galvin will personally call on the families of his parish within the next few weeks. The Catholic Charities organization gives aid to all races, nationalities and creeds and its functions are many and varied. Non-Catholics wishing to donate to this worthy cause may do so by sending their contributions to Catholic Charities, in care of St. Francis de Sales Rectory, Phoenicia.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Market Weathers

inability of the railroads to advance. Some observers feel that the backwardness of the railroads weakened the whole list.

The board of directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad at their March meeting this week took no dividend action as they did last March. That shook the market for a time.

Another blow was the statement by President Eisenhower that he didn't think that a slambang emergency anti-recession program was needed right now. Those who had counted upon government economic props were disappointed.

Monday's market held unchanged as measured by the Associated Press average of 60 stocks at $116.70; the high for the year and the best level of the past 24 years.

Big Blow Tuesday

The big blow came on Tuesday with the AP average taking the second heaviest beating of the year.

Only faint buying support appeared Wednesday, but the drop diminished in severity.

Thursday's market kept right on going down until late in the day when a recovery started.

That recovery kept right on moving on Friday with scarcely a pause, but the volume was down to the lowest level of the week.

Caution Flags Up

There was a lot for the constructive element in Wall street to be happy about, but the caution flags still are flying.

The five most active issues this week on the New York stock exchange were:

Curtiss-Wright up ½ at 9⅞ on 218,400 shares; RKO Pictures unchanged at 5⅞; Pennsylvania Railroad off 1⅛ at 16⅛; Lockheed Aircraft up ½ at 35⅛, and New York Central off ⅜ at 23½.

The five most active issues this week on the American Stock Exchange were:

Canada Southern Oils up ⅛ at 10½ on 81,600 shares; Equity Corp. up ⅛ at 2⅝; Pantepec Oil up ½ at 5⅝; Burma Mines unchanged at 7/16, and Pacific Petroleums, up ⅛ at 12.

That's His Number

Knoxville, Tenn. (AP)—Robert Brody was at the Knox county courthouse seeking a license number for his car "with a lot of 13s in it." He explained: "I was inducted in the Army on Friday, the 13th, assigned to the 13th Infantry, am home on a 13-day leave and have to report back to the base on the 13th of the month. Figured I might as well get a license number to keep the luck up."

High Falls Woman Named Secretary By Area Realtors

Miss Marguerite M. Quick of High Falls was elected corresponding secretary at a meeting of the Ulster County Real Estate Board held Thursday night at the Governor Clinton Hotel. The office is a new one created because of the increased activity of the board.

New members accepted at the meeting were City Judge Raymond Mino, Special City Judge Harry Gold, and the Homeseekers Savings and Loan Association. Several other applications for membership were referred to committee for action.

Harold E. Macholdt, state director for the local board, reported on a meeting of the directors held in New York February 12, and George W. Moore announced plans for the Lower Hudson Valley District Conference to be held at Bear Mountain Inn April 27. Top speakers in their field will discuss topics including the expected effects of completion of the New York State Thruway on area real estate.

Lawrence J. MacAvery, president of the local board, presided at the well-attended meeting.

There were about 1,553,000 marriages in the United States in 1953.

George Williams is ill at his home here. His niece, Miss Mary Roosa of Portland, Me., is spending a few days with the Williams family. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Carmen of St. Remy called Wednesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Williams and son, Warren Jr. and Mrs. George Hart and Mrs. Paul Hettinger of Albany, are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Williams being called here by the illness of their brother, George.

Callers at Hillcrest this week include Mr. and Mrs. Harry Krom of St. Remy and Mrs. Bessie DuBois and Miss Maude Richards of New Paltz.

Donna Marie and Eli Sutton Jr. of Kerhonkson are spending a few days with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Sutton due to the sudden illness of their maternal grandfather.

Mr. and Mrs. Abram Yarvis have received the announcement of the birth of a great-granddaughter, Rivy Adler March 6. The parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Adler of Brooklyn. Mrs. Adler is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Yarvis.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Beach and son, Lee, were members of the group from Kingston High School attending the annual Farm and Home Week program at Cornell University the first part of this week. Silas Countryman and Arthur Wallevik, alumni of High Falls Elementary School as well as Lee Beach also attended.

Mr. and Mrs. P. T. Farrell of Irvington, N. J., were here and stayed with Miss Patricia Beach in the absence of her parents.

Mrs. LeRoy Krom, Mrs. Bessie K. Eastman of this place and Raymond Krom of Hyde Park attended the capping exercises Thursday night at Kingston Hospital. They were guests of Miss Gloria Lounsbery, a member of the nursing class which was capped. Mrs. Lester Countryman also attended as the guest of her niece, Miss Ann Oakley of Napanoch.

Napanoch

Napanoch, March 27—Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Hurd spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hurd in Stamford, Conn.

Fred Bunting of Buffalo visited his sister, Mrs. Benjamin West Monday.

Captain Barbara Firstel of Montgomery, Ala., visited Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hudson for a few days recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Westcott of Poughkeepsie were Tuesday callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Westcott.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Wright of Kingston spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wright.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lake of Hackensack, N. J., enjoyed last weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Russell Gobel.

Mrs. John Baker of Glenford and Miss Helena Clarwater of Kingston visited Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Thompson Wednesday.

There will be a covered dish social at St. Mark's Methodist Church March 31 after which the last quartely conference will be held.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lodenheim have returned to their home here from Miami Beach, Fla., where they have been spending their vacation.

Pvt. William Smith has been discharged from the army and has returned to his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith were Wednesday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Smith of Beacon.

Leslie Turk of Saugerties called on friends here Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Sutherland of Catskill were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Green, Sr., Sunday.

G. MacLeod of California has been spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. William Wilhelm.

Man Held for Jury On Larceny Charge

Harold Payne, 32, who gave his address as Kingston, Friday was held for Grand Jury action in Albany after he had waived examination in Police court on a charge of first degree grand larceny.

He was arrested by Detectives James Purcell and Thomas Tansey on complaint of Edward Rothbard, president of Rothbard's Inc., of 107 Dongan avenue, Albany, who alleged Payne took $697.50 in collection money on July 16, 1953, while employed by the firm.

Rothbard told police Payne was employed as a truck driver and the money represented COD collections Payne had made in the Hudson area.

Members of the British Grenadier Guards must be at least six feet two inches in height.

Rebels Ignore All

some within 200 yards of the barbed wire barricades defending the fortress—and killed 42 Vietminh soldiers.

In the continuing battle against Vietminh infiltration in the vital Red river delta around Hanoi, the French reported today killing 116 rebels and capturing 110 others. They also said they rounded up 175 suspected Vietminh supporters in the sweep through the vicinity of Sontay, 25 miles north of Hanoi.

New Bargaining

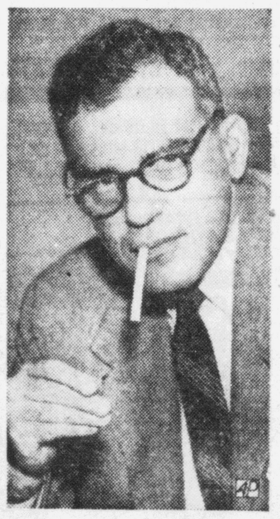

York and New Jersey.

The third move would be against tugboat strikers. The shippers announced they would file an unfair labor practice charge against the ILA tugboat division, claiming it was conducting an illegal sympathy strike.

The tugboats fell in line behind the strikers after an ILA picket boat cruised the harbor to call the crews off their jobs.

When told of the various injunctions the shippers planned to seek in effort to end the strike Bradley had only one comment: "My men won't work without a contract."

Arthur Leff, National Labor Relations Board examiner, poses in his office in Washington, March 26, after he recommended setting aside the bargaining rights election apparently won by the International Longshoremen's Association on the New York waterfront. He did so on the grounds that the independent union was responsible for voting day violence and intimidation. (AP Wirephoto).

To the Sheriff of the County of Ulster GREETING:

Whereas, a Term of the County Court of the County of Ulster is to be held at the Court House, in the City of Kingston, N. Y., on the 5th day of April, 1954.

You are hereby commanded to summon the several persons who shall have been drawn in said County of Ulster pursuant to law to serve as Grand Jurors and Trial Jurors at said County Court, to appear thereat.

You are commanded to bring before the said Court all prisoners then being in the Jail of said County, together with all process and proceedings in any way concerning them in your hands as such Sheriff.

You are commanded to make proclamation, in the manner prescribed by Section 222-c of the Code of Criminal Procedure, notifying all persons bound to appear at the said Court by recognizance or otherwise, to appear thereat, and requiring all Justices of the Peace, Coroners and other Officers who have taken any recognizance for the appearance of any person at such Court, or who shall have taken any inquisition of any prisoner or witness, to return any recognizance, inquisitions and examinations to the said Court at the opening thereof, on the first day of its sitting.

WITNESS, Hon. John M. Cashin, County Judge of Ulster County, at the Court House in the City of Kingston, this 1st day of March, in the year one thousand nine hundred and fifty-four.

HOWARD C. ST. JOHN
District Attorney of the County of Ulster.

In pursuance to the above precept, I hereby make Proclamation that a term of the County Court of Ulster County and Jail deliverance will be held at the Court House in Kingston, in and for the County of Ulster on the 5th day of April at 2:00 o'clock in the afternoon of that day; and all persons who will prosecute against persons confined in the Jail of said County are required to be then and there present, to proceed as may be just; and all persons bound to appear at the said Court by recognizance or otherwise, are required to appear thereat; and all Justices of the Peace, Coroners or other officers who may have taken any recognizance for the appearance of any person at the said Court, Or who may have taken any inquisition or the examination of any prisoner or witness, are required to return such recognizance, inquisition and examination to the said Court, at the opening thereof on the first day of the sitting thereof and to be then and there present, with their rolls and records, indictments and remembrances to do those things which to their offices pertain.

Dated: City of Kingston, March 5, 1954.

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS OF HOW TO GET ALONG WITH PEOPLE

1—Keep skid chains on your tongue; always say less than you think. Cultivate a low, persuasive voice. How you say it often counts more than what you say.

2—Make promises sparingly and keep them faithfully, no matter what it costs you.

3—Never let an opportunity pass to say a kind and encouraging thing to or about somebody. Praise good work done, regardless of who did it. If criticism is needed, criticize helpfully, never spitefully.

4—Be interested in others; interested in their pursuits, their welfare, their homes and families. Make merry with those that rejoice; with those who weep, mourn. Let everyone you meet, however humble, feel that you regard him as one of importance.

5—Be cheerful. Keep the corners of your mouth turned up. Hide you pains, worries, and disappointments under a smile. Laugh at good stories and learn to tell them.

6—Preserve an open mind on all debatable questions. Discuss but not argue. It is a mark of superior minds to disagree and yet to be friendly.

7—Let your virtues, if you have any, speak for themselves, and refuse to talk of another's vices. Discourage gossip. Make it a rule to say nothing of another unless it is something good.

8—Be careful of another's feeling. Wit and humor at the other fellow's expense are rarely worth the effort, and may hurt where least expected.

9—Pay no attention to ill-natured remarks about you. Simply live that nobody will believe them. Disordered nerves and a bad digestion are a common cause of backbiting.

10—Don't be too anxious about your dues. Do your work, be patient and keep your disposition sweet, forget self, and you will be rewarded.

Broad Areas Have Rain, Snow Today

(By The Associated Press)

Light rain and snow fell over broad areas of the nation today but no severe stormy weather was reported.

Rain was general over the Pacific northwest while snow fell over the northern Rockies and great plains states. Rain was reported from northern Mississippi eastward into South Carolina while drizzle fell along the Texas coast.

Skies were clear from the Great Lakes to the north Atlantic states and from west Texas westward to California.

A little warmer weather was reported from the central Rockies to the plains states while there was some cooling from the Great Lakes southward to the Ohio valley and middle Atlantic coast.

It was summer-like weather over the Gulf coast yesterday with temperatures climbing to 90 in Florida. It also was mild along the Atlantic coast.

Alcoholic Studies Topic at Meeting

New York, March 27 (AP)—Hang on tight, you morning-after moaners—science is on the trail of new remedies to chase away those hangover blues.

Take the word of Dr. Seldon D. Bacon, director of the Yale Center for Alcohol Studies, a new project is under way to evaluate medications for shaking off a you-know-what.

Bacon told the anual meeting of the National Committee on Alcoholism yesterday that, beside looking for antidotes, the project hoped to come up with a "measurable definition" of the hangover.

Practically hitting the nail on the big head, he described one as "how a fellow reports he feels after he's had too much to drink the night before."

The doctor took a dim view of present antidotes — including a couple of quick ones at breakfast time, a shot of tobasco and oysters, and slapping yourself on that throbbing noggin.

Discusses Alcoholics

Discussing the effects of even light drinking, Bacon said:

"We would like to know what is the function of small amounts of alcohol in the human being. Why does it make people happy or sad? Is it good or bad for them?"

Other factors being studied, he said, include the relationship—if any—of alcohol and crime, and what takes place when tiplers turn into alcoholics.

Bacon estimated that of the nation's 65 million persons who take a drink four million are suffering from alcoholism, and added:

"I do not believe alcoholism is ever going to be cured by a pill or a law."

He said the Yale Studies, sponsored jointly by Yale University and the Connecticut Commission on Alcoholism, also was trying to unravel the "vast amount of ignorance" concerning alcoholism.

As for the study coming up soon with a remedy for that terrible morning-after, Bacon said:

"Please do not telephone (for a remedy). Not yet, anyhow."

Coordinate Red Cross, CD Plans

Coordination of plans between Civil Defense and the Red Cross for disaster work was the object of this meeting recently. Representatives of the two organizations included (l-r) Corporation Counsel James J. Abernethy, representing Mayor Frederick H. Stang; Mrs. Samuel Adams, Red Cross chapter chairman; Bernard Feeney, disaster chairman; Sheriff Cluett Schantz, assistant director of Civil Defense and Allan L. Hanstein, county director of Civil Defense. (Freeman photo).

Truman Suggests Investigation on Malenkov Charges

Kansas City, March 27 (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman said yesterday he had heard that some "fool Americans" had been accused of spying in Siberia. He suggested, in an obvious reference to Sen. McCarthy (R.-Wis.), that "that great investigator be permitted to go to work for Malenkov and find out what they were doing there."

"He wouldn't be bothered by the Russians because they wouldn't object to his methods," Truman told 400 visiting chemists.

He did not mention McCarthy by name.

The former President addressed a luncheon session of the American Chemical Society's Division of Chemical Marketing and Economics. The society is holding its 125th meeting here.

Refers to Pauling

Truman went on to say he had heard that Dr. Linus Pauling of the California Institute of Technology had been "charged with investigating red corpuscles."

Pauling a former president of the chemical society, was named by the House Un-American Activities Committee three years ago as being active in what it termed a Communist "wide-world peace offensive."

Pauling denied that he had ever been a Communist. Truman said the chemist had to go before a committee and explain what red corpuscles are, adding:

"I suggest Professor Pauling confine his investigations to white corpuscles."

Sergeant Must Die For Little Girl's Death

Tokyo, March 27 (AP)—A Pennsylvania sergeant who confessed he got "complete sexual satisfaction" out of strangling to death a pretty little American girl was convicted today of premeditated murder and sentenced to die.

M.Sgt. Maurice L. Schick, 29, World War 2 Purple Heart veteran from Cannonsburg, Pa., stood stiff and erect, his face impassive, as he heard the verdict and sentence of a court martial panel of three generals and colonels.

He saluted the court, made a snappy military about-face, and marched back to his seat in the small, bare, whitewashed courtroom.

Watchman Killed

Jerusalem, Israeli Section, March 27 (AP)—A 50-year-old Jewish watchman was killed last night when Jordanians opened fire across the armistice line on a village in the Judean hills, an Israel army spokesman announced today.

NEW PALTZ NEWS

Campus School News

New Paltz, March 27—Family Fun Night was held Friday night and reports have it that it was the biggest event of the year for the school. Each class had its own interesting participation for the program.

Mr. Klugman's first grade pupils' interest was in the steam engine while the Great West was the scene found in Miss Compton's and Mrs. Deeb's fifth grade rooms. The western ponies in Mrs. Oakley's fourth grade room were of especial interest to the younger set. Miss Bent's third grade demonstrated firemaking Indian style, and also exhibited two types of Indian homes. Miss Stafford's fourth grade had an exhibition on conservation. For a lighter touch, the circus held the spotlight in Mrs. Leaning's second grade, and the balloon man caught the eye of the tots in Mrs. Bond's kindergarten. An African village was found in Miss O'Mara's fourth grade room while a sale took place in Miss Dolan's and Mrs. Coons' nursery school rooms. Miss Wicks' first grade gave an example of rhythm dances, while Kenneth Phillips showed films in the auditorium of films taken on Fun Night last year.

An interesting study of Manhattan in the early days of the Dutch and the Indians was found in Mr. Schlageter's seventh grade room. Miss Garland's seventh grade group put on a modern fashion show. Miss O'Donnell's fifth grade held an auction while those who visited Miss Wicks' sixth grade found a museum of natural history.

Mr. Harrison's art room was open with a varied art exhibit and Mr. Naser's woodworking exhibit caught the eye of many.

For recreation, Miss Jewett's second grade held a cake walk and Mrs. Jones third grade had a puppet show and some square dancing.

Miss Sorrentino's sixth grade had a rolling cart service to serve the hungry and also Mrs. Dawson's kindergarten had cake, cookies and candy.

Mr. Jones' seventh grade interviewed many guests.

Play Is Presented

Miss Tompkins' second grade class presented an original play, titled Peter Pan's Visit, at the assembly for primary grades It was based on both the social studies and reading program. In the second grade version of Peter Pan he discovered a bakery in Never-Never land. The baker asked Peter to fly an American birthday cake to bakeries in foreign lands. This request took Peter to France, Italy, Norway and England. The children made up songs about each of the countries Peter visited. Kenneth Phillips took movies of the play which were shown at Fun Night Friday.

To Attend Conference

Miss Marian Dolan, Mrs. Ruth Coon and Edgar Klugman will attend the conference of the New York State Association for Nursery Education at Buffalo Thursday and Friday, April 1 and 2. Miss Dolan is treasurer of the association and also a member of the council. The three-year olds will have half-day sessions on both days. Mrs. Coon's and Mr. Kulgman's classes will meet as usual.

St. Patrick's Program

Mrs. O'Donnell's fifth grade and Miss Wicks' sixth grade presented a St. Patrick's program for the intermediate grades and upper grades assembly. The program consisted of songs, dances, and special reports under the guidance of the Master of Ceremonies, David Salkever.

Special reports were prepared and delivered by Stephen Harrison, Catherine Rinaudo, John Babb and Bonnie Craig. Both folk and modern Irish songs were sung. A special feature of the song, Molly Malone, was an interlude sung by Mike Caram and Kenneth Phillips. Baton twirling by Juanita Ronk enlivened McNamara's Band. The gaily whirling, beautifully costumed Kerry dancers were Douglas Mackey, Sharon Hornbeck, Diana Pierce, Suesta Fall, Richard McClellan, Charlotte Romer, Mike Caram, Priscilla Smiley, Roslynne Sheridan, Christine Vourakis and Clarice Palmateer. The entire program was enhanced by the unusual stage decorations which were made by Anthony Fiordilino, Gene Foertsch and Bill Morgan. A tape recording of the program was made and it will be placed on a permanent record.

Work on Furniture

Seventh grade students under the direction of Miss Garland are reupholstering the Home Economics room furniture. Chairs and sofa have been stripped to the frames and all of the springs re-tied. The old stuffing is being discarded and will be replaced by a rubberized hair covering.

The students are making removable denim covers. Final color scheme will find a yellow, blue, red, and charcoal colored chair. The sofa will be covered in striped denim which repeats each of these colors. When the work is finished, the class is planning to make matching drapes.

Church Notes

New Paltz, March 27—Methodist Church, the Rev. Willett Porter, minister—Pledge Sunday will be observed during the regular 11 a. m. worship service. The fourth in the series of Sunday night Lenten film services will be held in the church Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock. The film will be The Hidden Heart.

The Couples Club of the New Paltz Methodist Church will hold a bowling party tonight. The group will meet at the church at 8:30 o'clock.

The Methodist ministers and young people of the Highland and New Paltz Methodist Churches will travel to the Bethel Home for the Aged in Ossining Sunday afternoon. The Rev. Stanley Jones and the Rev. Mr. Porter will direct the trip and will conduct the worship service at the home at 3 p. m. The young people will sing in the choir and lead in congregational singing.

Flock of B26s Going To French Indochina

Washington, March 27 (AP)—American crews soon will ferry a new flock of B26 fighter-bombers to Indochina where French fliers will use them in round-the-clock bombardment of Red divisions besieging vital Dien Bien Phu.

The Defense Department announced yesterday that 25 more B26's would be lent to the hard-pressed French, who are trying to repel Vietminh efforts to take the stronghold in time to give Red diplomats a talking point at April Asian peace talks in Geneva, Switzerland.

The U. S. government also is sending ammunition and defense supplies. Already in action are 22 B26's and an undisclosed force of transports, some of which are piloted by civilian volunteers from this country.

Wagners Fly to Jamaica

New York, March 27 (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner, his wife and two small sons left by plane today for a vacation in Jamaica, British West Indies. The mayor planned to return by April 2. His family will stay for a longer vacation.

Reds Would Oust Her

Statue of Goddess Found

Nicosia, Cyprus, March 27 (AP)—A beautifully carved marble statue of Aesculapius, the Roman god of medicine, has been unearthed near Famagusta, which was the ancient capital of Cyprus under Rome. The statue includes a coiled serpent and several draped female figures. Inscriptions found during the excavations, at the site of an ancient gymnasium, date back to 323 to 30 B.C .

EXTENDED MEDICAL PAYMENTS
AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE
Is Available From Us to Cover You and Your Family

1. In Busses or Taxis
2. In another person's car
3. Even while you are a pedestrian
...No matter who is to blame for the accident!
NOW, with new Extended Medical Coverage, you and members of your family who are residents of your household can receive medical payments for injuries resulting from automobile accidents even beyond those involving your own car.
Under the new plan, you and your family are covered if injured while riding in any public automobile such as a bus or taxi, or while driving or riding in another person's car.
And if you or any member of your family are hit by an auto while a pedestrian, the medical costs (or funeral expenses if the accident results in death) will be taken care of. This same protection applies to your children if hit by a car while riding a bicycle, roller skating, or engaged in some other form of play.
It makes no difference whether you or a member of your family or someone else is to blame for the accident—this new extended coverage applies. And if someone else is to blame, the new coverage takes care of you and your family whether or not the other person carries liability insurance.
The amount of medical payment is subject to the limit you choose, which may be as high as $5,000 a person. The additional cost of this Extended Medical insurance, which is surprisingly low, also depends on the limit.
Basic Automobile Medical insurance and the new Extended Plan are available with Automobile Bodily Injury Liability coverage. This combination of medical plans protects you and your family in virtually every accident involving an automobile. In your car—in other automobiles—while you are on foot!
IF you already carry Automobile Liability with Medical Payments with this Agency, on your advices we will add the Extended Medical Payments Plan right away. And if you are now thinking of buying or renewing Automobile insurance, be sure and get in touch with us for details of this new plan.

"We would like to know what is the function of small amounts of alcohol in the human being. Why does it make people happy or sad? Is it good or bad for them?"

Other factors being studied, he said, include the relationship—if any—of alcohol and crime, and what takes place when tiplers turn into alcoholics.

Bacon estimated that of the nation's 65 million persons who take a drink four million are suffering from alcoholism, and added:

"I do not believe alcoholism is ever going to be cured by a pill or a law."

He said the Yale Studies, sponsored jointly by Yale University and the Connecticut Commission on Alcoholism, also was trying to unravel the "vast amount of ignorance" concerning alcoholism.

As for the study coming up soon with a remedy for that terrible morning-after, Bacon said:

Truman Suggests Investigation on Malenkov Charges

Kansas City, March 27 (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman said yesterday he had heard that some "fool Americans" had been accused of spying in Siberia. He suggested, in an obvious reference to Sen. McCarthy (R.-Wis.), that "that great investigator be permitted to go to work for Malenkov and find out what they were doing there."

"He wouldn't, be bothered by the Russians because they wouldn't object to his methods," Truman told 400 visiting chemists.

He did not mention McCarthy by name.

Refers to Pauling

Truman went on to say he had heard that Dr. Linus Pauling of the California Institute of Technology had been "charged with investigating red corpuscles."

Pauling a former president of the chemical society, was named by the House Un-American Activities Committee three years ago as being active in what it termed a Communist "wide-world peace offensive."

Pauling denied that he had ever been a Communist. Truman said the chemist had to go before a committee and explain what red corpuscles are, adding:

"I suggest Professor Pauling confine his investigations to white corpuscles."

Sergeant Must Die For Little Girl's Death

Tokyo, March 27 (AP)—A Pennsylvania sergeant who confessed he got "complete sexual satisfaction" out of strangling to death a pretty little American girl was convicted today of premeditated murder and sentenced to die.

M.Sgt. Maurice L. Schick, 29, World War 2 Purple Heart veteran from Cannonsburg, Pa., stood stiff and erect, his face impassive, as he heard the verdict and sentence of a court martial panel of three generals and colonels.

He saluted the court, made a snappy military about-face, and marched back to his seat in the small, bare, whitewashed courtroom.

Watchman Killed

Jerusalem, Israeli Section, March 27 (AP)—A 50-year-old Jewish watchman was killed last night when Jordanians opened fire across the armistice line on a village in the Judean hills, an Israel army spokesman announced today.

NEW PALTZ NEWS

Campus School News

New Paltz, March 27—Family Fun Night was held Friday night and reports have it that it was the biggest event of the year for the school. Each class had its own interesting participation for the program.

Mr. Klugman's first grade pupils' interest was in the steam engine while the Great West was the scene found in Miss Compton's and Mrs. Deeb's fifth grade rooms. The western ponies in Mrs. Oakley's fourth grade room were of especial interest to the younger set. Miss Bent's third grade demonstrated firemaking Indian style, and also exhibited two types of Indian homes. Miss Stafford's fourth grade had an exhibition on conservation. For a lighter touch, the circus held the spotlight in Mrs. Leaning's second grade, and the balloon man caught the eye of the tots in Mrs. Bond's kindergarten. An African village was found in Miss O'Mara's fourth grade room while a sale took place in Miss Dolan's and Mrs. Coons' nursery school rooms. Miss Wicks' first grade gave an example of rhythm dances, while Kenneth Phillips showed films in the auditorium of films taken on Fun Night last year.

An interesting study of Manhattan in the early days of the Dutch and the Indians was found in Mr. Schlageter's seventh grade room. Miss Garland's seventh grade group put on a modern fashion show. Miss O'Donnell's fifth grade held an auction while those who visited Miss Wicks' sixth grade found a museum of natural history.

Mr. Harrison's art room was open with a varied art exhibit and Mr. Naser's woodworking exhibit caught the eye of many.

For recreation, Miss Jewett's second grade held a cake walk and Mrs. Jones third grade had a puppet show and some square dancing.

Miss Sorrentino's sixth grade had a rolling cart service to serve the hungry and also Mrs. Dawson's kindergarten had cake, cookies and candy.

Mr. Jones' seventh grade interviewed many guests.

Play Is Presented

Miss Tompkins' second grade class presented an original play, titled Peter Pan's Visit, at the assembly for primary grades It was based on both the social studies and reading program. In the second grade version of Peter Pan he discovered a bakery in Never-Never land. The baker asked Peter to fly an American birthday cake to bakeries in foreign lands. This request took Peter to France, Italy, Norway and England. The children made up songs about each of the countries Peter visited. Kenneth Phillips took movies of the play which were shown at Fun Night Friday.

To Attend Conference

Miss Marian Dolan, Mrs. Ruth Coon and Edgar Klugman will attend the conference of the New York State Association for Nursery Education at Buffalo Thursday and Friday, April 1 and 2. Miss Dolan is treasurer of the association and also a member of the council. The three-year olds will have half-day sessions on both days. Mrs. Coon's and Mr. Kulgman's classes will meet as usual.

St. Patrick's Program

Mrs. O'Donnell's fifth grade and Miss Wicks' sixth grade presented a St. Patrick's program for the intermediate grades and upper grades assembly. The program consisted of songs, dances, and special reports under the guidance of the Master of Ceremonies, David Salkever.

Special reports were prepared and delivered by Stephen Harrison, Catherine Rinaudo, John Babb and Bonnie Craig. Both folk and modern Irish songs were sung. A special feature of the song, Molly Malone, was an interlude sung by Mike Caram and Kenneth Phillips. Baton twirling by Juanita Ronk enlivened McNamara's Band. The gaily whirling, beautifully costumed Kerry dancers were Douglas Mackey, Sharon Hornbeck, Diana Pierce, Suesta Fall, Richard McClellan, Charlotte Romer, Mike Caram, Priscilla Smiley, Roslynne Sheridan, Christine Vourakis and Clarice Palmateer. The entire program was enhanced by the unusual stage decorations which were made by Anthony Fiordilino, Gene Foertsch and Bill Morgan. A tape recording of the program was made and it will be placed on a permanent record.

Work on Furniture

Seventh grade students under the direction of Miss Garland are reupholstering the Home Economics room furniture. Chairs and sofa have been stripped to the frames and all of the springs re-tied. The old stuffing is being discarded and will be replaced by a rubberized hair covering.

The students are making removable denim covers. Final color scheme will find a yellow, blue, red, and charcoal colored chair. The sofa will be covered in striped denim which repeats each of these colors. When the work is finished, the class is planning to make matching drapes.

Church Notes

New Paltz, March 27—Methodist Church, the Rev. Willett Porter, minister—Pledge Sunday will be observed during the regular 11 a. m. worship service. The fourth in the series of Sunday night Lenten film services will be held in the church Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock. The film will be The Hidden Heart.

Mr. Porter will direct the trip and will conduct the worship service at the home at 3 p. m. The young people will sing in the choir and lead in congregational singing.

The Seekers' Class meets for its regular monthly meeting Tuesday, March 30, at 2 p. m. at the home of Mrs. John Christensen on Wurts avenue.

Flock of B26s Going To French Indochina

Washington, March 27 (AP)—American crews soon will ferry a new flock of B26 fighter-bombers to Indochina where French fliers will use them in round-the-clock bombardment of Red divisions besieging vital Dien Bien Phu.

The Defense Department announced yesterday that 25 more B26's would be lent to the hard-pressed French, who are trying to repel Vietminh efforts to take the stronghold in time to give Red diplomats a talking point at April Asian peace talks in Geneva, Switzerland.

The U. S. government also is sending ammunition and defense supplies. Already in action are 22 B26's and an undisclosed force of transports, some of which are piloted by civilian volunteers from this country.

Wagners Fly to Jamaica

New York, March 27 (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner, his wife and two small sons left by plane today for a vacation in Jamaica, British West Indies. The mayor planned to return by April 2. His family will stay for a longer vacation.

Reds Would Oust Her

Statue of Goddess Found

Nicosia, Cyprus, March 27 (AP)—A beautifully carved marble statue of Aesculapius, the Roman god of medicine, has been unearthed near Famagusta, which was the ancient capital of Cyprus under Rome. The statue includes a coiled serpent and several draped female figures. Inscriptions found during the excavations, at the site of an ancient gymnasium, date back to 323 to 30 B.C .

EXTENDED AUTOMOBILE MEDICAL PAYMENTS INSURANCE
Is Available From Us to Cover You and Your Family

1. In Busses or Taxis
2. In another person's car
3. Even while you are a pedestrian
...No matter who is to blame for the accident!
NOW, with new Extended Medical Coverage, you and members of your family who are residents of your household can receive medical payments for injuries resulting from automobile accidents even beyond those involving your own car.
Under the new plan, you and your family are covered if injured while riding in any public automobile such as a bus or taxi, or while driving or riding in another person's car.
And if you or any member of your family are hit by an auto while a pedestrian, the medical costs (or funeral expenses if the accident results in death) will be taken care of. This same protection applies to your children if hit by a car while riding a bicycle, roller skating, or engaged in some other form of play.
It makes no difference whether you or a member of your family or someone else is to blame for the accident—this new extended coverage applies. And if someone else is to blame, the new coverage takes care of you and your family whether or not the other person carries liability insurance.
The amount of medical payment is subject to the limit you choose, which may be as high as $5,000 a person. The additional cost of this Extended Medical insurance, which is surprisingly low, also depends on the limit.
Basic Automobile Medical insurance and the new Extended Plan are available with Automobile Bodily Injury Liability coverage. This combination of medical plans protects you and your family in virtually every accident involving an automobile. In your car—in other automobiles—while you are on foot!
IF you already carry Automobile Liability with Medical Payments with this Agency, on your advices we will add the Extended Medical Payments Plan right away. And if you are now thinking of buying or renewing Automobile insurance, be sure and get in touch with us for details of this new plan.
